CIO Seamen End Walkout Today

NMU Members On East Coast Approve Pact

Pickets Withdrawn In New York; Men To Be Assigned To Ships

CURRAN SAYS STRIKE "IS OFFICIALLY OVER"

CIO Mariners Will Receive Same Wage Increase As AFL Sailors

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (Saturday) (AP)—The National Maritime Union (CIO) announced today all pickets had been withdrawn in the port of New York and that assignment of men to ships would start at 8 a. m. (EDT) to end the walkout that virtually throttled shipping here.

An NMU spokesman said members in Portland, Me., Philadelphia, Houston, Newport News and Providence, R. I., also had voted to accept the new wage agreement under which they will receive the same wages as AFL seamen.

AFL mariners went on strike 15 days ago, returning to work a week later when they won wage increase demands of $5 to $10 a month. The NMU-CIO alked out immediately after settlement of the AFL dispute on a demand for a wage parity with the rival maritime group.

Joseph Curran, NMU president, said the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards (CIO) and the Independent Marine Firemen, Oilers, Watertenders and Wipers Association were still on strike because it was not clear whether the award also applied to them.

Meanwhile, Curran telegraphed Joseph Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), saying the NMU strike "is officially over" and thanking Ryan for the "splendid support" of his organization.

$25,000,000 In Wage Increases

But the end of the nationwide strike still awaited union action in other ports.

New York NMU members, who accepted the settlement unanimously, were told by Curran it meant $25,000,000 in wage increases for NMU members.

Curran told the members here:

"The shipowners said when we were negotiating with them in June that they couldn't give us a penny more without going bankrupt, but they are able to give up this raise and still they're not bankrupt."

Curran earlier had sent telegrams to officers in all ports telling them their locals should vote to end the strike.

He said:

"The arbitrator's award wins for the unions the issues for which we are on strike and places the union in a position where we can call off the strike, and your meeting should vote to do so as of 12 o'clock midnight, Friday, September 20, local time."

Strikers Legally Bound

Curran told the strikers they were legally bound by their contract to accept the award of James L. Fly, Federal conciliator, adding:

"I think we got everything in the barrel, but we must leave something for the next time."

Before the vote was taken Curran had said the men would return to work "as rapidly as possible so

U. N. Security Council Drops Greek Question

U. S. Proposal For On-The-Spot Investigation Of Reported Border Incidents Vetoed By USSR

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 20—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council today rejected a Russian-sponsored condemnation of Greece and then dropped the controversial Greek question from its agenda after Russia vetoed an American proposal for an on-the-spot investigation of reported shooting incidents along Greece's northern frontier.

Ukrainian charges that Greece threatened the peace of the Balkans were dropped, at least for the present, when the delegates defeated, by votes of 9 to 2, Soviet Russian and Polish proposals calling on the council to keep the case before it in an inactive status.

Australian Delegate Paul Hasluck had proposed affirmative action to strike the case from the agenda, but he withdrew his resolution after Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, council chairman, agreed that the case already had been dropped by action of the Soviet and Polish measures.

Unprecedented Declaration

The future of the Greek question was left in doubt when Secretary-General Trygve Lie, in an unprecedented declaration, reserved the right to make an independent investigation of the Greek border situation and submit the facts to the council.

Lie later explained that he contemplated no immediate action, but that he wanted to make it clear to the council that he had the right to step into the case if he felt that developments warranted an investigation.

In today's fast-moving session, which came at the end of 10 long sessions of debate, the council:

1—Defeated by a vote of 9 to 2 a Soviet Russian resolution condemning Greek activities and proposing that the council call on Greece to cease alleged provocations on the Albanian frontier and "terminate the persecution of national minorities."

2—Rejected by a Soviet veto a resolution by United States Delegate Herschel V. Johnson calling for creation of a three-man commission with authority to investigate on the scene not only incidents along the Greek-Albanian border, but also any disturbances along Greece's frontiers with Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. The American proposal received eight affirmative votes, but was killed by Russia's negative vote.

Compromise Plan Defeated

3—Defeated a Netherlands compromise proposal to dismiss the case by merely sending notes to the Albanian and Greek governments cautioning them to do their utmost to avoid future incidents. In an effort to win Soviet support, Netherlands Delegate Eelco N. Van Kleffens modified his resolution to delete the governments of Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, but the measure was lost when it received only six affirmative votes instead of the necessary seven.

4—Defeated by a vote of 9 to 2 a Polish resolution providing that the council keep the Greek question under observation, but leave it in an inactive state on the agenda along with the Iranian and Spanish cases which have been on the agenda for months.

26 Persons Died In Crash Of Huge Belgian Airliner

18 Survived With 14 Badly Injured, Rescue Teams Reports

GANDER AIRPORT NFLD., Sept. 20 (AP)—Twenty-six passengers and crew members were killed and 18 survived—14 of them badly injured—in the wilderness crash Wednesday on a Belgian transatlantic airliner, a rescue team radioed today.

The team including a United States Army doctor, quickly set up tents to treat the survivors before they are brought to Gander, 22 miles northeast of the scene.

Fifteen persons made up the Army party which reached the scene of the crash, while another group was forced by the rapids of the Ganler river to abandon water travel and now has worked its way to within five miles of the wrecked plane.

The United States Coast Guard, which dispatched an urgent request to the United States for a helicopter to expedite the rescue of the injured, said it expected two of the craft to arrive tomorrow.

Temperature Drops To 48

The rescue group at the crash scene, reporting that the temperature sank last night to 48 degrees, with accompanying mist and dampness asked for additional supplies, especially warm bed clothing and drugs.

Fourteen of the injured can be moved only by stretcher, the rescuers radioed to a plane circling over the smashed and burned plane lying among broken trees.

(The Coast Guard announced in New York that all 18 survivors were in "very bad condition" with broken bones and burns).

Typhoon Rakes Guam; Military Facilities Hit

No Immediate Reports Of Casualties; Communications Knocked Out

GUAM, Saturday, Sept. 21. (AP)—This mighty United States naval base in the far Pacific was raked today by a 100-mile-an-hour typhoon that wrought tremendous damage to military installations.

There were no immediate reports of casualties among Navy, Army and Marine personnel on the 30-mile-long island—many sections of which were isolated by communication lines knocked down by the threshing winds. Most vehicles also were wrecked.

First reports to Navy command headquarters said roofs were ripped off many large Quonset huts, used by the military, and one U. S. O. unit fled its quarters to a safer place.

Many military men's wives and children were removed from small quonsets to larger buildings as the typhoon, which had been expected to miss Guam, at about 10 p. m. bore down.

Emergency Rations

Weather Central said the peak of the storm was past, but winds of destructive force still howled across the island.

Garrisons were placed on emergency rations. Several Guamanian villages were reported evacuated.

Commander S. W. Betts, staff aerologist, said the typhoon center passed 50 miles north of Guam, traveling west by northwest, and that Rota, Tinian and Saipan probably were hard hit.

All flyable airplanes had been sent south to Palau and ships were ordered to put to sea yesterday.

A trip past the harbor today showed many still tied to their berths. Evidently they rode out the storm safely.

Guam was put on Condition One, comparable to "battle stations" in time of war. All except men on duty were confined to their quarters.

Saipan Prepared

Capt. Xavier Smith, commander at Saipan to the north, communicated with Guam at midnight and reported his base was battened down against the blow. That was the last word from there.

Such key buildings at the Marianas Headquarters Command as the Weather Central were knocked out completely and only under extreme difficulty was Rear Adm. Charles A. Pownall able to keep contact with all units.

How Army and Marine garrisons elsewhere on the island fared was impossible to learn immediately as power was shut off after thousands of wires were knocked down.

All the wartime installations on Guam, the Navy's great base on the southeast approach to Japan, were classed as temporary and while many were heavily reinforced, the bulk might be subject to violent wind damage.

Attack Bomber Crashes; Five Die

FORT KNOX, Ky., Sept. 20 (AP)—Officials at Godman Field here said five soldiers were killed when their A-26 attack bomber crashed and exploded on an attempted takeoff from the field at 10:24 o'clock tonight.

Names of the dead were withheld until next of kin could be notified. Officials said the plane had stopped to refuel at Godman and was enroute to Columbus, Ohio.

Attempt To Trim U. S. Spending Fails

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—The administration indicated today it no longer expected to succeed in a six-week-old attempt to cut spending on public works projects from $1,600,000,000 to $900,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

Nevertheless, Budget Bureau official expressed hope to newsmen that total federal spending in fiscal 1947 could be held within the figure of $41,500,000,000 set by President Truman in August.

Unless it is held to that figure, the government will go deeper into the red on this year's operations than the $1,900,000,000 forecast by President Truman in revised budget estimates accompanying a promise to economize.

The $1,900,000,000 deficit estimate was based in part on the President's declaration that spending on public works would be cut $700,000,000 this fiscal year in the interest of conserving building materials and labor as well as economy.

Budget Director James E. Webb acknowledged in a statement that many projects earlier scheduled for postponement until after next June 30 would be started before that date.

Army Officers Apologize

B-25 CRASHES, BURNS—Firemen are ready for action as an Army B-25 bomber burns after crashing at Washington's National Airport late yesterday. Four men died and two escaped with injuries from the flaming wreckage. The accident occurred in full view of crowds lining the Potomac river for the President's Cup Regatta.

Four Are Killed In Washington Airplane Crash

Two Escape With Injuries From Flaming Wreckage Of Bomber

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Four men died and two escaped with injuries from the flaming wreckage of a twin-engine Army bomber which crashed in an emergency landing at Washington National Airport at dusk today.

The B-25 medium bomber, stripped of armament and used by the Army Airways Communication system, had arrived here earlier in the day with the six men, all reported by Army Air Force officials to be from the 75th AAF base at Langley Field, Va.

Injured Are Identified

The War Department identified the two injured men as Capt. Bradford W. Lawrence, medical officer at the Pentagon, whose home is in Fall River, Mass. and Capt. Myrick S. Hilsman, Langley View, Va.

The department said Capt. Hilsman sustained third degree burns over 90 per cent of his body and is in critical condition. Capt. Lawrence received lacerations but was not badly injured, the Army reported.

Names of the four men killed were not made known pending notification of next of kin.

Fuel Tanks Ignite

Airport officials said the bomber took off to return to Langley Field, but almost immediately contacted the control tower of the field and reported it was landing. It circled the field for a moment, eyewitnesses said, then came in with one wing low, caught the ground, cartwheeled, tore into wreckage and burst into flames.

Two men reached safety before broken fuel tanks flashed up in a column of flame which reduced the plane to a mass of wreckage. The two were hurried to a hospital at Boiling Field, Army Air Base across the river from National Airport.

OPA Moves To Give Institutions More Meat

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—The OPA moved tonight to give hospitals, asylums, orphanages and prisons more meat.

It placed them in a preferred status, directing that each meat supplier sell them the same percentage of the institution's needs as he did in comparable months in 1944, when meat was rationed. The order is effective October 1.

Dairy Products Win New Parole From Price Lids

But Decontrol Board Will Keep Close Watch On Price Trends

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Milk and its by-products won another parole from price ceilings today but the Decontrol Board warned it will keep a close watch on future price trends of butter and cheese.

After three days of discussion, the powerful new independent board announced briefly that it "would not return dairy products to price control at this time."

Chairman Roy L. Thompson said evidence before the three member panel indicates that dairy "prices are approaching a critical point" but failed to "provide sufficient grounds for action by the board at this time."

Setback For Porter

The decision was another set back for OPA Administrator Paul Porter, who had told the board immediate recontrol of all dairy products "is essential to the stabilization program."

Thompson announced that the board will continue to watch the price levels of "certain segments of the dairy industry."

"As this information is received, we will be kept in a position to consider whether any action is necessary by the board in the future," he said.

Recalling the August 20 decision that allowed milk and its products to remain free from price controls, Thompson reminded that the board said then it would continue to "watch the prices of dairy products and subject them to control if they rose unreasonably."

"I want to make it plain that it is still our intention to do just that," he said today.

Thompson also recalled that the board decided on August 20 that dairy products "were in short supply and their regulation would be practicable and enforceable and would serve the public interest."

No "Unreasonable" Increases

He said the third requirement established by Congress for recontrol—"unreasonable price increase over June 30 ceilings plus subsidy"—was not met.

Truman Will Get Super "Sacred Cow" Before End Of Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Truman is going to get a new airplane—a super "Sacred Cow" capable of even longer flights than his present plane.

Delivery of the new Douglas DC-6 is expected late this year, complete with bedroom, library and desk. Mr. Truman inherited the "Sacred Cow," a DC-4, from the late President Roosevelt and it is still equipped with an elevator.

Company officials declined to comment on the plane, but it was reported reliably in aviation circles that the new four-engined craft would carry sleeping quarters for an extra pilot and co-pilot so that they could relieve the normal crew on long flights.

Storm Hits England; 10 Persons Die

Towns On South Coast Flooded; Crops Ruined, Industry Crippled

LONDON, Sept. 20. (AP)—At least 10 persons were killed tonight as the severest September gale recorded in the British Isles in more than 35 years struck the southern coast of England and the English channel with devastating force, flooding towns, ruining crops, crippling industry and paralyzing shipping.

Several steamships and yachts, buffeted by 100-mile-an-hour winds, were in peril off the southern and eastern coasts. The gale reached 50 to 60 miles an hour inland.

A 60-foot-high wave washed over the 2,000-ton steamer Isle of Jersey in the English Channel, sweeping three passengers off the ship to their deaths. Thirty-six others were injured and six were hospitalized after the damaged vessel limped into Southampton.

Two occupants of a moving automobile were killed near Bristol when an uprooted tree fell on it. A government tug foundered and sank five miles off Folkestone. One crewman drowned and a British destroyer rescued other members of the crew.

A fallen wire electrocuted a cyclist near Great Yarmouth and one man was killed when a train was derailed at a washed-out right-of-way near London. A falling tree killed a municipal employe in Brighton, while a resident of Huddersfield, Yorkshire, was swept to his death as he tried to rescue some chickens from the storm-swollen River Holme.

An American plane carrying Field Marshal Lord Montgomery home from his visit to Canada and the United States landed safely at Northholt airdrome after being diverted from Bovington, its original destination.

Ex-Secretary Of Commerce Takes To Air

Ousted Cabinet Member Renews Criticism Of U. S. Foreign Policy

Truman Endorses Byrnes, Lays Down Law For Government Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—President Truman today dismissed Secretary of Commerce Wallace for criticizing administration foreign policy and Wallace quickly took to the air with a plea for a popular crusade to "win the peace."

Mr. Truman, in ousting Wallace, gave an all-out endorsement to Secretary of State Byrnes and forbade all officials in the executive branch of the government to take public issue with the established foreign policy.

Private Citizen Wallace then went on the radio tonight to declare that the policy fails to recognize "basic realities", which he contended threaten "an atomic war."

Mr. Truman determined upon his sensational ouster of his disagreeing Cabinet officer after plain indications from Paris, where Byrnes is battling in the peace conference, that a White House settlement of two days ago was not good enough. It provided for Wallace to stay in office but keep quiet temporarily.

No Policy Change Considered

After mulling on it overnight, the Chief Executive seized his telephone this morning less than half an hour before he was to receive reporters in a news conference and told the Secretary of Commerce he was out.

Then he announced his decision, and with it he wrote clear-cut assurances of "my full endorsement" for the embattled Byrnes. He wrote, too, that Wallace's views are not those of the administration, and that "no change in our foreign policy is contemplated."

Relieved of his gag, Wallace issued a statement to the Commerce Department employes explaining that he had resigned "in order that I may be free as a private citizen to continue to fight for world peace."

He followed this up with his nationwide broadcast tonight. He spoke only briefly, saying he would not wish to interfere with the Paris negotiations, but he declared that no policy can succeed unless the people "are given all the facts."

In addition to this fresh warning of war and criticism of present policy, he explained that his Madison Square Garden speech in New York last week, which touched off the uproar, had been misunderstood.

Believes In "One World"

His statement then that the United States has no more business in the political affairs of Eastern Europe than Russia has in American affairs was widely interpreted as advocating two world spheres of influence.

"I began talking about 'one world' more than 15 years ago," the ex-Secretary said tonight. "I do not believe in two worlds. x x x We cannot have peace except in 'one world.'"

After the broadcast, he said in response to reporters' questions that he had no plans for any speaking engagement and "no plans at all" for his future except that he ex-

Patterson Says Army Will Propose Universal Training Program In '47

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP)—The War Department will propose a program of six months universal military training when Congress convenes in January, Secretary of War Robert Patterson told the National Guard Association tonight.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the association's annual banquet, the former New York National Guardsman said the program will include mandatory additional training with an option as to how it shall be taken. One of the alternates will be service in the guard. The Army previously had urged a year of training.

"In this period of transition between war and peace we must not throw away our weapons and run the risk of being drawn into war again," Patterson said. "If we alone disarm, we will be asking for another war."

The Secretary lauded the World War II record of the National Guard, and recalled that he enlisted in the New York Guard 31 years ago and "stood for a long time in the rear rank." He recalled, too, that President Truman served in the Missouri National Guard 14 years.

The War Department's present plan is for a National Guard of 27 divisions and 27 air groups—682,000 men, Patterson continued. That figure cannot be lowered, he declared, "unless risks are to be taken with the national security."

"Appeasement of dictators is dead, or ought to be dead," he said. "The events of our time have shown that appeasement is the sure road to war."

The Secretary expressed confidence in the United Nations as "the most promising instrument to prevent the recurrence of war," but added:

"At the same time we are aware that success will not be achieved unless all the great powers give their support with the same steady purpose. x x x

"Until we have fair proof of the success of the United Nations, our most effective means of preventing war is the maintenance of military strength. Whether we like it or not, the fact is that in this day and age military power is the thing that counts."

The National Guard, Patterson explained, is considered "a principal M-Day force," and must have trained men.

Republicans, Old-Line Democrats Approve Firing Of Henry Wallace

[By The Associated Press]

Republicans joined old-line Democrats yesterday in a loud chorus of approval for the firing of Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace, with overtones of complaint that it was not done earlier.

Reaction to President Truman's solution of the grave foreign policy split in his Cabinet came more slowly from the quarters where Wallace had his chief support.

Harold L. Ickes, saying he was not "defending" Wallace and that the latter had "overstayed" in the cabinet, nevertheless led off on that side.

"Wallace comes out of this with more credit than Truman," he observed.

Later the National Citizens Political Action Committee issued a statement saying Wallace's ouster "is a blow to the progressive forces of the country and to the cause of peace."

The statement, signed by Frank Kingdon, chairman, and C. B. Baldwin, executive vice chairman of the

Reece Says Truman Gambles Security

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, accused President Truman tonight of gambling with the nation's security "for the radical vote in New York and elsewhere."

In a statement on the ouster of Henry Wallace as secretary of Commerce after a Cabinet split over Wallace's foreign policy speech in New York last week, Reece said:

"Mr. Wallace is out of the cabinet, for which patriotic Americans can be thankful, but his collaborator who approved the Madison Square Garden speech still is in the White House. The damage done to our foreign policy and our national prestige has not been mended."

No Immediate Reports Of Casualties; Communications Knocked Out

GUAM, Saturday, Sept. 21. (AP)—This mighty United States naval base in the far Pacific was raked today by a 100-mile-an-hour typhoon that wrought tremendous damage to military installations.

There were no immediate reports of casualties among Navy, Army and Marine personnel on the 30-mile-long island—many sections of which were isolated by communication lines knocked down by the threshing winds. Most vehicles also were wrecked.

First reports to Navy command headquarters said roofs were ripped off many large Quonset huts, used by the military, and one U. S. O. unit fled its quarters to a safer place.

Many military men's wives and children were removed from small quonsets to larger buildings as the typhoon, which had been expected to miss Guam, at about 10 p. m. bore down.

Emergency Rations

Weather Central said the peak of the storm was past, but winds of destructive force still howled across the island.

Garrisons were placed on emergency rations. Several Guamanian villages were reported evacuated.

Commander S. W. Betts, staff aerologist, said the typhoon center passed 50 miles north of Guam, traveling west by northwest, and that Rota, Tinian and Saipan probably were hard hit.

All flyable airplanes had been sent south to Palau and ships were ordered to put to sea yesterday.

A trip past the harbor today showed many still tied to their berths. Evidently they rode out the storm safely.

Guam was put on Condition One, comparable to "battle stations" in time of war. All except men on duty were confined to their quarters.

Saipan Prepared

Capt. Xavier Smith, commander at Saipan to the north, communicated with Guam at midnight and reported his base was battened down against the blow. That was the last word from there.

Such key buildings at the Marianas Headquarters Command as the Weather Central were knocked out completely and only under extreme difficulty was Rear Adm. Charles A. Pownall able to keep contact with all units.

How Army and Marine garrisons elsewhere on the island fared was impossible to learn immediately as power was shut off after thousands of wires were knocked down.

All the wartime installations on Guam, the Navy's great base on the southeast approach to Japan, were classed as temporary and while many were heavily reinforced, the bulk might be subject to violent wind damage.

Attack Bomber Crashes; Five Die

FORT KNOX, Ky., Sept. 20 (AP)—Officials at Godman Field here said five soldiers were killed when their A-26 attack bomber crashed and exploded on an attempted takeoff from the field at 10:24 o'clock tonight.

Names of the dead were withheld until next of kin could be notified. Officials said the plane had stopped to refuel at Godman and was enroute to Columbus, Ohio.

Attempt To Trim U. S. Spending Fails

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—The administration indicated today it no longer expected to succeed in a six-week-old attempt to cut spending on public works projects from $1,600,000,000 to $900,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

Nevertheless, Budget Bureau official expressed hope to newsmen that total federal spending in fiscal 1947 could be held within the figure of $41,500,000,000 set by President Truman in August.

Unless it is held to that figure, the government will go deeper into the red on this year's operations than the $1,900,000,000 forecast by President Truman in revised budget estimates accompanying a promise to economize.

The $1,900,000,000 deficit estimate was based in part on the President's declaration that spending on public works would be cut $700,000,000 this fiscal year in the interest of conserving building materials and labor as well as economy.

Budget Director James E. Webb acknowledged in a statement that many projects earlier scheduled for postponement until after next June 30 would be started before that date.

Albania Denies Permits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—Albania has refused to issue exit permits to several persons whom the United States government regards as American citizens, the State Department disclosed today.

Army Officers Apologize

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20 (AP)—Three field grade air force officers who assaulted Associated Press Photographer Allen Snipes after a football game here last Friday night apologized for their actions today, assumed full responsibility for the disorder, and made restitution for the damages inflicted.

B-25 CRASHES, BURNS—Firemen are ready for action as an Army B-25 bomber burns after crashing at Washington's National Airport late yesterday. Four men died and two escaped with injuries from the flaming wreckage. The accident occurred in full view of crowds lining the Potomac river for the President's Cup Regatta.

Four Are Killed In Washington Airplane Crash

Two Escape With Injuries From Flaming Wreckage Of Bomber

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Four men died and two escaped with injuries from the flaming wreckage of a twin-engine Army bomber which crashed in an emergency landing at Washington National Airport at dusk today.

The B-25 medium bomber, stripped of armament and used by the Army Airways Communication system, had arrived here earlier in the day with the six men, all reported by Army Air Force officials to be from the 75th AAF base at Langley Field, Va.

Injured Are Identified

The War Department identified the two injured men as Capt. Bradford W. Lawrence, medical officer at the Pentagon, whose home is in Fall River, Mass. and Capt. Myrick S. Hilsman, Langley View, Va.

The department said Capt. Hilsman sustained third degree burns over 90 per cent of his body and is in critical condition. Capt. Lawrence received lacerations but was not badly injured, the Army reported.

Names of the four men killed were not made known pending notification of next of kin.

Fuel Tanks Ignite

Airport officials said the bomber took off to return to Langley Field but almost immediately contacted the control tower of the field and reported it was landing. It circled the field for a moment, eyewitnesses said, then came in with one wing low, caught the ground, cartwheeled, tore into wreckage and burst into flames.

Two men reached safety before broken fuel tanks flashed up in a column of flame which reduced the plane to a mass of wreckage. The two were hurried to a hospital at Bolling Field, Army Air Base across the river from National Airport.

OPA Moves To Give Institutions More Meat

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—The OPA moved tonight to give hospitals, asylums, orphanages and prisons more meat.

It placed them in a preferred status, directing that each meat supplier sell them the same percentage of the institution's needs as he did in comparable months in 1944, when meat was rationed. The order is effective October 1.

Dairy Products Win New Parole From Price Lids

But Decontrol Board Will Keep Close Watch On Price Trends

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Milk and its by-products won another parole from price ceilings today but the Decontrol Board warned it will keep a close watch on future price trends of butter and cheese.

After three days of discussion, the powerful new independent board announced briefly that it "would not return dairy products to price control at this time."

Chairman Roy L. Thompson said evidence before the three member panel indicates that dairy "prices are approaching a critical point" but failed to "provide sufficient grounds for action by the board at this time."

Setback For Porter

The decision was another set back for OPA Administrator Paul Porter, who had told the board immediate recontrol of all dairy products "is essential to the stabilization program."

Thompson announced that the board will continue to watch the price levels of "certain segments of the dairy industry."

"As this information is received, we will be kept in a position to consider whether any action is necessary by the board in the future," he said.

Recalling the August 20 decision that allowed milk and its products to remain free from price controls, Thompson reminded that the board said then it would continue to "watch the prices of dairy products and subject them to control if they rose unreasonably."

"I want to make it plain that it is still our intention to do just that," he said today.

Thompson also recalled that the board decided on August 20 that dairy products "were in short supply and their regulation would be practicable and enforceable and would serve the public interest."

No "Unreasonable" Increases

He said the third requirement established by Congress for recontrol—"unreasonable price increase over June 30 ceilings plus subsidy"—was not met.

Truman Will Get Super "Sacred Cow" Before End Of Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Truman is going to get a new airplane—a super "Sacred Cow" capable of even longer flights than his present plane.

Delivery of the new Douglas DC-6 is expected late this year, complete with bedroom, library and desk. Mr. Truman inherited the "Sacred Cow," a DC-4, from the late President Roosevelt and it is still equipped with an elevator.

Company officials declined to comment on the plane, but it was reported reliably in aviation circles that the new four-engined craft would carry sleeping quarters for an extra pilot and co-pilot so that they could relieve the normal crew on long flights.

Storm Hits England; 10 Persons Die

Towns On South Coast Flooded; Crops Ruined, Industry Crippled

LONDON, Sept. 20. (AP)—At least 10 persons were killed tonight as the severest September gale recorded in the British Isles in more than 35 years struck the southern coast of England and the English channel with devastating force, flooding towns, ruining crops, crippling industry and paralyzing shipping.

Several steamships and yachts, buffeted by 100-mile-an-hour winds, were in peril off the southern and eastern coasts. The gale reached 50 to 60 miles an hour inland.

A 60-foot-high wave washed over the 2,000-ton steamer Isle of Jersey in the English Channel, sweeping three passengers off the ship to their deaths. Thirty-six others were injured and six were hospitalized after the damaged vessel limped into Southampton.

Two occupants of a moving automobile were killed near Bristol when an uprooted tree fell on it. A government tug foundered and sank five miles off Folkestone. One crewman drowned and a British destroyer rescued other members of the crew.

A fallen wire electrocuted a cyclist near Great Yarmouth and one man was killed when a train was derailed at a washed-out right-of-way near London. A falling tree killed a municipal employe in Brighton, while a resident of Huddersfield, Yorkshire, was swept to his death as he tried to rescue some chickens from the storm-swollen River Holme.

An American plane carrying Field Marshal Lord Montgomery home from his visit to Canada and the United States landed safely at Northholt airdrome after being diverted from Bovington, its original destination.

Ex-Secretary Of Commerce Takes To Air

Ousted Cabinet Member Renews Criticism Of U. S. Foreign Policy

Truman Endorses Byrnes, Lays Down Law For Government Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—President Truman today dismissed Secretary of Commerce Wallace for criticizing administration foreign policy and Wallace quickly took to the air with a plea for a popular crusade to "win the peace."

Mr. Truman, in ousting Wallace, gave an all-out endorsement to Secretary of State Byrnes and forbade all officials in the executive branch of the government to take public issue with the established foreign policy.

Private Citizen Wallace then went on the radio tonight to declare that the policy fails to recognize "basic realities", which he contended threaten "an atomic war."

Mr. Truman determined upon his sensational ouster of his disagreeing Cabinet officer after plain indications from Paris, where Byrnes is battling in the peace conference, that a White House settlement of two days ago was not good enough. It provided for Wallace to stay in office but keep quiet temporarily.

No Policy Change Considered

After mulling on it overnight, the Chief Executive seized his telephone this morning less than half an hour before he was to receive reporters in a news conference and told the Secretary of Commerce he was out.

Then he announced his decision, and with it he wrote clear-cut assurances of "my full endorsement" for the embattled Byrnes. He wrote, too, that Wallace's views are not those of the administration, and that "no change in our foreign policy is contemplated."

Relieved of his gag, Wallace issued a statement to the Commerce Department employes explaining that he had resigned "in order that I may be free as a private citizen to continue to fight for world peace."

He followed this up with his nationwide broadcast tonight. He spoke only briefly, saying he would not wish to interfere with the Paris negotiations, but he declared that no policy can succeed unless the people "are given all the facts."

In addition to this fresh warning of war and criticism of present policy, he explained that his Madison Square Garden speech in New York last week, which touched off the uproar, had been misunderstood.

Believes In "One World"

His statement then that the United States has no more business in the political affairs of Eastern Europe than Russia has in American affairs was widely interpreted as advocating two world spheres of influence.

"I began talking about 'one world' more than 15 years ago," the ex-Secretary said tonight. "I do not believe in two worlds. x x x We cannot have peace except in 'one world.'"

After the broadcast, he said in response to reporters' questions that he had no plans for any speaking engagement and "no plans at all" for his future except that he ex-

Patterson Says Army Will Propose Universal Training Program In '47

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP)—The War Department will propose a program of six months universal military training when Congress convenes in January, Secretary of War Robert Patterson told the National Guard Association tonight.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the association's annual banquet, the former New York National Guardsman said the program will include mandatory additional training with an option as to how it shall be taken. One of the alternates will be service in the guard. The Army previously had urged a year of training.

"In this period of transition between war and peace we must not throw away our weapons and run the risk of being drawn into war again," Patterson said. "If we alone disarm, we will be asking for another war."

The Secretary lauded the World War II record of the National Guard, and recalled that he enlisted in the New York Guard 31 years ago and "stood for a long time in the rear rank." He recalled, too, that President Truman served in the Missouri National Guard 14 years.

The War Department's present plan is for a National Guard of 27 divisions and 27 air groups—682,000 men, Patterson continued. That figure cannot be lowered, he declared, "unless risks are to be taken with the national security."

"Appeasement of dictators is dead, or ought to be dead," he said. "The events of our time have shown that appeasement is the sure road to war."

The Secretary expressed confidence in the United Nations as "the most promising instrument to prevent the recurrence of war," but added:

"At the same time we are aware that success will not be achieved unless all the great powers give their support with the same steady purpose. x x x

"Until we have fair proof of the success of the United Nations, our most effective means of preventing war is the maintenance of military strength. Whether we like it or not, the fact is that in this day and age military power is the thing that counts."

The National Guard, Patterson explained, is considered "a principal M-Day force," and must have trained men.

Republicans, Old-Line Democrats Approve Firing Of Henry Wallace

[By The Associated Press]

Republicans joined old-line Democrats yesterday in a loud chorus of approval for the firing of Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace, with overtones of complaint that it was not done earlier.

Reaction to President Truman's solution of the grave foreign policy split in his Cabinet came more slowly from the quarters where Wallace had his chief support.

Harold L. Ickes, saying he was not "defending" Wallace and that the latter had "overstayed" in the cabinet, nevertheless led off on that side.

"Wallace comes out of this with more credit than Truman," he observed.

Later the National Citizens Political Action Committee issued a statement saying Wallace's ouster "is a blow to the progressive forces of the country and to the cause of peace."

The statement, signed by Frank Kingdon, chairman, and C. B. Baldwin, executive vice chairman of the

Reece Says Truman Gambles Security

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, accused President Truman tonight of gambling with the nation's security "for the radical vote in New York and elsewhere."

In a statement on the ouster of Henry Wallace as secretary of Commerce after a Cabinet split over Wallace's foreign policy speech in New York last week, Reece said:

"Mr. Wallace is out of the cabinet, for which patriotic Americans can be thankful, but his collaborator who approved the Madison Square Garden speech still is in the White House. The damage done to our foreign policy and our national prestige has not been mended."

Truman's Ousting Of Wallace Too Long Delayed

President Truman has, in the vernacular of the boy in the street, given Henry A. Wallace the bum's rush.

Mr. Truman's decision to ask for the resignation of his Commerce secretary, while unexpected so soon after securing a pledge from him to keep his big mouth shut, was not a complete surprise, especially after it had been disclosed that Mr. Truman had been in touch with Secretary of State Byrnes the day before for more than twenty minutes. Now, a lot of conversation can be crowded into such a period, and while we have not been told what was said we are led to the belief that Mr. Byrnes told the President in a very few words that his dilly-dallying with Wallace, and his patchy arrangements that he remain silent for a given period, was most unsatisfactory. We are also led to believe that Mr. Byrnes told Mr. Truman that under that arrangement it would be impossible for him to remain in Paris as head of the American delegation to the peace conference. In other words, Mr. Byrnes must have told him the Cabinet was not big enough to accommodate both Mr. Wallace and himself.

The decision to ask for Mr. Wallace's resignation, whatever prompted it, was delayed too long, and while the action is one for which a harassed nation can be thankful, Mr. Truman has not dispelled the opinion of a majority of Americans that he permitted untold damage to our prestige in the world, and that as a leader he has failed miserably. But, instead of having to undergo a spell of silence, during which the United States of America was not to be presented to the world by a Cabinet member as a nation divided, the threat to future outbursts has been removed. We hope it means the end of such meddling in foreign affairs by loose-tongued Administration aides, and that the Administration will be able to present a united front for the kind of world Americans died to establish—a world in which men can live in dignity under governments of their own choosing.

It no doubt will prove a crushing blow to Mr. Wallace, now that he has been sent to the sidelines. To have held his Cabinet post and his tongue at the same time for the duration of the Peace conference would no doubt have been an almost impossible task. It might have developed in him a sense of frustration not compensated for even by his retention of a seat in the nation's official family, and remaining a darling of the Left-Wingers. But now that the worst has come to the worst for him, there is a precedent for a way out.

Another frustrated zealot of our time, Rudolph Hess, winged his way back into the limelight by taking off in a plane and parachuting down to England. Maybe Henry, who lately has learned to fly solo, could parachute into Russia where he would be free to carry on his tirade against the country of his birth.

That would be a relief, even now that Henry has been bounced from the Washington scene, to the sorely beset and much confused man in the White House.

Ten years from now 10-pound missiles from here will be hitting the moon, scientists say. Well, it can't protest that it wasn't warned.

Russia Introduces Intellectual Slavery

Those who have said that Russia is a totalitarian state are hard put to devise an enlargement to that statement. Today Russia is approaching a condition in which control of thought is tighter than ever before. The struggle of the Soviet Union for the realization of the current five-year plan is becoming more intense, and the central committee of the communist party is finding it indispensable to intensify the ideological work of the party in art, literature and in every form of human behavior.

The picture which is flashed from Russia is that of a program in which a state attempts deliberately to deify man, the worker. It is no longer a case of respect for man, the individual; man with a personality; man, insofar as a rational mind and a free will are concerned, made in the image and likeness of God. No. In Russia it is Man, the Worker; Man, the Manager; Man, the Doctor; Man, the Farmer; Man, the Accountant.

The absurdity of this attempt on the part of Russia is obvious to anyone who knows that no one aspect of man can be emphasized out of proportion to others. It has been decreed that man must work and one avoids it only at one's peril. But to say that man lives only to work is to speak nonsense. To direct the arts to emphasize the fact that man lives only to work is to prostitute the arts to a false idea.

Russia introduced and maintains economic slavery to carry out its program for what it calls "social justice." It is now introducing intellectual slavery on the highest level to bolster its economic slavery.

Republicans are most surprised of all by political developments, as they never expected to get all the breaks simultaneously.

American People Should Feel Grateful To Pershing

The American people should be thankful that General of the Armies John J. Pershing has been spared to express, on his eighty-sixth birthday, the following thought:

"In this postwar period of international differences it is incumbent upon our country to enforce our diplomacy with continued strength. The first world war would have insured peace had we dictated our terms in Berlin and brought home the suffering of occupation to the German people and at the same time maintained a respectable posture of defense on land and sea and in the air."

In his bedside statement the commander of victory in World War I exhorted his fellow countrymen to observe this lesson with national unity. The recent Congress, caught in a conflict between sentimentalism and duty in an election year, leaned to the former and America's armed forces have dwindled to the danger point and without adequate replacements.

A big stick, unfortunately, is still needed to back up a diplomacy of firmness and justice. The citizens of this country should heed, before it is too late again, the advice of a great soldier who saw his magnificent striking machine disintegrate and with it the chances for peace.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY

No one wants to grow old yet with every birthday another milestone is passed whether we like it or not. Some parts of the anatomy seem to take it better than others. Fortunately, the process is gradual and few are aware of the changes until put to the test.

Medical statistics show that a large number of oldtimers suffer mental breakdowns. But the situation is not as bad as the figures show. Actually, the percentage is small in comparison with the millions of aged men and women who are perfectly competent, living happily, and minding their own business. The majority retain their faculties, even tho the young whipper snapper thinks them odd for exhibiting strong biases or prejudices, or having trouble accepting new ideas.

In most instances the elderly have every right to develop certain complexes. Few realize the hardships associated with the "sear and yellow leaf." Retirement, for example, may be delightful in anticipation but to a man of 65 it often represents the end of usefulness and productivity. And it is, unless the gentleman possesses a hobby or avocation to keep him busy. Many fear the period because of loneliness, and wonder what they will do with no fixed hours or the usual pressure of work. This might explain why a different viewpoint on life appears. The tendency is not necessarily a natural deterioration.

The man over 60 can still learn even tho science has shown that intellectual ability declines slowly from the age of 25 years. In other words, a younger man has greater ability in this direction. The mature person does not stop learning, but the procedure takes a little longer and, were it not for experience and the desire to acquire knowledge, it might be somewhat harder.

Various tests have demonstrated this startling phenomenon. The loss from the age of 25 to 60 is, on the average, 25 per cent. The decrease may not be as serious in one as in another who has never been endowed with much to begin with. The mental alterations parallel the falling off in physical capacity. Certain faculties are likely to improve; others decline. The graybeard may have a larger vocabulary, but his memory functions might not be as good.

Much has been added by experience. Thus there are brilliant jurists at 80 who have accumulated a tremendous fund of knowledge during their lifetime. These men have the ability and judgment to apply what they know.

The majority need not worry about the changes which are bound to occur. The government has solved the problem of financial security. Since the days of rearing a family are over, those in the higher age brackets do better by shifting activities and interests to new lines. Too often they start over and begin to carry the burdens of children and grandchildren. This leads to responsibilities, anxiety, and frustrations which add to the wear and tear of the cells. Moreover, it is not always appreciated.

Instead, hobbies, travel, clubs, reading, and politics are advised. If possible, retirement should be carried out by degrees, so that some work can still be done. Suitable exercises are also helpful such as walks, croquet, shuffleboard, and bowling on the green. Thru relaxation, the mind can remain clear and deterioration is discouraged.

PHLEBITIS

A. K. S. writes: Can a man suffer with milkleg?

REPLY

Yes, as milkleg means phlebitis. The disorder is due to a blockage of a large vein in the leg or an inflammatory condition of the tiny lymph channels. Because the ailment is frequently associated with pregnancy, the erroneous idea prevails that it occurs only in women. But other factors can be responsible in either sex.

Justice Department Has Hot Report on American Stooges of Nazis; Pressure Being Brought To Kill Report on Some High-Placed Americans

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. — One of the hottest reports in Washington is now almost burning up its filing cabinet in the Justice Department. All sorts of pressure is being brought to make sure it never sees the light of day.

It is a report on certain high-placed Americans who cooperated with the Nazis before Pearl Harbor. It was prepared by the Justice Department's crack prosecutor, John Rogge, on the basis of interviews with Hermann Goering and other German prisoners.

However, it steps on some very powerful toes, including those of United Mine Workers chief John L. Lewis, so the bets are it will never be published. Also mentioned as unwitting tools of the Nazi stooges are Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri (now judge), ex-Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota, ex-Senator Bob Reynolds of North Carolina (now married to the McLean, Hope Diamond millions), the late Senator Lundeen of Minnesota, Senator Wheeler of Montana, ex-Congressman Martin Sweeney of Ohio, and ex-Congressman Stephen Day of Illinois.

Several of the Senators—perhaps unwittingly—made speeches written for them by Nazi agents. The man who wrote and planted these speeches was George Sylvester Viereck, nephew of the Kaiser, now serving a six-year sentence in jail. The Justice Department has now discovered that Viereck had about $200,000 of Nazi gold to spend on propaganda.

John L. Lewis enters the picture in connection with the trip of W. R. Davis, independent oil producer, to Germany to contact Goering regarding peace and sell oil to Germany. Confidential records show how Lewis telephoned certain Mexican Labor friends in Mexico City to introduce Davis and help arrange for him to buy oil for the Nazi regime.

The Rogge report also shows how the First National Bank of Boston loaned the money to finance David's German oil deal.

One chapter in the Rogge report is devoted exclusively to Lindbergh.

At first Senator Wheeler of Montana figured in the report, but President Truman intervened personally on behalf of his old friend, and all but one reference to the Montana Senator already have been deleted.

Whether the report ever survives the pressure now being exerted on the Justice Department remains to be seen. It is doubtful.

Caste System

General Eisenhower was attending a dinner party at which Speaker Sam Rayburn told a story.

In his most delightful and detailed manner, Sam related how he had walked over from the House side of the Capitol to the Senate side and got in an elevator. He wanted to go up to the second floor. But a Senator also stepped in, called for the third floor and the elevator shot up, non-stop, to the third floor. Senators came first.

Rayburn thought he would be taken back to the second floor, but another Senator got in, called for the basement, and at once the elevator operator, whose instructions are to serve Senators first, skipped the second floor and shot down to the basement.

Then, according to Rayburn, Senator after Senator got into the elevator, taking it up and down, until he spent the rest of he afternoon traveling between Senate floors.

"Ah, ha!" remarked General Eisenhower, who had been listening carefully, "caste system on Capitol Hill!"

Chronic Liars' Club

For some years there has been pious talk in the White House about the importance of telling the truth. For every honest statesman and every good newspaperman, this is a virtue devoutly to be wished.

Consider, however, the recent record of certain gentlemen in the White House. At 5:46 p. m. on Tuesday, Sept. 17, Presidential secretary Charles Ross informed newsmen that: President Truman had approved publication of the Wallace letter on Russia after White House attaches held a huddle on procedure.

Simultaneously, Bruce Catton, press officer of the Commerce Department, informed newsmen that Secretary Wallace had received a phone call from Ross saying that President Truman wanted Wallace's Russian letter made public. Ross stated that various newspapers had been pressuring the White House to get the text, therefore Wallace was instructed to release it.

Wallace did so.

At 5:59, a "kill" came over the news ticker. It stated that the 5:46 p. m. item about White House approval of publication of the Wallace letter was to be suppressed. In other words, Messrs. Truman and Ross had changed their minds.

Later came a formal White House announcement that President Truman did not approve publication of the Wallace letter. It was explained that Wallace had released it on his own.

Someone was not telling the truth.

What happened was that in their zeal to help certain newspaper friends by giving them the text of the Wallace letter, the gentlemen in the White house forgot all about the much more important question of foreign relations. Someone suddenly realized that Truman's authorization to publish the Wallace letter might be interpreted in Russia and elsewhere as meaning he agreed with its contents. Hence they resorted to the old and threadbare dodge of an untruth.

Note—This columnist, whom President Roosevelt made president of the "Chronic Liars Club" will be glad to admit new recruits provided they pass proper qualifications for membership.

Housewives Merry-Go-Round

Cattle dealers are not the only ones who can strike against meat prices. G. I. students at the University of Minnesota have launched a complete boycott of meat until prices come down, are living on soup and vegetables . . . Housewives should be glad that sugar is to remain rationed. If rationing ended, soft drink, candy and pastry manufacturers would drive up the price and further shorten grocers' supplies, Pepsi-Cola is only waiting for the end of rationing to open a cutthroat campaign to keep and extend the market the've won from Coca-Cola during the war . . . OPA will crack down on meat wholesalers in New York, Cleveland and Chicago who have been forcing butchers to accept meat on invoices dated back to the period before price control. By predating invoices, wholesalers force retailers to pay above-ceiling prices, thus forcing them to charge consumers above-ceiling . . . Poultry prices are hitting an average of eight cents a pound above the old ceiling price, even though there is no shortage of poultry. As a result the recontrol board may pressure Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to recommend recontrol of poultry. The Justice Department is also interested in the stranglehold several large meat packers have on the poultry industry.

Truman Has Lost Power To Resist New Wage Raises

By MARK SULLIVAN

During the week in which the limelight has been held by Mr. Henry A. Wallace's speech on foreign policy, an important event in domestic policy has been lost sight of. This is loss by the Administration of another battle in its fight against inflation. The loss, and the effects of it, cannot long remain obscure. The facts leading up to the battle are:

Last June maritime unions belonging to CIO threatened to strike unless they received wage raises demanded by them. They got the raises, amounting to some $17.50 a month.

Shortly thereafter other maritime unions, belonging to the rival AFL, negotiated contracts with ship operators by which these unions got wage raises greater by $5 to $10 a month than had been given the CIO unions to avert strike.

Disapproved By WSB

This wage raise for AFL unions was disapproved by the Wage Stabilization Board at Washington. The Board took the position that a line must be held against increases in maritime wages, as a necessity of holding the line against inflation.

Against this decision of the Wage Stabilization Board, AFL unions went on strike. Presently the CIO unions also stopped work, refusing to cross AFL picket lines. The entire foreign shipping of the country was stopped. The stoppage, backed up into the interior was beginning to stall railroad transportation and industry generally.

This condition was the center of public attention until Mr. Wallace's speech shoved it out of the limelight. Not only was the stoppage serious in itself. It was recognized also that whether the Wage Stabilization Board stood firm was a portentious question. As put by radio commentator Elmer Davis (here quoted from memory) unless the Stabilization Board stood firm it might as well fold up and go home. As put by a columnist:

Stood To Lose Wage Control

"If the Administration does not prevent the wage increase for which maritime unions are striking, it will have lost the last vestige of its control over wages. The strike is against a wage standard set by a decision of the Administration. If the Administration does not or cannot make its own standard respected, little will be left to it of either prestige or legal authority. With power over wages gone, if it turns out that way, it is likely that power over prices would follow."

The Wage Stabilization Board stood firm; it held hearings and formally announced that it would not change its position. From the Board the question went to President Truman. By him it was turned over to Stabilization Director John Steelman. Mr. Steelman in effect overruled the Stabilization Board, announcing a decision which tried to do two things; preserve the government's wage-price stabilization program, and at the same time grant the striking unions what they demanded.

To understand how Mr. Steelman accomplished this it is necessary to bear in mind that there are two groups of ship operators. One group operates ships owned by themselves. These are willing to grant the wage raises and pay them out of their own pockets, without increasing the cost of shipping to the public. But another group operates ships owned by the government, by contract with the government. These held that if wage raises were granted the increased cost should be paid by the government

Adheres To Government Policy

Mr. Steelman worked out a formula amounting to this: As the private shipping owners had agreed to pay the AFL wage rates, and to absorb the resulting increases in cost, the government should do the same. For justification of this position Mr. Steelman went back to a policy adopted by the government in the year 1863, which said that the government should always pay "the prevailing wage."

President Truman, in answer to a question at a press conference, said that Mr. Steelman's position would not mean a change in the Administration's wage-price stabilization program. His position was justified, in the sense that the wage-raises to seamen would not result in direct increases in cost of shipping to the public. Part of the increased cost would be absorbed by ship owners, part would be paid by the government.

But the fact remained that wages to maritime unions were increased, as to them the line was broken. And it was apparent that this would be followed by demands for corresponding increases by other unions in other industries. The Administration, under pressure from a strike, had receded from a wage standard it had previously stood upon. By that it lost power to resist demands for wage raises by other unions.

Wallace's Mistaken Zeal Makes World Think War Is Inevitable

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — Mistaken zeal by Secretary Wallace to prevent war has perhaps done more to make the whole world think a war is inevitable than he ever intended.

For the secretary of commerce, speaking with the prestige of a member of the President's cabinet, has put the stamp of authority back of the charge that somewhere in the American Army and Navy a school of thought is contemplating an attack on Russia "now" before she makes any atomic bombs. Though this charge has been formally denied by the secretaries of War and Navy, Mr. Wallace has advertised this story throughout the whole world.

Was Exceedingly Careless

Mr. Wallace may contend that he didn't intentionally make public the letter which he wrote to President Truman and which he gave out only when he heard that a columnist had a copy. Yet Mr. Wallace was exceedingly careless and indiscreet when he put such thoughts on paper at all. It turns out that six copies of this letter were made and that Secretary Wallace showed—in confidence, of course—to one newspaperman a copy of that letter in August. The newspaperman was the Moscow correspondent of the Associated Press who is on his way back to Russia. That correspondent now tells the world from Stockholm that he knew all about the letter and, of course, would have preserved Mr. Wallace's confidence. But Mr. Wallace chose to show copies of this highly confidential correspondence with the President to persons outside the government. Small wonder that one of the six copies got into the hands of a Washington columnist.

Mr. Wallace naturally doesn't want to provoke a third world war but such a contingency is far more possible today than it was before Mr. Wallace made his Madison Square Garden speech or released his letter. This is because twice a world war has broken out with the aggressor state believing America was unprepared and virtually disarmed and divided by isolationist politics.

Russia's Actions Create Suspicion

Today Mr. Wallace wants America to disarm again and trust Russia to behave and give up her aggression. She has already violated the Atlantic Charter and has grabbed 250,000 square miles of territory. She has already shown that she is making war on democracy throughout the world. Though Mr. Wallace says Russia shouldn't do these things with her propaganda abroad, at the same time he reveals a strange tolerance of communism and totalitarianism which is surprising.

The secretary of commerce argues vehemently that he is neither pro-Russian nor pro-Communist but the effect of his statements is to manifest a sympathy for what a totalitarian government is doing in eastern Europe. He overlooks the brutality of the Moscow government in its treatment of human beings in eastern Europe and its robbery and rapine which have horrified the world. To Secretary Wallace this apparently is just another philosophy alongside of which democracy should make up its mind to live in a sort of friendly competition.

Communism Inhumane, Brutal

Communism, like Fascism, is inhumane and brutal in its operations.

The Russian government has exiled for political expressions thousands of men who have had the temerity to express themselves. There can be no common ground between democracy and totalitarianism. A clash is constantly going on and will continue to go on until one or the other is eliminated.

To advocate isolationism and appeasement now, as Secretary Wallace has done, is to revert to the policies which so many Republicans preached in the 1920's when they persuaded the U. S. Senate to reject the League of Nations covenant. Mr. Wallace mad some speeches attacking the isolationists in 1940 and 1944. He now owes them all an apology, for his basic doctrine differs little from that of the "America First" crowd. As a matter of fact, in his charge that the United States government is pursuing policies that will provoke war, he is using the same line of reasoning as have various extremists in the anti-Roosevelt camp who claim Mr. Roosevelt provoked the attack on Pearl Harbor. America did not provoke World War I or II and is not now provoking World War III, but if Secretary Wallace wants to do as Prime Minister Chamberlain did at Munich, he will not find America following him.

Wallace Indicts Own Party

Also he should not be making the following comment: "These appropriations (military) are now more than ten times as great as they were during the thirties." The reason Mr. Wallace should not make that argument is because a Democratic administration was in power throughout the thirties and 300,000 American boys have just paid with their lives because the United States was unprepared and both Germany and Japan thought they could take advantage of our disarmament.

I thought I'd seen just about everything until I went to the race track and watched the officials judge the race from a helicopter. It was very exciting . . . As the bangtails raced around the track the judges all sang "I've Got My Eyes On You."

The new system is working so well I understand they plan to use a fast gopher to watch what's going on at the other end. The jockeys don't like it though, and to show their resentment they now use ackack instead of a whip.

The Flying Mata Hari is really efficient. You don't have to wait for the announcement to find out who won . . . As the horses pound across the finish line the helicopter opens its bomb-bay and drops a wreath on the winner's neck. But I still don't know whether the winning horse was fast or just blown in. Those rotating blades are dangerous, and in the fourth race the judges were so intent upon watching the finish . . . Three horses had to be sent to the glue factory.

Things sure have changed at the track . . . . the announcements now read: "Track muddy . . . . ceiling zero." And just to show off after the race, the helicopter came down and mowed the lawn!

Truman's Ousting Of Wallace Too Long Delayed

President Truman has, in the vernacular of the boy in the street, given Henry A. Wallace the bum's rush.

Mr. Truman's decision to ask for the resignation of his Commerce secretary, while unexpected so soon after securing a pledge from him to keep his big mouth shut, was not a complete surprise, especially after it had been disclosed that Mr. Truman had been in touch with Secretary of State Byrnes the day before for more than twenty minutes. Now, a lot of conversation can be crowded into such a period, and while we have not been told what was said we are led to the belief that Mr. Byrnes told the President in a very few words that his dilly-dallying with Wallace, and his patchy arrangements that he remain silent for a given period, was most unsatisfactory. We are also led to believe that Mr. Byrnes told Mr. Truman that under that arrangement it would be impossible for him to remain in Paris as head of the American delegation to the peace conference. In other words, Mr. Byrnes must have told him the Cabinet was not big enough to accommodate both Mr. Wallace and himself.

The decision to ask for Mr. Wallace's resignation, whatever prompted it, was delayed too long, and while the action is one for which a harassed nation can be thankful, Mr. Truman has not dispelled the opinion of a majority of Americans that he permitted untold damage to our prestige in the world, and that as a leader he has failed miserably. But, instead of having to undergo a spell of silence, during which the United States of America was not to be presented to the world by a Cabinet member as a nation divided, the threat to future outbursts has been removed. We hope it means the end of such meddling in foreign affairs by loose-tongued Administration aides, and that the Administration will be able to present a united front for the kind of world Americans died to establish—a world in which men can live in dignity under governments of their own choosing.

It no doubt will prove a crushing blow to Mr. Wallace, now that he has been sent to the sidelines. To have held his Cabinet post and his tongue at the same time for the duration of the Peace conference would no doubt have been an almost impossible task. It might have developed in him a sense of frustration not compensated for even by his retention of a seat in the nation's official family, and remaining a darling of the Left-Wingers. But now that the worst has come to the worst for him, there is a precedent for a way out.

Another frustrated zealot of our time, Rudolph Hess, winged his way back into the limelight by taking off in a plane and parachuting down to England. Maybe Henry, who lately has learned to fly solo, could parachute into Russia where he would be free to carry on his tirade against the country of his birth.

That would be a relief, even now that Henry has been bounced from the Washington scene, to the sorely beset and much confused man in the White House.

Ten years from now 10-pound missiles from here will be hitting the moon, scientists say. Well, it can't protest that it wasn't warned.

Russia Introduces Intellectual Slavery

Those who have said that Russia is a totalitarian state are hard put to devise an enlargement to that statement. Today Russia is approaching a condition in which control of thought is tighter than ever before. The struggle of the Soviet Union for the realization of the currant five-year plan is becoming more intense, and the central committee of the communist party is finding it indispensable to intensify the ideological work of the party in art, literature and in every form of human behavior.

The picture which is flashed from Russia is that of a program in which a state attempts deliberately to deify man, the worker. It is no longer a case of respect for man, the individual; man with a personality; man, insofar as a rational mind and a free will are concerned, made in the image and likeness of God. No. In Russia it is Man, the Worker; Man, the Manager; Man, the Doctor; Man, the Farmer; Man, the Accountant.

The absurdity of this attempt on the part of Russia is obvious to anyone who knows that no one aspect of man can be emphasized out of proportion to others. It has been decreed that man must work and one avoids it only at one's peril. But to say that man lives only to work is to speak nonsense. To direct the arts to emphasize the fact that man lives only to work is to prostitute the arts to a false idea.

Russia introduced and maintains economic slavery to carry out its program for what it calls "social justice." It is now introducing intellectual slavery on the highest level to bolster its economic slavery.

Republicans are most surprised of all by political developments, as they never expected to get all the breaks simultaneously.

American People Should Feel Grateful To Pershing

The American people should be thankful that General of the Armies John J. Pershing has been spared to express, on his eighty-sixth birthday, the following thought:

"In this postwar period of international differences it is incumbent upon our country to enforce our diplomacy with continued strength. The first world war would have insured peace had we dictated our terms in Berlin and brought home the suffering of occupation to the German people and at the same time maintained a respectable posture of defense on land and sea and in the air."

In his bedside statement the commander of victory in World War I exhorted his fellow countrymen to observe this lesson with national unity. The recent Congress, caught in a conflict between sentimentalism and duty in an election year, leaned to the former and America's armed forces have dwindled to the danger point and without adequate replacements.

A big stick, unfortunately, is still needed to back up a diplomacy of firmness and justice. The citizens of this country should heed, before it is too late again, the advice of a great soldier who saw his magnificent striking machine disintegrate and with it the chances for peace.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY

No one wants to grow old yet with every birthday another milestone is passed whether we like it or not. Some parts of the anatomy seem to take it better than others. Fortunately, the process is gradual and few are aware of the changes until put to the test.

Medical statistics show that a large number of oldtimers suffer mental breakdowns. But the situation is not as bad as the figures show. Actually, the percentage is small in comparison with the millions of aged men and women who are perfectly competent, living happily, and minding their own business. The majority retain their faculties, even tho the young whipper snapper thinks them odd for exhibiting strong biases or prejudices, or having trouble accepting new ideas.

In most instances the elderly have every right to develop certain complexes. Few realize the hardships associated with the "sear and yellow leaf." Retirement, for example, may be delightful in anticipation but to a man of 65 it often represents the end of usefulness and productivity. And it is, unless the gentleman possesses a hobby or avocation to keep him busy. Many fear the period because of loneliness, and wonder what they will do with no fixed hours or the usual pressure of work. This might explain why a different viewpoint on life appears. The tendency is not necessarily a natural deterioration.

The man over 60 can still learn even tho science has shown that intellectual ability declines slowly from the age of 25 years. In other words, a younger man has greater ability in this direction. The mature person does not stop learning, but the procedure takes a little longer and, were it not for experience and the desire to acquire knowledge, it might be somewhat harder.

Various tests have demonstrated this startling phenomenon. The loss from the age of 25 to 60 is, on the average, 25 per cent. The decrease may not be as serious in one as in another who has never been endowed with much to begin with. The mental alterations parallel the falling off in physical capacity. Certain faculties are likely to improve; others decline. The graybeard may have a larger vocabulary, but his memory functions might not be as good.

Much has been added by experience. Thus there are brilliant jurists at 80 who have accumulated a tremendous fund of knowledge during their lifetime. These men have the ability and judgment to apply what they know.

The majority need not worry about the changes which are bound to occur. The government has solved the problem of financial security. Since the days of rearing a family are over, those in the higher age brackets do better by shifting activities and interests to new lines. Too often they start over and begin to carry the burdens of children and grandchildren. This leads to responsibilities, anxiety, and frustrations which add to the wear and tear of the cells. Moreover, it is not always appreciated.

Instead, hobbies, travel, clubs, reading, and politics are advised. If possible, retirement should be carried out by degrees, so that some work can still be done. Suitable exercises are also helpful such as walks, croquet, shuffleboard, and bowling on the green. Thru relaxation, the mind can remain clear and deterioration is discouraged.

PHLEBITIS

A. K. S. writes: Can a man suffer with milkleg?

REPLY

Yes, as milkleg means phlebitis. The disorder is due to a blockage of a large vein in the leg or an inflammatory condition of the tiny lymph channels. Because the ailment is frequently associated with pregnancy, the erroneous idea prevails that it occurs only in women. But other factors can be responsible in either sex.

Justice Department Has Hot Report on American Stooges of Nazis; Pressure Being Brought To Kill Report on Some High-Placed Americans

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. — One of the hottest reports in Washington is now almost burning up its filing cabinet in the Justice Department. All sorts of pressure is being brought to make sure it never sees the light of day.

It is a report on certain high-placed Americans who cooperated with the Nazis before Pearl Harbor. It was prepared by the Justice Department's crack prosecutor, John Rogge, on the basis of interviews with Hermann Goering and other German prisoners.

However, it steps on some very powerful toes, including those of United Mine Workers chief John L. Lewis, so the bets are it will never be published. Also mentioned as unwitting tools of the Nazi stooges are Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri (now judge), ex-Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota, ex-Senator Bob Reynolds of North Carolina (now married to the McLean, Hope Diamond millions), the late Senator Lundeen of Minnesota, Senator Wheeler of Montana, ex-Congressman Martin Sweeney of Ohio, and ex-Congressman Stephen Day of Illinois.

Several of the Senators—perhaps unwittingly—made speeches written for them by Nazi agents. The man who wrote and planted these speeches was George Sylvester Viereck, nephew of the Kaiser, now serving a six-year sentence in jail. The Justice Department has now discovered that Viereck had about $200,000 of Nazi gold to spend on propaganda.

John L. Lewis enters the picture in connection with the trip of W. R. Davis, independent oil producer, to Germany to contact Goering regarding peace and sell oil to Germany. Confidential records show how Lewis telephoned certain Mexican Labor friends in Mexico City to introduce Davis and help arrange for him to buy oil for the Nazi regime.

The Rogge report also shows how the First National Bank of Boston loaned the money to finance David's German oil deal.

One chapter in the Rogge report is devoted exclusively to Lindbergh.

At first Senator Wheeler of Montana figured in the report, but President Truman intervened personally on behalf of his old friend, and all but one reference to the Montana Senator already have been deleted.

Whether the report ever survives the pressure now being exerted on the Justice Department remains to be seen. It is doubtful.

Caste System

General Eisenhower was attending a dinner party at which Speaker Sam Rayburn told a story.

In his most delightful and detailed manner, Sam related how he had walked over from the House side of the Capitol to the Senate side and got in an elevator. He wanted to go up to the second floor. But a Senator also stepped in, called for the third floor and the elevator shot up, non-stop, to the third floor. Senators came first.

Rayburn thought he would be taken back to the second floor, but another Senator got in, called for the basement, and at once the elevator operator, whose instructions are to serve Senators first, skimped the second floor and shot down to the basement.

Then, according to Rayburn, Senator after Senator got into the elevator, taking it up and down, until he spent the rest of his afternoon traveling between Senate floors.

"Ah, ha!" remarked General Eisenhower, who had been listening carefully, "caste system on Capitol Hill!"

Chronic Liars' Club

For some years there has been pious talk in the White House about the importance of telling the truth. For every honest statesman and every good newspaperman, this is a virtue devoutly to be wished.

Consider, however, the recent record of certain gentlemen in the White House. At 5:46 p. m. on Tuesday, Sept. 17, Presidential secretary Charles Ross informed newsmen that: President Truman had approved publication of the Wallace letter on Russia after White House attaches held a huddle on procedure.

Simultaneously, Bruce Catton, press officer of the Commerce Department, informed newsmen that Secretary Wallace had received a phone call from Ross saying that President Truman wanted Wallace's Russian letter made public. Ross stated that various newspapers, had been pressuring the White House to get the text, therefore Wallace was instructed to release it.

Wallace did so.

At 5:59, a "kill" came over the news ticker. It stated that the 5:46 p. m. item about White House approval of publication of the Wallace letter was to be suppressed. In other words, Messrs. Truman and Ross had changed their minds.

Later came a formal White House announcement that President Truman did not approve publication of the Wallace letter. It was explained that Wallace had released it on his own.

Someone was not telling the truth.

What happened was that in their zeal to help certain newspaper friends by giving them the text of the Wallace letter, the gentlemen in the White house forgot all about the much more important question of foreign relations. Someone suddenly realized that Truman's authorization to publish the Wallace letter might be interpreted in Russia and elsewhere as meaning he agreed with its contents. Hence they resorted to the old and threadbare dodge of an untruth.

Note—This columnist, whom President Roosevelt made president of the "Chronic Liars Club" will be glad to admit new recruits provided they pass proper qualifications for membership.

Housewives Merry-Go-Round

Cattle dealers are not the only ones who can strike against meat prices. G. I. students at the University of Minnesota have launched a complete boycott of meat until prices come down, are living on soup and vegetables . . . . Housewives should be glad that sugar is to remain rationed. If rationing ended, soft drink, candy and pastry manufacturers would drive up the price and further shorten grocers' supplies, Pepsi-Cola is only waiting for the end of rationing to open a cutthroat campaign to keep and extend the market they've won from Coca-Cola during the war . . . OPA will crack down on meat wholesalers in New York, Cleveland and Chicago who have been forcing butchers to accept meat on invoices dated back to the period before price control. By predating invoices, wholesalers force retailers to pay above-ceiling prices, thus forcing them to charge consumers above-ceiling. . . . Poultry prices are hitting an average of eight cents a pound above the old ceiling price, even though there is no shortage of poultry. As a result the recontrol board may pressure Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to recommend recontrol of poultry. The Justice Department is also interested in the stranglehold several large meat packers have on the poultry industry.

Truman Has Lost Power To Resist New Wage Raises

By MARK SULLIVAN

During the week in which the limelight has been held by Mr. Henry A. Wallace's speech on foreign policy, an important event in domestic policy has been lost sight of. This is loss by the Administration of another battle in its fight against inflation. The loss, and the effects of it, cannot long remain obscure. The facts leading up to the battle are:

Last June maritime unions belonging to CIO threatened to strike unless they received wage raises demanded by them. They got the raises, amounting to some $17.50 a month.

Shortly thereafter other maritime unions, belonging to the rival AFL, negotiated contracts with ship operators by which these unions got wage raises greater by $5 to $10 a month than had been given the CIO unions to avert strike.

Disapproved By WSB

This wage raise for AFL unions was disapproved by the Wage Stabilization Board at Washington. The Board took the position that a line must be held against increases in maritime wages, as a necessity of holding the line against inflation.

Against this decision of the Wage Stabilization Board, AFL unions went on strike. Presently the CIO unions also stopped work, refusing to cross AFL picket lines. The entire foreign shipping of the country was stopped. The stoppage, backed up into the interior was beginning to stall railroad transportation and industry generally.

This condition was the center of public attention until Mr. Wallace's speech shoved it out of the limelight. Not only was the stoppage serious in itself. It was recognized also that whether the Wage Stabilization Board stood firm was a portentious question. As put by radio commentator Elmer Davis (here quoted from memory) unless the Stabilization Board stood firm it might as well fold up and go home. As put by a columnist:

Stood To Lose Wage Control

"If the Administration does not prevent the wage increase for which maritime unions are striking, it will have lost the last vestige of its control over wages. The strike is against a wage standard set by a decision of the Administration. If the Administration does not or cannot make its own standard respected, little will be left to it of either prestige or legal authority. With power over wages gone, if it turns out that way, it is likely that power over prices would follow."

The Wage Stabilization Board stood firm; it held hearings and formally announced that it would not change its position. From the Board the question went to President Truman. By him it was turned over to Stabilization Director John Steelman. Mr. Steelman in effect overruled the Stabilization Board, announcing a decision which tried to do two things; preserve the government's wage-price stabilization program, and at the same time grant the striking unions what they demanded.

To understand how Mr. Steelman accomplished this it is necessary to bear in mind that there are two groups of ship operators. One group operates ships owned by themselves. These are willing to grant the wage raises and pay them out of their own pockets, without increasing the cost of shipping to the public. But another group operates ships owned by the government, by contract with the government. These held that if wage raises were granted the increased cost should be paid by the government.

Adheres To Government Policy

Mr. Steelman worked out a formula amounting to this: As the private shipping owners had agreed to pay the AFL wage rates, and to absorb the resulting increases in cost, the government should do the same. For justification of this position Mr. Steelman went back to a policy adopted by the government in the year 1863, which said that the government should always pay "the prevailing wage."

President Truman, in answer to a question at a press conference, said that Mr. Steelman's position would not mean a change in the Administration's wage-price stabilization program. His position was justified, in the sense that the wage-raises to seamen would not result in direct increases in cost of shipping to the public. Part of the increased cost would be absorbed by ship owners, part would be paid by the government.

But the fact remained that wages to maritime unions were increased, as to them the line was broken. And it was apparent that this would be followed by demands for corresponding increases by other unions in other industries. The Administration, under pressure from a strike, had receded from a wage standard it had previously stood upon. By that it lost power to resist demands for wage raises by other unions.

Wallace's Mistaken Zeal Makes World Think War Is Inevitable

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — Mistaken zeal by Secretary Wallace to prevent war has perhaps done more to make the whole world think a war is inevitable than he ever intended.

For the secretary of commerce, speaking with the prestige of a member of the President's cabinet, has put the stamp of authority back of the charge that somewhere in the American Army and Navy a school of thought is contemplating an attack on Russia "now" before she makes any atomic bombs. Though this charge has been formally denied by the secretaries of War and Navy, Mr. Wallace has advertised this story throughout the whole world.

Was Exceedingly Careless

Mr. Wallace may contend that he didn't intentionally make public the letter which he wrote to President Truman and which he gave out only when he heard that a columnist had a copy. Yet Mr. Wallace was exceedingly careless and indiscreet when he put such thoughts on paper at all. It turns out that six copies of this letter were made and that Secretary Wallace showed—in confidence, of course—to one newspaperman a copy of that letter in August. The newspaperman was the Moscow correspondent of the Associated Press who is on his way back to Russia. That correspondent now tells the world from Stockholm that he knew all about the letter and, of course, would have preserved Mr. Wallace's confidence. But Mr. Wallace chose to show copies of this highly confidential correspondence with the President to persons outside the government. Small wonder that one of the six copies got into the hands of a Washington columnist.

Mr. Wallace naturally doesn't want to provoke a third world war but such a contingency is far more possible today than it was before Mr. Wallace made his Madison Square Garden speech or released his letter. This is because twice a world war has broken out with the aggressor state believing America was unprepared and virtually disarmed and divided by isolationist politics.

Russia's Actions Create Suspicion

Today Mr. Wallace wants America to disarm again and trust Russia to behave and give up her aggression. She has already violated the Atlantic Charter and has grabbed 250,000 square miles of territory. She has already shown that she is making war on democracy throughout the world. Though Mr. Wallace says Russia shouldn't do these things with her propaganda abroad, at the same time he reveals a strange tolerance of communism and totalitarianism which is surprising.

The secretary of commerce argues vehemently that he is neither pro-Russian nor pro-Communist but the effect of his statements is to manifest a sympathy for what a totalitarian government is doing in eastern Europe. He overlooks the brutality of the Moscow government in its treatment of human beings in eastern Europe and its robbery and rapine which have horrified the world. To Secretary Wallace this apparently is just another philosophy alongside of which democracy should make up its mind to live in a sort of friendly competition.

Communism Inhumane, Brutal

Communism, like Fascism, is inhumane and brutal in its operations.

The Russian government has exiled for political expressions thousands of men who have had the temerity to express themselves. There can be no common ground between democracy and totalitarianism. A clash is constantly going on and will continue to go on until one or the other is eliminated.

To advocate isolationism and appeasement now, as Secretary Wallace has done, is to revert to the policies which so many Republicans preached in the 1920's when they persuaded the U. S. Senate to reject the League of Nations covenant. Mr. Wallace mad some speeches attacking the isolationists in 1940 and 1944. He now owes them all an apology, for his basic doctrine differs little from that of the "America First" crowd. As a matter of fact, in his charge that the United States government is pursuing policies that will provoke war, he is using the same line of reasoning as have various extremists in the anti-Roosevelt camp who claim Mr. Roosevelt provoked the attack on Pearl Harbor. America did not provoke World War I or II and is not now provoking World War III, but if Secretary Wallace wants to do as Prime Minister Chamberlain did at Munich, he will not find America following him.

Wallace Indicts Own Party

Also he should not be making the following comment: "These appropriations (military) are now more than ten times as great as they were during the thirties." The reason Mr. Wallace should not make that argument is because a Democratic administration was in power throughout the thirties and 300,000 American boys have just paid with their lives because the United States was unprepared and both Germany and Japan thought they could take advantage of our disarmament.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Man of 23 Shows His Affection For Girl Of 19 In A Strange Fashion

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love And Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 19 and very much in love with a fellow 23. When we are together, he tells me that he loves me very much, but he doesn't act as though he cared even a little about me. When we are not together, he goes down to the restaurant and bar where the fellows and girls around his way hang out. We can't see each other every night because we live in different towns.

He has often told me that I should find another fellow more worthy of him, but I still love him, even though he does drink and fool around with the girls. He told me that when he starts drinking, he starts fooling around girls and even goes as far as kissing them. But he said that he really doesn't care for any of them as much as he cares for me. He loves me, but he doesn't think he is good enough for me.

My question is, do you really think this fellow cares for me as much as he claims he does? If so, will I ever know. Also, do you think he is the type of fellow for me?

"HEART-BROKEN"

You ask me if this young man cares for you as much as he says he does. My answer is a very brief and very definitely—"No."

If he really cared about you he would lose all interest in "fooling around" other girls and would not want to think about kissing anybody but you.

If I were you, I would take his advice and start looking for another fellow more worthy of you. Frankly, I don't think that this young man is anyone with whom you want to waste your time.

Parents Object To Smoking

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old and soon will be 17. I have smoked, but only because all the girls do it. When I spoke to my parents about this, they objected strenuously, although they smoke themselves.

My friends who smoke tease me and tell me to live my own life when I refuse to smoke. What should I do—disobey my parents, or lose my best friends? Do you think I am too young to smoke?

"J. F."

If your friends want you to live your own life, "J. F.," then I would suggest that there is no reason in the world for smoking if you don't want to do so. If you smoke just because your friends do, and because they tease you if you don't, you certainly are not living your own life, but the sort of life they think you ought to live. Why not have courage enough to be independent and have a mind of your own and do what you think is right?

If you want my opinion, I feel that your parents are quite right and that 16 is pretty young to start smoking. I realize that a great many girls of this age do smoke, but I think it is rather a pity.

Any friends who are going to be lost because you don't smoke, are not worth keeping. Real friends will love you for yourself and not be concerned whether or not you do anything as trivial as smoking. They will also respect you for having the good sense to be yourself.

Nothing is more absorbing reading than the books of those who achieved greatly, after a multitude of tries and failures. It's the people who give up who have no story to tell that is interesting. It's the striving to the end, even though that end may be failure, that is inspiring.

"For what if Heaven shall question,
Ere its judgment shall be given—
Not hast thou won, but only
Hast thou striven?"

The triers—who try over and over again—and who throw the failures to the side, like the plow throws over, and buries the good earth, are the triumphant ones of this earth! They are the undefeatables who move the world forward to better and useful things.

It's what you put on top of all the tries and the failures that counts. Electricity was always around, but it took a Franklin and an Edison to harness it, and to point the way to useful ends. This one discovery, and the endless discoveries for its use, have brought comfort and added years to millions.

Success is the plus result, after all the tries and failures have seasoned the soul and put light into it!

Many men and women have gone to their last sleep, thinking their life futile—but with the breath of hope, caught by the winds of Appreciation and Understanding, and fanning it into life and immortality, Edgar Allan Poe, Stephen Foster, John Howard Payne, and a host of others, are examples.

Both General Grant and Abraham Lincoln were for years discouraged and thought that nothing was to come out of their existence—but the accumulated tries and failures only paved the way surer to their fame and usefulness. General Lee, who lost the Civil War for the South, won the love and affection of both the North and the South, and his fame will endure with increasing lustre.

The habit of trying, early acquired, has no adequate substitute. Character is built by it—step by step. And it is this habit of trying, failing again and again, yet going on, that constitutes our standing among men and the world.

Leah Jean Schriver (Yowell) vs. Robert Lewis Yowell, No. 19593 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure an annulment of the marriage of the Plaintiff to the Defendant, Robert Lewis Yowell.

The bill states that the parties were married on the 25th day of February, 1944, at Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that they lived together at intervals until the 19th day of November, 1945; that the Plaintiff then learned that the Defendant had been previously married to Charlotte Evelyn Petty Yowell and that this pre-existing marriage had never been annuled nor were the parties divorced, and that after learning of this pre-existing marriage the Plaintiff discontinued marital relations with the Defendant; that there was one child born unto this marriage with the Defendant; namely, Larry Lee, age two, and the Plaintiff asks for the permanent custody of this child, and that the Defendant, Robert Lewis Yowell is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and is a resident of the District of Columbia.

It is thereupon this 12th day of September, 1946, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 14th day of October, 1946, give notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill and warning him to appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 30th day of October, 1946, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

PRESENTING AN AMERICAN

Horror has stalked the South recently.

Horror is stalking all America where racial fear and intolerance are spreading like a plague. Never in all our history have we Americans been so unchristian in our attitude toward those of other colors and other creeds. Once again Christ bleeds on Golgotha as He must always bleed at man's inhumanity to man.

Yet sometimes in the darkest night there may be a star. And out of the depression, the hatred and confusion, there came such a star to me today.

It came in the form of a letter and a picture. The picture is a crude snapshot of a frail and wistful girl. The sweater she wears is old and thin. Young as she is, her shoulders are bowed beneath a burden no young thing should ever have to bear in this free country. And the weary, sensitive face above that sweater is colored.

It is the picture of young Anna Lulu Gates who, out of her hunger to help her race, is teaching a little school in a land so recently drenched with blood. The letter she encloses is not a scholarly treatise. I doubt if Anna ever attended many classes herself. But the spirit that burns in that letter is the flame that has lifted men from savagry since the world began and which should be an ever-lasting rebuke to those who despise and destroy members of her race. Here is her letter:

"The trouble with children is the parents' fault. Parents fail to give their children the real home training they should have around the fireside.

"The home is the first institution in the world and therefore it is the foundation of the child. And the mother is the guide. We, as parents, are the teachers of this great institution and we should strive to be good teachers so that we may leave footprints on the sands of time.

"To do this we must live a Christian life in our homes, a life free of alcohol, free of abusive language, starting each child to be a good citizen of his home and country. Teach your child to work and make an honorable living, which is no disgrace. Teach him to be obedient to his or her teacher, to be kind and polite, attend Sunday school and church. So many of our young people are going astray for the lack of moral training. They have never been taught self respect, ambition or industry. If parents teach these things around the fireside they would lay a good foundation in life instead of disgrace and sin.

"I write these facts because I am in the county system trying to teach and I find that most of our troubles come from parents' failure to guide their children . . . letting them go places and do things that are wrong and engaging in bad company. Even some of our best colored people won't send their children to school unless they want to go. This is all wrong. Parents should decide young children's lives for the hope of the world to come. I am the principal of Mount Pleasant School, Mt. Ville, Georgia. Address, R. 4, Box 39."

(Signed)
ANNA LULU GATES

Ladies and gentlemen of the white skins and the cultured homes of these United States, who in your pride reflect what you believe to be democracy, let me present with pride and deepest respect a phenomenon which may be strange to you in your high state—

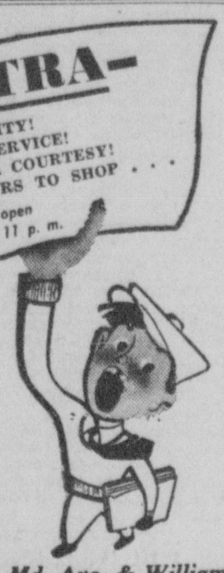

Anna Lulu Gates—
An American.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Man of 23 Shows His Affection For Girl Of 19 In A Strange Fashion

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 19 and very much in love with a fellow 23. When we are together, he tells me that he loves me very much, but he doesn't act as though he cared even a little about me. When we are not together, he goes down to the restaurant and bar where the fellows and girls around his way hang out. We can't see each other every night because we live in different towns.

He has often told me that I should find another fellow more worthy of him, but I still love him, even though he does drink and fool around with the girls. He told me that when he starts drinking, he starts fooling around girls and even goes as far as kissing them. But he said that he really doesn't care for any of them as much as he cares for me. He loves me, but he doesn't think he is good enough for me.

My question is, do you really think this fellow cares for me as much as he claims he does? If so, will I ever know. Also, do you think he is the type of fellow for me?

"HEART-BROKEN"

You ask me if this young man cares for you as much as he says he does. My answer is a very brief and very definitely—"No."

If he really cared about you he would lose all interest in "fooling around" other girls and would not want to think about kissing anybody but you.

If I were you, I would take his advice and start looking for another fellow more worthy of you. Frankly, I don't think that this young man is anyone with whom you want to waste your time.

Parents Object To Smoking

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old and soon will be 17. I have smoked, but only because all the girls do it. When I spoke to my parents about this, they objected strenuously, although they smoke themselves.

My friends who smoke tease me and tell me to live my own life when I refuse to smoke. What should I do—disobey my parents, or lose my best friends? Do you think I am too young to smoke?

"J. F."

If your friends want you to live your own life, "J. F.," then I would suggest that there is no reason in the world for smoking if you don't want to do so. If you smoke just because your friends do, and because they tease you if you don't, you certainly are not living your own life, but the sort of life they think you ought to live. Why not have courage enough to be independent and have a mind of your own and do what you think is right?

If you want my opinion, I feel that your parents are quite right and that 16 is pretty young to start smoking. I realize that a great many girls of this age do smoke, but I think it is rather a pity.

Any friends who are going to be lost because you don't smoke, are not worth keeping. Real friends will love you for yourself and not be concerned whether or not you do anything as trivial as smoking. They will also respect you for having the good sense to be yourself.

Yet sometimes in the darkest night there may be a star. And out of the depression, the hatred and confusion, there came such a star to me today.

It came in the form of a letter and a picture. The picture is a crude snapshot of a frail and wistful girl. The sweater she wears is old and thin. Young as she is, her shoulders are bowed beneath a burden no young thing should ever have to bear in this free country. And the weary, sensitive face above that sweater is colored.

It is the picture of young Anna Lulu Gates who, out of her hunger to help her race, is teaching a little school in a land so recently drenched with blood. The letter she encloses is not a scholarly treatise. I doubt if Anna ever attended many classes herself. But the spirit that burns in that letter is the flame that has lifted men from savagry since the world began and which should be an ever-lasting rebuke to those who despise and destroy members of her race. Here is her letter

"The trouble with children is the parents' fault. Parents fail to give their children the real home training they should have around the fireside.

"The home is the first institution in the world and therefore it is the foundation of the child. And the mother is the guide. We, as parents, are the teachers of this great institution and we should strive to be good teachers so that we may leave footprints on the sands of time.

"To do this we must live a Christian life in our homes, a life free of alcohol, free of abusive language, starting each child to be a good citizen of his home and country. Teach your child to work and make an honorable living, which is no disgrace. Teach him to be obedient to his or her teacher, to be kind and polite, attend Sunday school and church. So many of our young people are going astray for the lack of moral training. They have never been taught self respect, ambition or industry. If parents teach these things around the fireside they would lay a good foundation in life instead of disgrace and sin.

"I write these facts because I am in the county system trying to teach and I find that most of our troubles come from parents' failure to guide their children . . . letting them go places and do things that are wrong and engaging in bad company. Even some of our best colored people won't send their children to school unless they want to go. This is all wrong. Parents should decide young children's lives for the hope of the world to come. I am the principal of Mount Pleasant School, Mt. Ville, Georgia. Address, R. 4, Box 39."

How To Choose School Clothes

PLAID PLAYMATE . . . Hit style for fall—gay red, yellow and black plaid in rayon flannel. For school or play.

CHECKED CHARMER . . . Black and white checked spun rayon and wool combination with white collar and red bow.

(By The Associated Press)

It requires careful shopping to get your money's worth in any line nowadays—and this is especially true in children's wear.

The wide variation in quality among garments of the same price has caused frequent confusion and occasional despair among mothers outfitting their small fry for school. So it's a wise shopper who looks first at the fabric labels.

If you're shopping for a new coat for Mary or Junior, look for the label which tells you the fabric is 100 per cent virgin wool. If the fabric contains part reused wool, or any other fiber, the label will tell you so.

The new shool dresses this season are gay and attractive—but here again it is important to look for the fabric label. Many of the new spun rayons currently used for children's wear are both handsome and sturdy. The fabric label will list the type fabric and the laboratory tests it has passed for color, strength, washing or dry cleaning.

After you are satisfied that the garment in question is made of a serviceable, color-fast fabric, look next for workmanship. Turn the dress inside out and look at the seams, the hem, the inside finish. Inspect the buttons and buttonholes. If it is a well-made garment there will be no raw edges, there will be a generous seam allowance, a good hem, good quality buttons and neatly finished buttonholes.

There are plenty of handsome, sturdy, long-wearing garments available this fall for school wear. But the wise mother will look twice before she buys.

Fall Fashions Display A New Mood: Subtle And Nostalgic Elegance

NEW YORK, (AP)—You're going to look different this fall. The change is so gradual that you may not notice it, but there's a new mood in fashion, a slight change in the silhouette, a new and subtle elegance.

Crystalizing all the current mood of transition is the fall and winter collection of Mainbocher, recently unveiled for the press and summing up in its well-bred understatement all the new feeling for greater femininty and a slighly nostalgic elegance in dress. Explaining the subtle changes in the silhouette, the designer says:

"Although I have rarely sought for inspiration in documents of historical costume, a not very distant past—yet one seemed to be searching me out. Visions of famous beauties I had only heard about and apparitions of lovely ladies I had never seen, crowded around me as though I were thumbing through an imaginary album of hazy, yet sweetly tinted photographs."

Although there is no ostentation in the Mainbocher collection, a new dignity and "ladylike" quality is apparent in the new softness of handling, the restrained curves, the gently flared and slightly longer skirts, the natural shoulderline, the low-placed flares on a number of suit jackets.

The Chicago-born designer combines fabrics and textures with a fearless hand, showing black wool jersey bodices with taffeta day skirts or gold lace evening skirts. One striking dinner gown has a sleek bodice of black broadtail with a beige crepe skirt—startling to contemplate, but sleek and suave to look at.

Mainbocher handles precious furs casually, as in Burberry style coat cut like a raincoat but made of fabulous white broadtail.

Another nostalgic note in the collection is the use of black chiffon in an afternoon dress worn over a black taffeta slip. Net overskirts are used on several evening gowns. A number of suit jackets have a draped treatment across the bust, and discreet low-placed peplum flares, either front or back.

Says Mainbocher:

"A passing acknowledgement of the loveliest of the women of other, less hurried days seems to me to be an entirely fashionable gesture for 1946."

THE NEW LOOK FOR FALL . . . Mainbocher's two-piece afternoon dress has a black wool jersey top and black silk taffeta gored skirt. The neckline of the blouse and the top of the skirt are finished with taffeta binding and tabs, fastened with rhinestone buttons. A narrow taffeta belt runs through waistline tabs.

"Apparently the movie moguls think that Indians are good only for scaring children, buffoonery, folding their arms to say 'ugh'," said Le-Tak-La-Na-Pe.

The 50-year-old Indian added that he learned about Hollywood Indians by appearing once as a Redskin horseman but quit because his costume and the action were not authentic.

Invitations to present a program at the Bedford Road Homemakers Club meeting, and to attend the 4-H Girls banquet were accepted at the meeting of the Nave's Cross Road 4-H Club Thursday night at the home of Alice and Judith Fisher, Christie road.

Members of both the Nave's Cross Road and the Bedford Road 4-H Girls clubs will present programs at the Homemakers meeting, October 1, at the home of Mrs. John Johnston. Representing the Nave's Cross Road club will be Agnes Wotring, who will play a piano selection; Ursula Lindner, who will give a demonstration; and Dorothy Street, who will play a guitar solo.

The 4-H banquet will be held at Centre Street Methodist Church social hall, October 29. Plans were also formulated for a skating party, for members and their guests, at 8:30, October 10, at the state armory.

Dorothy Street presided and roll call was answered with "What Games I Like the Most." The program also included the group singing of, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow;" and a demonstration on the proper way for setting a table and correct table manners, given by Alice and Judith Fisher. Miss Gloria Bohn explained in detail the standard report form of the 4-H club and then distributed them.

A social hour concluded the meeting and refreshments were served. Eighteen members and two guests, Patricia Fox and Mary Frances Valentine, attended.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 October 17, at the home of Edith and Dorothy Street, at which time Agnes Wotring will give a demonstration on flower arrangements and roll call will be answered with reports on how the 4-H work helps in home management.

How To Choose School Clothes

PLAID PLAYMATE . . . Hit style for fall—gay red, yellow and black plaid in rayon flannel. For school or play.

CHECKED CHARMER . . . Black and white checked spun rayon and wool combination with white collar and red bow.

(By The Associated Press)

It requires careful shopping to get your money's worth in any line nowadays—and this is especially true in children's wear.

The wide variation in quality among garments of the same price has caused frequent confusion and occasional despair among mothers outfitting their small fry for school. So it's a wise shopper who looks first at the fabric labels.

If you're shopping for a new coat for Mary or Junior, look for the label which tells you the fabric is 100 per cent virgin wool. If the fabric contains part reused wool, or any other fiber, the label will tell you so.

The new shool dresses this season are gay and attractive—but here again it is important to look for the fabric label. Many of the new spun rayons currently used for children's wear are both handsome and sturdy. The fabric label will list the type fabric and the laboratory tests it has passed for color, strength, washing or dry cleaning.

After you are satisfied that the garment in question is made of a serviceable, color-fast fabric, look next for workmanship. Turn the dress inside out and look at the seams, the hem, the inside finish. Inspect the buttons and buttonholes. If it is a well-made garment there will be no raw edges, there will be a generous seam allowance, a good hem, good quality buttons and neatly finished buttonholes.

There are plenty of handsome, sturdy, long-wearing garments available this fall for school wear. But the wise mother will look twice before she buys.

The next meeting will be held October 21, the place to be announced later.

Fall Fashions Display A New Mood: Subtle And Nostalgic Elegance

NEW YORK, (AP)—You're going to look different this fall. The change is so gradual that you may not notice it, but there's a new mood in fashion, a slight change in the silhouette, a new and subtle elegance.

Crystalizing all the current mood of transition is the fall and winter collection of Mainbocher, recently unveiled for the press and summing up in its well-bred understatement all the new feeling for greater femininty and a slighly nostalgic elegance in dress. Explaining the subtle changes in the silhouette, the designer says:

"Although I have rarely sought for inspiration in documents of historical costume, a not very distant past—yet one seemed to be searching me out. Visions of famous beauties I had only heard about and apparitions of lovely ladies I had never seen, crowded around me as though I were thumbing through an imaginary album of hazy, yet sweetly tinted photographs."

Although there is no ostentation in the Mainbocher collection, a new dignity and "ladylike" quality is apparent in the new softness of handling, the restrained curves, the gently flared and slightly longer skirts, the natural shoulderline, the low-placed flares on a number of suit jackets.

The Chicago-born designer combines fabrics and textures with a fearless hand, showing black wool jersey bodices with taffeta day skirts or gold lace evening skirts. One striking dinner gown has a sleek bodice of black broadtail with a beige crepe skirt—startling to contemplate, but sleek and suave to look at.

Mainbocher handles precious furs casually, as in Burberry style coat cut like a raincoat but made of fabulous white broadtail.

Another nostalgic note in the collection is the use of black chiffon in an afternoon dress worn over a black taffeta slip. Net overskirts are used on several evening gowns. A number of suit jackets have a draped treatment across the bust, and discreet low-placed peplum flares, either front or back.

Says Mainbocher:

Hollywood Makes Redskin See Red

DENVER, (AP) — When he's not working as a clerk and patrolman for the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, a tall Sioux Indian conducts a one-man crusade to give the Red Man a better break in Hollywood.

"Apparently the movie moguls think that Indians are good only for scaring children, buffoonery, folding their arms to say 'ugh'," said Le-Tak-La-Na-Pe.

The 50-year-old Indian added that he learned about Hollywood Indians by appearing once as a Redskin horseman but quit because his costume and the action were not authentic.

Koreans Will Join In Scout Movement

SEOUL, Korea, (AP) — Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs for Korea have been approved by the American Military Government but certain types of organizations, such as police units, will not be permitted to sponsor troops.

The AMG Department of Education said the World Friendship Fund in the United States was preparing to ship scout uniforms, badges and 10,000 Korean-language Boy Scout handbooks to Korea. Troops already have been organized in some cities.

Market Stages Fast Rally; Leaders Gain One To More Than Nine Points

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—The stock market today finished another generally declining week with a fast rally that spread to virtually all departments and lifted leaders one to more than nine points.

The list went through a series of ups and downs in the forenoon with the ticker tape late for a brief interval after the opening. The day's real burst of buying swamped the recording machinery for a lengthy space around midday following announcement that President Truman had called for the resignation of Secretary Wallace. There were subsequent slowdowns and active sprints. Transfers totalled 2,820,000 shares against 2,530,000 Thursday.

United States Gypsum was a wide swinger, adding 9¾ points at $102.75. Du Pont was up six at $176, Santa Fe five at $88, Johns-Manville 4½ at $125, Chrysler 3 3-8 at $86, Montgomery Ward 3¼ at $69.87 and Bethlehem 2⅝ at $92.37.

In front were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Cincinnati Gas and Electric, Standard Oil (NJ) and Texas Company.

Pennsylvania Railroad common was an exception, touching a new bottom since 1944 and finishing off 2¼ at $28.12.

Better Curb performers included Cities Services, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Colonial Airlines, Detroit Michigan Stove, Electric Bond and Share, Illinois Power, Schulte and South Penn Oil. Turnover here was 730,000 shares versus 820,000 yesterday.

Railroad issues turned around in mid-session in the bond market after taking another pounding in early trade. A sizable handful of carriers managed to cancel morning losses and closed with gains running to more than two points.

The recent pickup in trading volume was sustained, with the total up to $10,310,000 from $10,040,000 Thursday and the largest in more than a week.

United States government bonds advanced as much as 6-32 of a point in the over-the-counter market, with the Victory Loan December 2 1-2s of '67-'72 up the maximum at 101 27-32 bid. That issue closed in the exchange at the same price for a gain of 2-32.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20—I claim to be the first to say that Susan Hayward, my redheaded friend, wasn't getting the breaks she deserved. Through the years I have boosted and boosted our Susie. It all started when she went on a personal appearance tour with me in 1940 and she did a small dramatic sketch that brought down the house. Susie's gone a long way since that day and now we can thank Walter Wanger for giving her the best break she's ever had—first in "Canyon Passage", then in "Smash-Up" and now in "The Washington Flyer."

Errol Flynn

According to Walter, himself, "The Washington Flyer" which goes into production in December, is a mystery romance centered around a train traveling from New York to Washington in 1861, long before you and I were born. Martin Gabel, associate producer of "Smash-Up", gets his chance to direct this. He's a former New York producer-director and radio actor.

Lillian Russell, as I knew her, was curvacious, blonde and beautiful, with a complexion I have never seen on anyone, with the exception of Marion Davies. Marion has that same pink and white skin. Lillian was very well loved and it seems we are never satisfied with anyone cast in her role. Now it's Andrea King who is the next Lillian Russell in "My Wild Irish Rose" opposite Dennis Morgan. Perc Westmore says he once made up the famed Lillian and has carried a scar ever since. "Not that Miss Russell was temperamental", Perc explained, "but as I stepped back to look at the wig, I slipped and fell, hitting my head on a radiator, and that's where I got this scar", he said, pointing to his head.

Whenever a film company merges or changes hands you always hear about the ax being out. Well, it's going to reach to Donald O'Connor, who has just been given a new seven-year contract by Universal-International. He'll be starred in "Good Old Eli" and I needn't tell you that it's about Yale. It's laid at the turn of the century and will go into production as soon as "The Egg And I" is finished. Chester Erskine and Fred Finklehoffe, "Egg" producers will put "Good Old Eli" before the cameras in January. O'Connor, before he went into the service, was one of the favorite American young players.

Wait until you see "Bedelia". If England can turn out pictures like that, I have to say — Hollywood, watch your step! Isadore Goldsmith, the producer, made two endings — one for America and one for England. In the English ending Bedelia commits suicide and in the American ending she faces her punishment. The Johnston office asked for the change. This is the picture in which Margaret Lockwood's very low cut gowns are the subject of comment. I must say Miss Lockwood's decoilete adds nothing to the story. Vera Caspary, the author also of "Laura", saw the picture with us. She told me the offers are rolling in for her next book, "Stranger Of Truth".

Chatter in Hollywood: Errol Flynn's father, Dr. Thomson Flynn, returned from the famous yachting trip today and is the house guest of Nora Eddington Flynn's parents, but Nora is still with Errol despite rumors to the contrary. She wires she and Errol are very happy and as soon as they get a crew she'll go on to Panama with him. The Flynns are still in Acapulco waiting to get a crew to continue the trip. Mrs. Eddington, Nora's step-mother tells me that Nora had written to ask for pictures of the baby and she says that Errol has never been as devoted.

Paula Stone and Hunt Stromberg, after their tremendous success with "The Red Mill", have parted. I don't think it's any trouble, but each has decided to go his own way. Paula will have her husband, Michael Sloan, associated with her in a revival of Victor Herbert's famed "Sweethearts". I heard over the long distance telephone that she has signed Bobby Clark, than whom there is no funnier comedian on the stage today. Hunt Jr. has brought back a revival of Charlie McArthur's "Front Page".

Welcome to the newspaper fold, David Niven! Honest, I'm not kidding, David has agreed to be the official Hollywood correspondent for Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, one of the most important London newspapers and he's already applied to the Johnston office for the proper credentials. If you've ever been lucky enough to receive a letter from David you know how well he writes and how witty he is. He says his policy will be, "Never pan an actor." And by the way, the last movie he made in London, "A Matter of Life and Death" has been command-performanced by the King and Queen.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Irene, MGM stylist, has bought a plane and is spending an hour a day on flying lessons. . . Now it's Bob Stack who is busy telephoning Yvonne De Carlo. Bob was really quite smitten with pretty little Irene Wrightsman, and Yvonne's big romance—well, you all know who it was—is off. . . . Sam Richard Barthelemess and his stepson, Stuart Barthelmess dining together all by themselves. Funny thing, Stuart, who has taken Dick's name, looks exactly like his stepdad. . . . They have changed the title of "Romance of Rosey Ridge" to "The Yankee", thank goodness. That's the next Van Johnson opera. . . . Natalie Draper goes redheaded for her role of Lady Castleman in "Forever Amber". . . . The Carl Brissons will fly to Copenhagen for three weeks visit, but Roz Russell and Freddie Brisson will not be able to go with them on account of Roz schedule is full up. . . . Glimpsing Al Barbee, the coca-cola king, and Dee Day together at Mike Lyman's reminds us that his divorce from Bonnie Edwards, one of the ex-Mrs. Tommy Manvilles is now final. . . . I wish Elissa Landi luck. She's trying to buy "Candida" from George Bernard Shaw to make a movie, and if you know Shaw you know he would rather part with that white beard than let anybody but Pascal make his pictures. . . . Corney Jackson has bought a new house. Can it be that Gail Patrick has said yes . . . Viveca Lindfors plans to return to Sweden to bring her two children here. Her husband has already arrived and she is seriously considering becoming an American citizen. . . . Joan Bennett and Walter Wanger leave tomorrow for New York—Joan to shop, Walter on business. Market Stages Fast Rally; Leaders Gain One To More Than Nine Points

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—The stock market today finished another generally declining week with a fast rally that spread to virtually all departments and lifted leaders one to more than nine points.

The list went through a series of ups and downs in the forenoon with the ticker tape late for a brief interval after the opening. The day's real burst of buying swamped the recording machinery for a lengthy space around midday following announcement that President Truman had called for the resignation of Secretary Wallace. There were subsequent slowdowns and active sprints. Transfers totalled 2,320,000 shares against 2,530,000 Thursday.

United States Gypsum was a wide swinger, adding 9¾ points at $102.75. Du Pont was up six at $178, Santa Fe five at $88, Johns-Manville 4½ at $125, Chrysler 3 3-8 at $86, Montgomery Ward 3¼ at $69.87 and Bethlehem 3⅝ at $92.37.

In front were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Cincinnati Gas and Electric, Standard Oil (NJ) and Texas Company.

Pennsylvania Railroad common was an exception, touching a new bottom since 1944 and finishing off 2⅛ at $28.12.

Better Curb performers included Cities Services, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Colonial Airlines, Detroit Michigan Stove, Electric Bond and Share, Illinois Power, Schulte and South Penn Oil. Turnover here was 730,000 shares versus 320,000 yesterday.

Railroad issues turned around in mid-session in the bond market after taking another pounding in early trade. A sizable handful of carriers managed to cancel morning losses and closed with gains running to more than two points.

The recent pickup in trading volume was sustained, with the total up to $10,310,000 from $10,340,000 Thursday and the largest in more than a week.

United States government bonds advanced as much as 6-32 of a point in the over-the-counter market, with the Victory Loan December 2 1-2s of '67-'72 up the maximum at 101 27-32 bid. That issue closed in the exchange at the same price for a gain of 3-32.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20—I claim to be the first to say that Susan Hayward, my redheaded friend, wasn't getting the breaks she deserved. Through the years I have boosted and boosted our Susie. It all started when she went on a personal appearance tour with me in 1940 and she did a small dramatic sketch that brought down the house. Susie's gone a long way since that day and now we can thank Walter Wanger for giving her the best break she's ever had—first in "Canyon Passage", then in "Smash-Up" and now in "The Washington Flyer."

Mt. Savage Group Named To Study Water Problem

Committee Will Meet With Company Officials On Supply Question

MT. SAVAGE, Sept. 20 — Representatives of 40 families served by the Mt. Savage Water Company lines met tonight in the recreation hall of the Methodist Church and appointed a committee to meet with the water company officials to try to reach some solution in the present critical water shortage in the community. The meeting, the largest of its kind ever held here, was also attended by several stockholders in the O'Toole Water Line and a number of persons having private water supplies.

Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, pastor of Mt. Savage Methodist Church, was elected chairman to preside at the meeting and Miss Martha Reagan was appointed secretary. Mr. Swauger, who has been employed by the water company to make repairs to the company lines, gave a brief summary of the work he had done on the lines, but stated that it was very hard to accomplish the work to any degree as one citizen had temporarily stopped him from digging up the line and other water users had drilled holes in the pipes and had plugged the holes with wooden spikes. In time these spikes had rotted causing leaks in the lines.

Owner's Identity Discussed

A large portion of the meeting was given over to the discussion as to the owner of the lines. Miss Reagan stated that she had been informed that Harold Bolinger, Cumberland, was president of the company and the company included Milton Bernstein, also of Cumberland and "several others." Bolinger, who had been invited to attend the meeting, was not present.

It was revealed that the state's attorney, the public health department and the Public Service Commission have been requested to do something about the lack of water. The state's attorney's office and the health department, according to the citizens, stated they could do nothing unless an epidemic was caused by the situation and that the Public Service Commission has been investigating the matter.

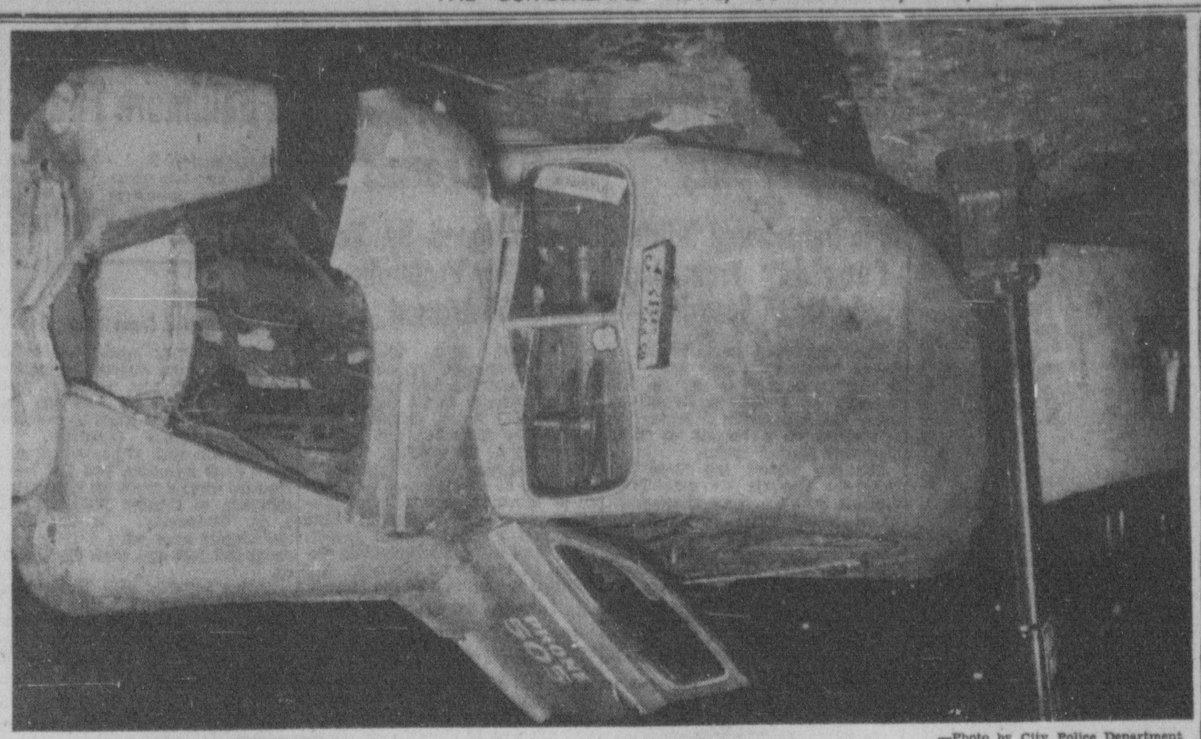

The meeting became very heated with citizens from every section of town forcefully voicing complaints. It was learned that in the Church Hill section a resident in the higher district turned the water off every evening and turned it back on in the morning so that the residents near the top of the line could have a little water. The citizens in the lower section did not oppose the water being shut off, but they insisted that an exact time be set in order that they could have water on hand during the evening period. It was agreed that the water be turned off at 7 p. m. and turned back on at 4:30 a. m.

Various solutions were suggested by the consumers. However, very little could be accomplished without the presence of a company official, because when the lines were owned by the Union Mining company all the lots sold to citizens by the company, were sold with the clause that the company would reserve all "water and mineral rights." It, therefore, is necessary in order to dig a private well to purchase the rights from the water company. The present company owns all the water supplies and rights which were formerly owned by the Union Mining company.

The committee appointed to meet Bolinger includes Patrick A. Fannon, Bert Caldara, Roy Deffenbaugh and the Rev. Richcreek.

In reply to a previous statement by Bernstein that the water "rate was only fifty cents a month and many of the customers neglected to pay their bills," it was recalled that the fifty cent rate covered houses containing only one spigot and there are very few of such houses in town. The other rates are $1 and $1.50 per month. Also, citizens who had paid bills regularly stated that their bills always contained added amounts marked "arrears," and that they had continually had to have these bills corrected by presenting previous receipts.

The water situation reached a critical situation Wednesday when the O'Toole cistern was drained due to excessive demands by users on the Mt. Savage Water Company lines. Rev. Mr. Richcreek announced that the committee would meet Bolinger as soon as possible to try to cope with the situation. A member of the Public Service Commission will be invited to attend the next meeting of the consumers. Even with the constant rains during the evening, over three-fourths of Mt. Savage is entirely without water tonight.

TAXICAB WRECK—Shown above is the wreckage of a taxicab which was struck by an automobile at the intersection of Baltimore and North Centre streets early yesterday morning, injuring a passenger, Miss Kathryn Page, negress, 112 South Spruce street. The impact caused the cab to upset and knock down a traffic light pole. Perhaps the acute housing shortage led some wag to place a "vacant" sign on the windshield, which can be seen plainly in the picture.

Driver Is Jailed After Woman Is Hurt In Crash

Robert V. Geist Held Pending Outcome Of Injuries To Kathryn Page

Robert Vernon Geist, 22, 305 Howard avenue, Altoona, Pa., is being held in jail pending the outcome of injuries sustained by Miss Kathryn Page, 37-year-old negress, of 112 South Spruce street, who was injured early yesterday when pinned under a taxicab at the corner of Baltimore and Centre streets, following a collision with the vehicle operated by Geist.

The accident occurred about 5:30 a. m. yesterday when the car operated by Geist, going north on South Centre street, crashed against a taxicab going west on Baltimore street, at the intersection.

Geist's machine, according to police hit the taxi, which was driven by Paul Duncan, 359 Bedford street, at the rear door. The taxicab was hurled against a light pole on the northeast corner of Baltimore street, and was upset.

The Page woman was pinned fast, when her foot was caught between the cab and the street. Officer P. M. Crabtree who investigated said Geist failed to stop at the intersection. Geist was lodged in jail for questioning, but was later taken to Trial Magistrate's Court where he was fined $11.45 for reckless driving.

In a statement to the State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, Geist said he and James Raphael O'Connor, 218 Eigth avenue, Juniata, Pa., and Robert R. Miller, 909 Third street, Juanita, Pa., came to Cumberland Wednesday and after driving around went over into West Virginia. They returned here about 5:15 a. m. Geist said and the accident happened about 5:30 p. m.

Didn't See Cab

Geist, who is unemployed, said the taxicab was traveling at a speed in excess of his own speed of about 25 miles per hour. Geist declared he did not see the cab immediately upon starting to enter Baltimore street, and at one instant thought the cab was going to pass safely in front of him, due to its excessive speed.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said Geise will be held pending the outcome of the woman's injuries.

According to Officer Crabtree, the woman's leg and foot was caught between the door and body of the car. The vehicle had to be lifted to free her, he added. Both machines were badly damaged and had to be towed from the scene.

Duncan told police he was taking Miss Page to her home at the time of the collision. He also escaped unhurt. Officers D. J. Racey and William Burns assisted in the investigation.

Chief Smith, Navy Recruiter, Retires

Will Quit Active Duty Oct. 1; Scharader To Head Local Office

Chief Boatswain's Mate Bradford Smith, head of the local navy recruiting office, will retire from active duty on October 1, he announced yesterday. Chief Torpedoman's Mate Edgar L. Scharader, now stationed in the office, will become chief recruiter and another man will be sent to assist him, according to Lieut. Ira Joyner, head of recruiting for the Fifth Naval District.

Following his discharge at Bainbridge, Md., Chief Smith will drive with his wife to Bellingham, Washington, where they will make their home. Mrs. Smith is a native of Vancouver, B. C.

He has been in Cumberland a year this month and during that time 320 men have been recruited through the office. Chief Smith has been commended by Captain V. Havard, head of the naval reserve for this district on the "high caliber and type of men recruited from from this area," and also on the fact that Cumberland always meets its quota.

Chief Smith enlisted in the navy on April 23, 1917, a few days after the start of first world war. He received his boot training at Newport, R. I., and was assigned to the battleship Arkansas, one of the ships which was destroyed recently in the Bikini atom bomb tests. He later served in the armed guard on merchant ships. From the end of the war until 1938 he was assigned to destroyer duty. In 1938 he returned to the Arkansas as chief boatswain's mate of the ship. He retired in November, 1940 but was recalled to active recruiting duty in January, 1942.

Chief Smith is a native of New York City and will now be assigned to inactive duty in the Thirteenth Naval District.

Lunch Program Is In Full Operation In County Schools

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Maryland Department of Education, administering the public school lunch program this year for the first time, disclosed today that system is in full operation in two of the state's 23 counties—Allegany and Montgomery.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, said that when the program is completely developed it should provide hot, nutritive, inexpensive lunches for a large proportion of Maryland's 300,000 public school pupils.

The National School Lunch Act, passed by Congress last spring, vested authority for administration of funds in state departments of education. It recommended that counties control their own programs under state supervision.

13 Counties Sign Agreements

Maryland's counties and Baltimore City have been asked to sign agreements for participation by October 1. So far, 13 counties have signed agreements, six have appointed supervisors, while Allegany and Montgomery are leading the parade with county-wide programs already functioning.

Dr. Pullen said the greatest obstacle to full participation is that many elementary schools cannot meet rigid sanitation requirements of the Health Department for cafeteria facilities, and must wait on the state's building and renovating program.

Other difficulties lie in getting equipment and trained personnel.

$500,000 In U. S. Funds

This year Maryland will receive through the United States Department of Agriculture about $500,000 for food and $100,000 for equipment. Of this total 83 per cent will go to public schools and 17 per cent to non-profit private schools.

The state will channel this money to the counties participating.

The cafeterias will be financed by a flat rate of about 10 cents a lunch, paid by the pupil, plus the federal grant.

The goal of the program is for every school in the state to have space and facilities to serve a standard lunch consisting of one half pint of whole milk, two ounces of meat, poultry, fish, cheese, egg or beans, six ounces of vegetables or fruit, one serving of bread and two teaspoons of butter or margerine.

Adventists To Conduct Temperance Program

The Cumberland Seventh Day Adventists Church, 41 Oak street, will hold special services today dedicated to the cause of temperance. The proper methods of education in regard to the evils of the use of intoxicants will be stressed.

The guest speaker at the 11 a. m. service will be Rev. J. E. Edwards, of the General Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, Washington, D. C.

The pastor, Rev. R. E. Logan, announces that a service will also be held at 8 o'clock tonight with the program directed by C. O. Phillips, of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

Suspended Sentence Is Given Bowman

William E. Bowman, 205 Fifth street, an ex-serviceman, received a suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction ysterday morning at a hearing in Trial Magistrates' Court, after he entered a plea of guilty to assaulting his wife.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., ordered Bowman to refrain from liquor and keep the peace, especially toward his wife, and remain away from Mrs. Bowman until next Tuesday while reconciliation negotiations are in progress.

Hunter Is Shot

LaVale, State Troopers William Baker and eGorge Coddington, Jr., took the State Police ambulance to the scene. Keafer's body was first taken to the home of Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, in LaVale. Dr. Deming pronounced Keafer dead and attributed death due to accidental shooting while hunting.

Keafer was dressed in green Army fatigue trousers and jacket and wore a similar colored fatigue cap. Hulings, who said he is from Randolph county, W. Va., is employed at the Celanese plant and has been boarding in Cresaptown. He said he had been unable to find a house for his family and was boarding until he could do so.

Following questioning by Boyle he was taken to the scene of the shooting by State Police who took photographs of the area and measurements of the place from where the shot was fired to where Keafer was struck by the blast. Keafer's hunting license listed him as a farmer.

Keafer, who was unmarried, moved to Cresaptown from National about 22 years ago. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Keafer. Surviving are a brother, Francis R. Keafer, Cresaptown; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Strickland and Miss Florence Keafer, who made their home with him; three nephews, and one niece.

The body is at the residence.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 3 p. m. in Cresaptown Methodist Church with Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Allegany Cemetery, Frostburg.

SERVICES ARE HELD FOR NORMAN BRANT

Funeral services for Norman W. Brant, 74, 414 Hill street, who died in Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning, were held yesterday at 2 p. m. at the Assembly of God Church, Wallace street, with Rev. John L. Stewart, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Zion Memorial Cemetery.

Lunch Program Is In Full Operation In County Schools

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Maryland Department of Education, administering the public school lunch program this year for the first time, disclosed today that system is in full operation in two of the state's 23 counties—Allegany and Montgomery.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, said that when the program is completely developed it should provide hot, nutritive, inexpensive lunches for a large proportion of Maryland's 300,000 public school pupils.

The National School Lunch Act, passed by Congress last spring, vested authority for administration of funds in state departments of education. It recommended that counties control their own programs under state supervision.

13 Counties Sign Agreements

Maryland's counties and Baltimore City have been asked to sign agreements for participation by October 1. So far, 13 counties have signed agreements, six have appointed supervisors, while Allegany and Montgomery are leading the parade with county-wide programs already functioning.

Dr. Pullen said the greatest obstacle to full participation is that many elementary schools cannot meet rigid sanitation requirements of the Health Department for cafeteria facilities, and must wait on the state's building and renovating program.

Other difficulties lie in getting equipment and trained personnel.

$500,000 In U. S. Funds

This year Maryland will receive through the United States Department of Agriculture about $500,000 for food and $100,000 for equipment. Of this total 83 per cent will go to public schools and 17 per cent to non-profit private schools.

The state will channel this money to the counties participating.

The cafeterias will be financed by a flat rate of about 10 cents a lunch, paid by the pupil, plus the federal grant.

The goal of the program is for every school in the state to have space and facilities to serve a standard lunch consisting of one half pint of whole milk, two ounces of meat, poultry, fish, cheese, egg or beans, six ounces of vegetables or fruit, one serving of bread and two teaspoons of butter or margerine.

Adventists To Conduct Temperance Program

The Cumberland Seventh Day Adventists Church, 41 Oak street, will hold special services today dedicated to the cause of temperance. The proper methods of education in regard to the evils of the use of intoxicants will be stressed.

The guest speaker at the 11 a. m. service will be Rev. J. E. Edwards, of the General Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, Washington, D. C.

The pastor, Rev. R. E. Logan, announces that a service will also be held at 8 o'clock tonight with the program directed by C. O. Phillips, of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

Suspended Sentence Is Given Bowman

William E. Bowman, 205 Fifth street, an ex-serviceman, received a suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction ysterday morning at a hearing in Trial Magistrates' Court, after he entered a plea of guilty to assaulting his wife.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., ordered Bowman to refrain from liquor and keep the peace, especially toward his wife, and remain away from Mrs. Bowman until next Tuesday while reconciliation negotiations are in progress.

Hunter Is Shot

LaVale. State Troopers William Baker and eGorge Coddington, Jr., took the State Police ambulance to the scene. Keafer's body was first taken to the home of Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, in LaVale. Dr. Deming pronounced Keafer dead and attributed death due to accidental shooting while hunting.

Keafer was dressed in green Army fatigue trousers and jacket and wore a similar colored fatigue cap. Hulings, who said he is from Randolph county, W. Va., is employed at the Celanese plant and has been boarding in Cresaptown. He said he had been unable to find a house for his family and was boarding until he could do so.

Following questioning by Boyle he was taken to the scene of the shooting by State Police who took photographs of the area and measurements of the place from where the shot was fired to where Keafer was struck by the blast. Keafer's hunting license listed him as a farmer.

Keafer, who was unmarried, moved to Cresaptown from National about 22 years ago. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Keafer. Surviving are a brother, Francis R. Keafer, Cresaptown; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Strickland and Miss Florence Keafer, who made their home with him; three nephews, and one niece.

The body is at the residence.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 3 p. m. in Cresaptown Methodist Church with Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Allegany Cemetery, Frostburg.

SERVICES ARE HELD FOR NORMAN BRANT

Funeral services for Norman W. Brant, 74, 414 Hill street, who died in Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning, were held yesterday at 2 p. m. at the Assembly of God Church, Wallace street, with Rev. John L. Stewart, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Zion Memorial Cemetery.

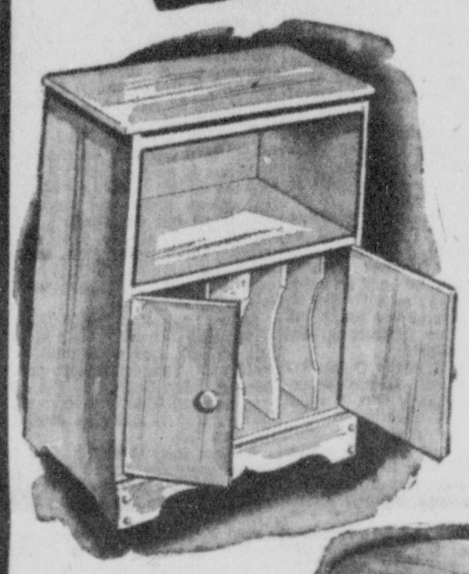

Pallbearers were Carl H. Keorner, Charles A. Grimes, Thomas Jones, Henry A. VanMeter, Robert Hewitt and J. W. McDaniels.

MRS. MARTZ RITES

Last rites for Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Martz, 64, wife of Walter B. Martz, 15 South Waverly terrace, who died Tuesday afternoon at her home, were held yesterday at 2 p. m. at Albright Church, Glencoe, Pa., with Rev. James A. Richards, pastor of First Methodist Church, this city, officiating. Interment was in Finkner Cemetery, Glencoe.

Big Four Accord On Italo-Yugoslav Boundary Upheld

Amendments Defeated; USSR Criticizes British Treatment Of Jews

PARIS, Sept. 20 (AP)—The European peace conference upheld today the Big Four decisions on the Italo-Yugoslav boundary and the borders of the proposed free state of Trieste, beating down a series of amendments which would have given Yugoslavia greater portion of the disputed territory.

Later in the day Russia criticized British treatment of Jews in Palestine, with Nikolai V. Novikov Soviet ambassador to the United States, asserting that "arrests and molestations" of Jews in the Holy Land had become "uncountable." Novikov made the charge in unsuccessfully opposing adoption of a British-proposed anti-discrimination amendment in the Bulgarian treaty.

Adhere To Commitments

Russia and the three western powers, adhering to their commitments in the Foreign Ministers' Council, voted against all the amendments on Trieste presented at the meeting of the Italian Political Commission.

Amendments by Yugoslavia and White Russia would have moved the Italo-Yugoslav line to the west at the expense of Italy, and cut the free state down to the city limits of Trieste. A South African amendment would have enlarged the free zone down the Istrian Peninsula.

Deputy Premier Edvard Kardelj of Yugoslavia, after the balloting was concluded, directed that Yugoslavia could not sign a treaty which she considers "unfair." He said "I regret the commission preferred the method of vote instead of conciliation."

Amendment Is Adopted, 7-5

The Bulgarian Political Commission adopted 7 to 5 the anti-discriminatory amendment, which was designed to prevent such action against Jewish citizens. The United States joined with Britain in voting for the amendment, which was opposed by France, Russia, White Russia, the Ukraine and Yugoslavia.

Novikov objected that the amendment would be "needlessly humiliating" to Bulgaria in view of her good record on the Jewish question, then added:

Republicans

NCPAC, described Secretary of State Byrnes as "reactionary." It complained that the move "underscores the extent to which Truman has drifted from the policies and programs of Franklin D. Roosevelt," and "indicates how far we have stumbled down the path towards war."

Ickes himself quit as secretary of the Interior after a split with President Truman over the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be Undersecretary of the Navy.

Sen. Capper (R-Kas) and Rep. West (D-Tex) were among those who thought the Wallace ouster was overdue.

Said Capper in Kansas: "I am surprised that Truman kept Wallace as long as he did. The government will be better without Wallace than with him."

West, also at home, remarked: "I think this should have happened a long time ago for the sake of harmony and the best interest of the government."

In general, Republicans and Democrats divided on the political aspects. Republicans argued that it showed the Democrats split and weak while most Democrats held that Wallace's removal solidified the ranks.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla), also a critic of administration foreign policy, who spoke from the same platform with Wallace in New York, said in Tallahassee that the uster "will have far-reaching effects upon the country and probably upon the Democratic Party."

Byrnes, in Paris at the European peace conference, will have nothing to say "either now or later," an aide reported. Persons close to the Secretaary said he did not look displeased.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) commented in Chicago that Mr. Truman's action "will strengthen Byrnes' hand" and added: "I don't see how he (Truman) could do anything else and have an administration foreign policy at all."

"I think under the circumstances there was no other alternative," remarked Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala), head of the Democratic National Committee Speaker Bureau, who called on the President after the ouster was announced.

Sen. Brewster (R-Me) told newsmen that "the American people will now realize that only a Republican administration can offer any hope of responsible party government. The defection of the left wing leaves the administration grounded. The bi-partisan support of the Byrnes program is altogether good."

Rep. Sasscer (D-Md) said "on any team you have to have teamwork."

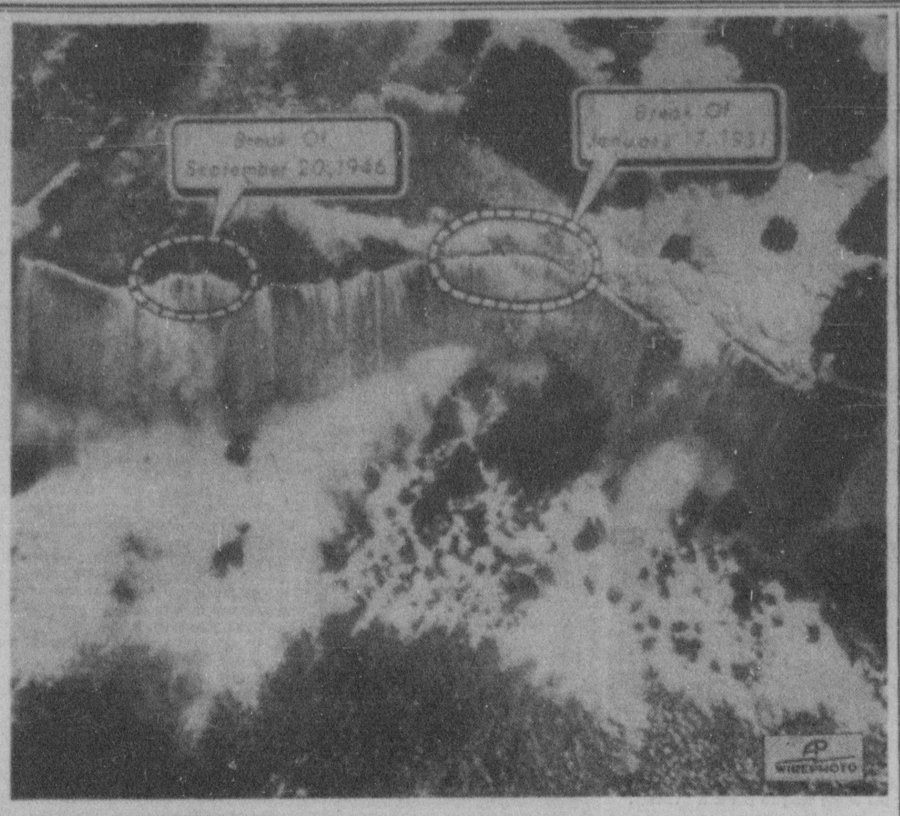

Sen. Tydings Has No Comment On Ouster

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Maryland political leaders adhered to party lines today in their comment on President Truman's request for the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Wallace.

Sen. Tydings, campaign chairman for the state Democratic Party, said: "This is a matter between the President and his official family and I have no comment to make."

D. John Markey, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, said: "Wallace's resignation comes too late to repair all the damage done. It is simply another hindsight gesture of the Truman-Hannegan team, who always are locking the barn after the horse is stolen."

In Cambridge, Sen. Radcliffe, Democrat, declared: "Wallace is a man of ability and has done some good things, but I do not think that a member of the offical family should interfere with President Truman's and Secretaary Byrnes' foreign policy."

NEW PROFILE—Above is a photo-diagram of the American falls at Niagara Falls, N. Y., locating yesterday's rock fall and the larger rock fall of January 17, 1931. It was estimated that about 25 to 30 tons of rock toppled into the gorge as a severe shock was felt on both sides of the border with Canada.

Large Section Of American Falls Tumbles Into Niagara River Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP) — A section of the American Falls was believed to have toppled 165 feet into the Niagara river gorge today as a severe shock was felt within a 10-mile radius of this honeymoon capital.

A Niagara State Park official said there was a rock fall caused by an "earthquake" and a parks commission engineer noted break in the falls. However, a United States Army engineer said he found "no indication" of the rock fall.

Residents on both sides of the border were alarmed by the shock. Employes of several factories rushed into the streets fearing an explosion had taken place and housewives telephoned fire departments.

Capt. A. H. Collins, head of the Niagara State Park Patrol, estimated that about 25 to 30 tons of rock toppled into the gorge about 125 feet from Prospect Point.

Collins expressed belief that an earthquake had caused the rocks to fall, but Dr. Austin McTigue, seismologist at Canisius College in Buffalo, 21 miles away, said the shock was recorded there and gave as his opinion that it had been caused by the rock fall.

"I have been looking at the falls almost every day for 35 years" said Collins, "and I noticed there was a slight change in the contour of the cataract today after the shock."

Paul F. Haseley, engineer for the park commission, said it appeared from a comparison with maps that the break was about 125 feet across, 30 feet deep and several feet thick.

Informed that Dr. McTigue had expressed belief the shock might have been caused by a rock fall at Niagara Falls, Collins said:

"I don't think that the rock fall was large enough to cause tremors felt throughout the city and outlying sections, I believe that an earthquake caused the rocks to fall."

Veteran, Who Says

moned an orderly, who took Maddox to a basement room near the dispensary and strapped him in bed. Maddox declared, "I was spread-eagled on the bed with a restraining strap around each ankle and each wrist and kept that way for several hours.

Unable to understand the treatment he was receiving here by police and the hospital, the young man said again, "I'll surely be glad to get out of this town."

At the hospital last night attaches confirmed Maddox's report that he had been strapped to bed. Miss Cleo C. Kerr, night supervisor declared Maddox became unruly and attempted to leave the hospital without permission. She said he was noisy and was scaring other patients so she had him restrained.

Asked if she thought there was anything wrong with Maddox mentally, Miss Kerr said, "No, I think he was just a showoff, seeking publicity." Miss Kerr also said physicians had not found anything wrong mentally with the man.

When a reporter went to the hospital yesterday afternoon to see Maddox, he was told, "Maddox just left here and is going to the police station to get his bags. He has some money now, and when the police give him his bags he is to leave some money there for his hospital bill."

The reporter then went to the police station and asked Sgt. Meister if the man had been there. Sgt. Meister said "No, but the hospital said we were to get $20 from him before we give him his stuff.'

The reporter then went to the Red Cross office, believing Maddox would come there. He did arrive in the office about three minutes after the reporter, and Mrs. Dean gave him a check for his train fare back to Washington.

The reporter accompanied Maddox to headquarters and on the way asked, "How did the city police get your bags?" Maddox said he didn't know except that the railroad company had returned them here when notified by the Red Cross or hospital that he had left them on the train. Maddox also said, "I can't understand why they have any right to them. You'd think I beat somebody up instead of somebody beating and robbing me."

Pays Hospital Bill

When Maddox and the reporter approached Sgt. Meister at the police station, the reporter said, "Sergeant this is Maddox. He's come for his bags."

The sergeant looked at Maddox and said, "Have you got $20 for the hospital?" Maddox did not reply but handed Meister a white envelope containing $20.

Meister then said the bags were locked up and he couldn't get them. Maddox told the sergeant he wanted to leave on the 3:52 p. m. train. It was then 3:24 p. m. Meister repeated that he couldn't do anything about it.

At this junction the reporter queried, "Sergeant, do you have any charges against this man?" Meister replied, "None at all."

The reporter said, "Then why are you holding his luggage and where did you get it in the first place?" Meister said. "I don't know anything about it, maybe I can get the lieutenant on the radio. He has the bags locked up."

Meister then made a radio call to a cruiser and a voice replied that "the bags are in my office. It isn't locked. Give them to him."

Meister and Maddox and the reporter then went back to the office, got the bags and Maddox signed a receipt for them. Maddox checked the bags and exclaimed that "someone has gone through this stuff." Neither bag was locked. One was a suitcase and the other an army duffle bag.

Maddox produced his army papers from the suit case, showing his discharge record, veterans claim number, a certified approval for GI training in a business school in Washington which he plans to enter, and several other personal papers.

Sgt. Meister gave Maddox a signed receipt for the $20 hospital bill and Maddox took the 3:52 p. m. train to Washington.

The two men, Maddox said attacked and robbed him are still at large.

The board chairman also noted the new agency "has no authority on its own initiative to decontrol livestock and meat prices"—an action requested of the board this week by several congressmen, labor groups and other organizations.

"Any request for decontrol of meat must be made by an industry advisory committee to the Secretary of Agriculture," the board chairman said. "Only if the Secretary of Agriculture denies the petition or fails to act on it, within prescribed time limits, could this petition be appealed to the board."

Meeting Wage Demands

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP)—A score of restaurants, big and little, met union wage demands today but most of the big hotels were shut for the second day, leaving California's thousands of tourists to jam into the few spots open or settle for hamburgers at counter joints.

Newest signatories to union contracts, said a spokesman for 6,000 striking AFL culinary workers and bartenders, included Earl Carroll's theater-restaurant, and Dave Chasen's, an exclusive Beverly Hills cafe.

Leads Are Sought In Brutal Slaying Of Ohio Woman

Ex-Suitor And Shirt-Sleeved Stranger Eliminated As Suspects

BRYAN, O., Sept. 20 (AP)—A former suitor and shirt-sleeved stranger were eliminated by police tonight as suspected killers of blonde Emily Abernathy, 30, whose stabbed and beaten body was found in the basement of the city library where she worked.

Assistant Prosecutor Chauncey Newcomer reported that a check-up on the former suitor satisfied authorities that he was in another state when the crime occurred.

All-day broadcasts alerting police of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana to pickup a man wearing a pin-striped shirt and dark trousers brought no leads, and police began to doubt whether the man was actually in the vicinity of the library.

Sheriff Norman A. Barnes said that the blood-spattered basement room showed the librarian and her assailant struggled for some time, and from the brutality of the killing concluded it was "obviously a case of personal vengeance."

Coroner C. Paul Waid certified tonight that the young woman met "death by murder" and said no inquest or autopsy would be held. He released the body to Miss Abernathy's brother, Richard Abernathy, who came here today from Nashville, Tenn., and told police he could shed little light on a motive for the killing.

There also were a few strands of reddish hair, found clutched in a hand of the 30-year-old woman who apparently had put up a terrific struggle against her assailant in the library basement.

The body, discovered among the basement's blood-spattered bookshelves last night, bore 25 knife wounds in the throat and breast. Her jaw was broken, her eyes blackened and her clothing torn.

that normal shipping can be resumed" and that ships would be operating "in a very short time."

The wage agreement had been reached at a meeting between Curran, Fly, and Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the American Merchant Marine Institute. The United States Maritime Commission had approved the Fly award previously.

Other standby meetings were waiting to vote in other port cities.

The CIO seamen went on strike eight days ago, after the AFL ended a strike it started a week earlier with the winning of wage increases. The NMU called the strike to gain wage parity with the AFL.

Curran said all NMU seamen in the United States would get equal pay for equal work.

Administration Now Must Clarify Foreign Policy

State Department Officials Consider Promoting Series Of Speeches

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Henry Wallace's ouster from the Cabinet goes far to restore the strength of Secretary Byrnes at Paris but apparently it leaves the administration a big job to do in clarifying foreign policy.

For this reason, top State Department officials are considering promoting soon a series of speeches. These would make plain to the American people and world exactly what Mr. Truman meant today when he said, in firing Wallace that "no change in our foreign policy is contemplated."

Several Opportunities

President Truman is expected to open the United Nations Assembly meeting in New York October 23.

Secretary of State Byrnes may get home from Paris in mid-October and presumably will deliver his customary report to the nation as soon as possible thereafter.

Undersecretary of State Acheson is due back from vacation in about 10 days and already has various invitations to talk about foreign policy.

Diplomatic authorities said that when Mr. Truman finally decided to ask for Wallace's resignation he was doing it in an effort to get American foreign policy "back on the track." This meant several things.

It meant telling the Kremlin that the United States is not going to embark on any policy which Wallace himself had said might be called "appeasement."

Reassurance To British

It meant telling Foreign Minister Molotov, Foreign Minister Bevin and other delegates at the Paris peace conference that Byrnes has 100 per cent Truman support.

It meant reassurance to the British that despite Wallace's complaint of British "imperialism" the Washington government expects to continue to have the closest relations with the London government.

It meant telling smaller nations and political parties all over Europe that Mr. Truman, Byrnes and the State Department have no intention of yielding to Soviet or any other political demands in any part of Europe where the United States has a chance to strive for a democratic expression of the popular will.

Ex-Secretary

pected to remain in Washington.

Asked whether he was open to invitations from the PAC or any other group for speeches, the Secretary hesitated and then said "I very much question the wisdom of stirring up any controversy right now."

Wallace, upon being asked by the President to leave the cabinet, submitted his resignation in a one-paragraph letter addressed to "Dear Harry." It too declared that "I shall continue to fight for peace," and expressed confidence "that you will approve and will join me in that great endeavor."

Truman Lays Down The Law

Mr. Truman said private individuals may "disagree freely and publicly on any question, including that of foreign policy." But as for government officials, he laid down the law:

"No change in our foreign policy is contemplated. No member of the executive branch of the government will make any public statement as to foreign policy which is in conflict with our established foreign policy. Any public statement on foreign policy shall be cleared with the Department of State. In case of disagreement, the matter will be referred to me."

Undersecretary Alfred Schindler, now on the West Coast, will be in charge of the department temporarily.

Reds Crack Down On Widespread Graft On Farms

Decree Signed By Stalin Calls For Prosecution Of Accused

MOSCOW, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Soviet government cracked down today on admitted widespread graft and inefficiency in its vast system of collective farms, declaring such malpractice imperiled the socialist framework of the country.

A decree signed by Prime Minister Stalin as chairman of the Council of Ministers asserted that misappropriation of collective farm land had reached "mass proportions" and called for immediate cessation of the illegal practices and criminal prosecution of the accused.

"Alien To Leninism"

(An editorial in the official Communist newspaper Pravda broadcast by the Moscow radio said the move had "political significance of the first importance," and described the violations as "harmful and alien to Leninism.")

The decree bore also the signature of Col. Gen. A. A. Zhdanov, secretary of the powerful Communist Party Central Committee.

Property On Farms Filched

Property on farms had been filched, including livestock, grain, seed, fodder, meat, milk, butter, honey, vegetables and fruit. This was done in some instances without payment or by paying lowered prices.

The decree said that many collective farms were topheavy with administrative personnel, to such a degree that many farms were experiencing a shortage of field laborers while having an oversupply of white collar help.

Six Are Injured In Baltimore Fire

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20. (AP)—Four firemen and two workers were hurt today in a six-alarm fire which destroyed the main plant of the Security Oil Company in North Baltimore.

26 Persons

The plane that established radio contact with the rescuers by walkie talkie said it was unlikely that any of the survivors from the big four-engined plane could be brought to Gander before tomorrow.

The plane, with 37 passengers and seven crew members, had last been reported when it made an instrument approach to Gander Field at 4:37 a. m. Wednesday. It flew over the airport once with a ceiling of about 500 feet and then disappeared.

Airline officials said today that the plane had been in the orbit of the airport approaches at all times and that the pilot was sent instructions to land but apparently did not receive them.

The survivors, as announced by the Coast Guard:

U. S. Demands Tito Help Halt Terror In Venezia Giulia

Government Denies Charge That Yugoslav Soldiers Mistreated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The United States accused Yugoslavia today of failing to co-operate in maintenance of order in disputed Trieste, and denounced in particular the "obstructive and terroristic activities of pro-Slav elements."

This country's position was laid down in a formal note handed Marshal Tito's Foreign Ministry. Replying to two previous Yugoslav notes charging "improper treatment" of Yugoslav soldiers in the zone of Venezia Giulia under Anglo-American control, the American document declared that these allegations were "false and exaggerated."

It cited two cases of violence in that zone against Yugoslavs "known to be political opponents of the present Yugoslav government," and added:

"The Ministry cannot suppose that activities of this nature can be undertaken by pro-Slav elements without promoting furious reaction from the local population.

"The United States government is forced to point out that it is such activities and other forms of provocation offered by members of the Yugoslav detachment in Zone A (Anglo-American zone) which are directly responsible for many of the attacks upon Yugoslav persons and property of which the Yugoslav government has complained."

The note said that although Allied military authorities "will continue to do all in their power to suppress such attacks, the remedy for this situation lies largely in the hands of the Yugoslav government itself."

Big Four Accord On Italo-Yugoslav Boundary Upheld

Amendments Defeated; USSR Criticizes British Treatment Of Jews

PARIS, Sept. 20 (AP)—The European peace conference upheld today the Big Four decisions on the Italo-Yugoslav boundary and the borders of the proposed free state of Trieste, beating down a series of amendments which would have given Yugoslavia greater portion of the disputed territory

Later in the day Russia criticized British treatment of Jews in Palestine, with Nikolai V. Novikov Soviet ambassador to the United States, asserting that "arrests and molestations" of Jews in the Holy Land had become "uncountable." Novikov made the charge in unsuccessfully opposing adoption of a British-proposed anti-discrimination amendment in the Bulgarian treaty

Adhere To Commitments

Russia and the three western powers, adhering to their commitments in the Foreign Ministers' Council, voted against all the amendments on Trieste presented at the meeting of the Italian Political Commission.

Amendments by Yugoslavia and White Russia would have moved the Italo-Yugoslav line to the west at the expense of Italy, and cut the free state down to the city limits of Trieste. A South African amendment would have enlarged the free zone down the Istrian Peninsula.

Amendment Is Adopted, 7-5

The Bulgarian Political Commission adopted 7 to 5 the anti-discriminatory amendment, which was designed to prevent such action against Jewish citizens The United States joined with Britain in voting for the amendment, which was opposed by France, Russia, White Russia, the Ukraine and Yugoslavia.

Novikov objected that the amendment would be "needlessly humiliating" to Bulgaria in view of her good record on the Jewish question, then added:

NCPAC, described Secretary of State Byrnes as "reactionary." It complained that the move "underscores the extent to which Truman has drifted from the policies and programs of Franklin D. Roosevelt," and "indicates how far we have stumbled down the path towards war."

Ickes himself quit as secretary of the Interior after a split with President Truman over the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be Undersecretary of the Navy.

Sen. Capper (R-Kas) and Rep. West (D-Tex) were among those who thought the Wallace ouster was overdue.

Said Capper in Kansas: "I am surprised that Truman kept Wallace as long as he did. The government will be better without Wallace than with him."

West, also at home, remarked: "I think this should have happened a long time ago for the sake of harmony and the best interest of the government."

In general, Republicans and Democrats divided on the political aspects. Republicans argued that it showed the Democrats split and weak while most Democrats held that Wallace's removal solidified the ranks.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla), also a critic of administration foreign policy, who spoke from the same platform with Wallace in New York, said in Tallahassee that the uster "will have far-reaching effects upon the country and probably upon the Democratic Party."

Byrnes, in Paris at the European peace conference, will have nothing to say "either now or later," an aide reported. Persons close to the Secretaary said he did not look displeased.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) commented in Chicago that Mr. Truman's action "will strengthen Byrnes' hand" and added: "I don't see how he (Truman) could do anything else and have an administration foreign policy at all."

"I think under the circumstances there was no other alternative," remarked Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala), head of the Democratic National Committee Speaker Bureau, who called on the President after the ouster was announced.

Sen. Brewster (R-Me) told newsmen that "the American people will now realize that only a Republican administration can offer any hope of responsible party government. The defection of the left wing leaves the administration grounded. The bi-partisan support of the Byrnes program is altogether good."

Rep. Sasscer (D-Md) said "on any team you have to have teamwork."

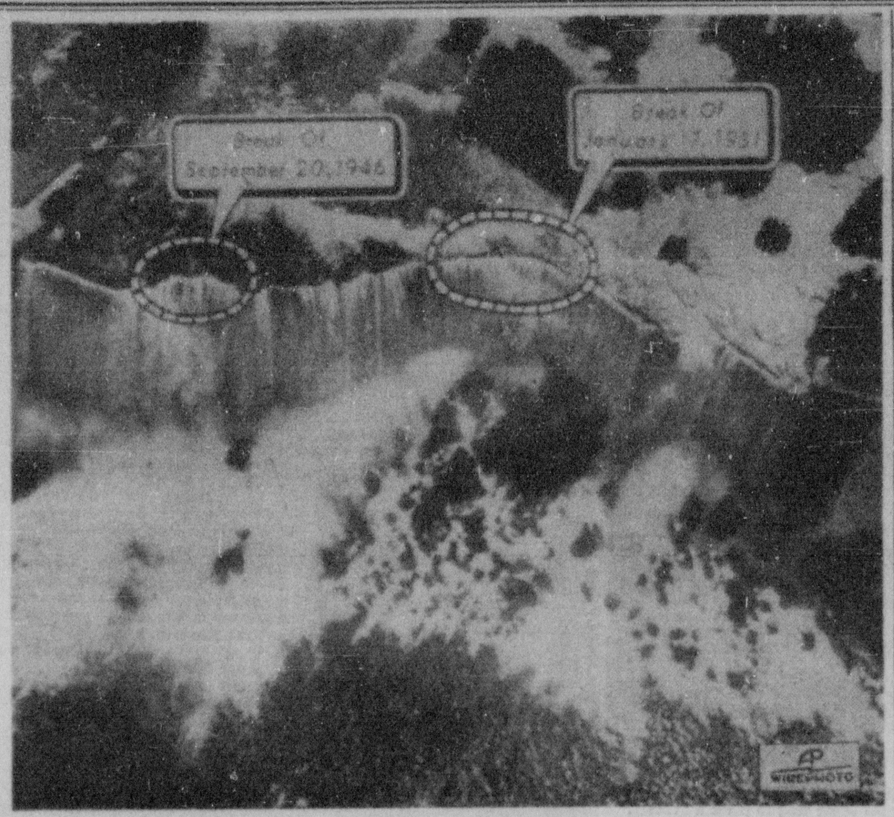

Sen. Tydings Has No Comment On Ouster

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Maryland political leaders adhered to party lines today in their comment on President Truman's request for the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Wallace.

Sen. Tydings, campaign chairman for the state Democratic Party, said: "This is a matter between the President and his official family and I have no comment to make."

D. John Markey, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, said: "Wallace's resignation comes too late to repair all the damage done. It is simply another hindsight gesture of the Truman-Hannegan team, who always are locking the barn after the horse is stolen."

In Cambridge, Sen. Radcliffe, Democrat, declared: "Wallace is a man of ability and has done some good things, but I do not think that a member of the offical family should interfere with President Truman's and Secretaary Byrnes' foreign policy."

NEW PROFILE—Above is a photo-diagram of the American falls at Niagara Falls, N. Y., locating yesterday's rock fall and the larger rock fall of January 17, 1931. It was estimated that about 25 to 30 tons of rock toppled into the gorge as a severe shock was felt on both sides of the border with Canada.

Large Section Of American Falls Tumbles Into Niagara River Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP) — A section of the American Falls was believed to have toppled 165 feet into the Niagara river gorge today as a severe shock was felt within a 10-mile radius of this honeymoon capital.

A Niagara State Park official said there was a rock fall caused by an "earthquake" and a parks commission engineer noted break in the falls. However, a United States Army engineer said he found "no indication" of the rock fall.

Residents on both sides of the border were alarmed by the shock. Employes of several factories rushed into the streets fearing an explosion had taken place and housewives telephoned fire departments.

Capt. A. H. Collins, head of the Niagara State Park Patrol, estimated that about 25 to 30 tons of rock toppled into the gorge about 125 feet from Prospect Point.

Collins expressed belief that an earthquake had caused the rocks to fall, but Dr. Austin McTigue, seismologist at Canisius College in Buffalo, 21 miles away, said the shock was recorded there and gave as his opinion that it had been caused by the rock fall.

"I have been looking at the falls almost every day for 35 years" said Collins, "and I noticed there was a slight change in the contour of the cataract today after the shock."

Paul F. Haseley, engineer for the park commission, said it appeared from a comparison with maps that the break was about 125 feet across, 30 feet deep and several feet thick.

Informed that Dr. McTigue had expressed belief the shock might have been caused by a rock fall at Niagara Falls, Collins said:

"I don't think that the rock fall was large enough to cause tremors felt throughout the city and outlying sections. I believe that an earthquake caused the rocks to fall."

moned an orderly, who took Maddox to a basement room near the dispensary and strapped him in bed. Maddox declared, "I was spread-eagled on the bed with a restraining strap around each ankle and each wrist and kept that way for several hours.

Unable to understand the treatment he was receiving here by police and the hospital, the young man said again, "I'll surely be glad to get out of this town."

At the hospital last night attaches confirmed Maddox's report that he had been strapped to bed. Miss Cleo C. Kerr, night supervisor declared Maddox became unruly and attempted to leave the hospital without permission. She said he was noisy and was scaring other patients so she had him restrained.

Asked if she thought there was anything wrong with Maddox mentally, Miss Kerr said, "No, I think he was just a showoff, seeking publicity." Miss Kerr also said physicians had not found anything wrong mentally with the man.

When a reporter went to the hospital yesterday afternoon to see Maddox, he was told, "Maddox just left here and is going to the police station to get his bags. He has some money now, and when the police give him his bags he is to leave some money there for his hospital bill."

The reporter then went to the police station and asked Sgt. Meister if the man had been there Sgt. Meister said "No, but the hospital said we were to get $20 from him before we give him his stuff.'

The reporter then went to the Red Cross office, believing Maddox would come there. He did arrive in the office about three minutes after the reporter, and Mrs. Dean gave him a check for his train fare back to Washington.

Maddox was in good spirits, despite his unusual happenings here, and asked the reporter to accompany him to the police station to get his luggage.

The reporter accompanied Maddox to headquarters and on the way asked, "How did the city police get your bags?" Maddox said he didn't know except that the railroad company had returned them here when notified by the Red Cross or hospital that he had left them on the train. Maddox also said, "I can't understand why they have any right to them. You'd think I beat somebody up instead of somebody beating and robbing me."

Pays Hospital Bill

When Maddox and the reporter approached Sgt. Meister at the police station, the reporter said, "Sergeant this is Maddox. He's come for his bags."

The sergeant looked at Maddox and said, "Have you got $20 for the hospital?" Maddox did not reply but handed Meister a white envelope containing $20.

Meister then said the bags were locked up and he couldn't get them. Maddox told the sergeant he wanted to leave on the 3:52 p. m. train. It was then 3:24 p. m. Meister repeated that he couldn't do anything about it.

At this junction the reporter queried, "Sergeant, do you have any charges against this man?" Meister replied, "None at all."

The reporter said, "Then why are you holding his luggage and where did you get it in the first place?" Meister said. "I don't know anything about it, maybe I can get the lieutenant on the radio. He has the bags locked up."

Meister then made a radio call to a cruiser and a voice replied that "the bags are in my office. It isn't locked. Give them to him."

Meister and Maddox and the reporter then went back to the office, got the bags and Maddox signed a receipt for them. Maddox checked the bags and exclaimed that "someone has gone through this stuff." Neither bag was locked. One was a suitcase and the other an army duffle bag.

Maddox produced his army papers from the suit case, showing his discharge record, veterans claim number, a certified approval for GI training in a business school in Washington which he plans to enter, and several other personal papers.

Sgt. Meister gave Maddox a signed receipt for the $20 hospital bill and Maddox took the 3:52 p. m. train to Washington.

Leads Are Sought In Brutal Slaying Of Ohio Woman

Ex-Suitor And Shirt-Sleeved Stranger Eliminated As Suspects

BRYAN, O., Sept. 20 (AP)—A former suitor and shirt-sleeved stranger were eliminated by police tonight as suspected killers of blonde Emily Abernathy, 30, whose stabbed and beaten body was found in the basement of the city library where she worked.

Assistant Prosecutor Chauncey Newcomer reported that a check-up on the former suitor satisfied authorities that he was in another state when the crime occurred.

All-day broadcasts alerting police of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana to pickup a man wearing a pin-striped shirt and dark trousers brought no leads, and police began to doubt whether the man was actually in the vicinity of the library.

Sheriff Norman A. Barnes said that the blood-spattered basement room showed the librarian and her assailant struggled for some time, and from the brutality of the killing concluded it was "obviously a case of personal vengeance."

Coroner C. Paul Waid certified tonight that the young woman met "death by murder" and said no inquest or autopsy would be held. He released the body to Miss Abernathy's brother, Richard Abernathy, who came here today from Nashville, Tenn., and told police he could shed little light on a motive for the killing.

There also were a few strands of reddish hair, found clutched in a hand of the 30-year-old woman who apparently had put up a terrific struggle against her assailant in the library basement.

The body, discovered among the basement's blood-spattered bookshelves last night, bore 25 knife wounds in the throat and breast. Her jaw was broken, her eyes blackened and her clothing torn.

The board chairman also noted the new agency "has no authority on its own initiative to decontrol livestock and meat prices"—an action requested of the board this week by several congressmen, labor groups and other organizations.

"Any request for decontrol of meat must be made by an industry advisory committee to the Secretary of Agriculture," the board chairman said. "Only if the Secretary of Agriculture denies the petition or fails to act on it, within prescribed time limits, could this petition be appealed to the board."

Meeting Wage Demands

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP)—A score of restaurants, big and little, met union wage demands today but most of the big hotels were shut for the second day, leaving California's thousands of tourists to jam into the few spots open or settle for hamburgers at counter joints.

Newest signatories to union contracts, said a spokesman for 6,000 striking AFL culinary workers and bartenders, included Earl Carroll's theater-restaurant, and Dave Chasen's, an exclusive Beverly Hills cafe.

that normal shipping can be resumed" and that ships would be operating "in a very short time."

The wage agreement had been reached at a meeting between Curran, Fly, and Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the American Merchant Marine Institute. The United States Maritime Commission had approved the Fly award previously.

Other standby meetings were waiting to vote in other port cities.

The CIO seamen went on strike eight days ago, after the AFL ended a strike it started a week earlier with the winning of wage increases. The NMU called the strike to gain wage parity with the AFL.

Curran said all NMU seamen in the United States would get equal pay for equal work.

Administration Now Must Clarify Foreign Policy

State Department Officials Consider Promoting Series Of Speeches

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Henry Wallace's ouster from the Cabinet goes far to restore the strength of Secretary Byrnes at Paris but apparently it leaves the administration a big job to do in clarifying foreign policy

For this reason, top State Department officials are considering promoting soon a series of speeches. These would make plain to the American people and world exactly what Mr. Truman meant today when he said, in firing Wallace that "no change in our foreign policy is contemplated."

Several Opportunities

Several opportunities for major foreign affairs declarations are in prospect

President Truman is expected to open the United Nations Assembly meeting in New York October 23.

Secretary of State Byrnes may get home from Paris in mid-October and presumably will deliver his customary report to the nation as soon as possible thereafter.

Undersecretary of State Acheson is due back from vacation in about 10 days and already has various invitations to talk about foreign policy.

Diplomatic authorities said that when Mr. Truman finally decided to ask for Wallace's resignation he was doing it in an effort to get American foreign policy "back on the track." This meant several things.

It meant telling the Kremlin that the United States is not going to embark on any policy which Wallace himself had said might be called "appeasement."

Reassurance To British

It meant telling Foreign Minister Molotov, Foreign Minister Bevin and other delegates at the Paris peace conference that Byrnes has 100 per cent Truman support.

It meant reassurance to the British that despite Wallace's complaint of British "imperialism" the Washington government expects to continue to have the closest relations with the London government.

It meant telling smaller nations and political parties all over Europe that Mr. Truman, Byrnes and the State Department have no intention of yielding to Soviet or any other political demands in any part of Europe where the United States has a chance to strive for a democratic expression of the popular will.

Ex-Secretary

pected to remain in Washington.

Asked whether he was open to invitations from the PAC or any other group for speeches, the Secretary hesitated and then said "I very much question the wisdom of stirring up any controversy right now."

Wallace, upon being asked by the President to leave the cabinet, submitted his resignation in a one-paragraph letter addressed to "Dear Harry." It too declared that "I shall continue to fight for peace," and expressed confidence "that you will approve and will join me in that great endeavor."

Truman Lays Down The Law

Mr. Truman said private individuals may "disagree freely and publicly on any question, including that of foreign policy." But as for government officials, he laid down the law:

"No change in our foreign policy is contemplated. No member of the executive branch of the government will make any public statement as to foreign policy which is in conflict with our established foreign policy. Any public statement on foreign policy shall be cleared with the Department of State. In case of disagreement, the matter will be referred to me."

Undersecretary Alfred Schindler, now on the West Coast, will be in charge of the department temporarily.

Reds Crack Down On Widespread Graft On Farms

Decree Signed By Stalin Calls For Prosecution Of Accused

MOSCOW, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Soviet government cracked down today on admitted widespread graft and inefficiency in its vast system of collective farms, declaring such malpractice imperiled the socialist framework of the country.

A decree signed by Prime Minister Stalin as chairman of the Council of Ministers asserted that misappropriation of collective farm land had reached "mass proportions" and called for immediate cessation of the illegal practices and criminal prosecution of the accused.

"Alien To Leninism"

(An editorial in the official Communist newspaper Pravda broadcast by the Moscow radio said the move had "political significance of the first importance," and described the violations as "harmful and alien to Leninism.")

The decree bore also the signature of Col. Gen. A. A. Zhdanov, secretary of the powerful Communist Party Central Committee.

Property On Farms Filched

Property on farms had been filched, including livestock, grain, seed, fodder, meat, milk, butter, honey, vegetables and fruit. This was done in some instances without payment or by paying lowered prices.

The decree said that many collective farms were topheavy with administrative personnel, to such a degree that many farms were experiencing a shortage of field laborers while having an oversupply of white collar help.

Six Are Injured In Baltimore Fire

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20. (AP)—Four firemen and two workers were hurt today in a six-alarm fire which destroyed the main plant of the Security Oil Company in North Baltimore.

The plane that established radio contact with the rescuers by walkie talkie said it was unlikely that any of the survivors from the big four-engined plane could be brought to Gander before tomorrow.

The plane, with 37 passengers and seven crew members, had last been reported when it made an instrument approach to Gander Field at 4:37 a. m. Wednesday. It flew over the airport once with a ceiling of about 500 feet and then disappeared.

Airline officials said today that the plane had been in the orbit of the airport approaches at all times and that the pilot was sent instructions to land but apparently did not receive them.

U. S. Demands Tito Help Halt Terror In Venezia Giulia

Government Denies Charge That Yugoslav Soldiers Mistreated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The United States accused Yugoslavia today of failing to co-operate in maintenance of order in disputed Trieste, and denounced in particular the "obstructive and terroristic activities of pro-Slav elements."

This country's position was laid down in a formal note handed Marshal Tito's Foreign Ministry. Replying to two previous Yugoslav notes charging "improper treatment" of Yugoslav soldiers in the zone of Venezia Giulia under Anglo-American control, the American document declared that these allegations were "false and exaggerated."

It cited two cases of violence in that zone against Yugoslavs "known to be political opponents of the present Yugoslav government," and added:

"The Ministry cannot suppose that activities of this nature can be undertaken by pro-Slav elements without promoting furious reaction from the local population.

"The United States government is forced to point out that it is such activities and other forms of provocation offered by members of the Yugoslav detachment in Zone A (Anglo-American zone) which are directly responsible for many of the attacks upon Yugoslav persons and property of which the Yugoslav government has complained."

The note said that although Allied military authorities "will continue to do all in their power to suppress such attacks, the remedy for this situation lies largely in the hands of the Yugoslav government itself."

Petersburg Stores Discontinue Sale Of Fresh Meats

OPA Regulations Blamed For Action; Were Slaughtering Own Animals

By MYRTLE PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 20—The only two stores here handling meats, Thompson's Market, owned and operated by Julius Thompson, and Harman's General Store, owned and operated by W. E. Harman, which have been slaughtering their own livestock, yesterday notified their customers that they have been compelled to discontinue the sale of fresh meats for "an indefinite period of time", leaving Petersburg entirely without fresh meats.

In a joint statement, issued by the two stores, the OPA is blamed for forcing them to discontinue the fresh meat business, adding that "we regret this action very much".

Confusion Still Reigns

During the war "we made every effort to abide by OPA regulations" the statement said. "At that time we thought it our duty to do this as a part of our contribution to the war effort. In spite of all of the meaningless pages and volumes of conflicting regulations, we went along as best we could and the meat business was only a part of the many, many regulations by which we were forced to abide.

"We could not afford expensive legal staffs like the large meat packers and chain stores, who even with their expensive setup were fined heavily and often because it was impossible to comply with some of the regulations. The only hope we had was the promise of the OPA itself that with the end of the war or shortly thereafter this reign of confusion in the meat business would come to an end.

"Now the OPA has seen fit to impose substantially the same set of regulations that contributed so much to black market operations and confusion prior to the death of price control on June 30."

"Under the reinstated regulations we are only allowed to slaughter the approximate number of animals in a month that we are now ordinarily using in a week. This is known as the quota system. This together with severe grading regulations and the filing of detailed reports with the Charleston OPA office, makes it virtually impossible for us to operate because our cost of doing business is much greater than the proportionate number of animals that we are allowed to slaughter.

Abundance Of Livestock

"We cannot pay our help and operate our refrigeration for a month when we only have enough meat allotted to us for five or six days each month. The penalties for violation of these regulations are very severe", usually resulting in expensive court procedure and heavy fines. Under such circumstances as these we do not feel obliged to take this risk".

According to the statement there is an abundance of slaughter animals in the South Branch Valley "and we are at a loss to know why we should not be permitted to use them in legitimate trade."

"We hope that in the not too distant future that these controls will be reduced to the bounds of common sense or abolished entirely so we can again handle meat for our customers", the statement concluded.

Raese Funeral Will Be Held Sunday

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, Sept. 20—Funeral services will be conducted at the Presbyterian Church in Davis on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. for Donald Walter Raese, 24, who was killed when his plane, an A-26 bomber, exploded and crashed near Winks, Texas on Sunday night. Four other men were also killed, according to a clipping from a Pittsburgh newspaper.

Rev. Andrew B. Mann, pastor of the church will officiate, assisted by Chaplain Carl Darkey, Washington, D. C., a former Davis resident.

The body will arrive in Grafton at 5:20, p. m. on Saturday evening where it will be met by the Mott-Spiggle hearse and removed to his home in Davis.

He was born in Davis, October 9, 1921 and after his graduation from Davis High School attended Massanutten Military Academy in Woodstock, Va., in 1939 and 1940. He studied at West Virginia University from 1940 until 1942 when he entered West Point Military Academy, withdrawing from there January 26, 1942 and enlisting in the air corps.

He received his commission as second Lieutenant in the regular army January 1946 and in May of the same year was promoted to First Lieutenant.

He had never had a furlough home in all four years. His parents had only seen him four times in those years. They attended his first commissioning in August 4, 1944 at Brooks Field, Texas, just one month from the time that their oldest son, Cleon W. Raese, Jr., had been killed in a crash in England. At that time his mother was honored by pinning on her son's silver wings and voted the Class Mother of the entire class. He also received a citation for being the best pilot in his class.

On one other occasion he spent a few hours with his parents when he had piloted a plane to Elkins. On Mother's Day of this year he flew 2,000 miles from Dallas to spend one half day with her.

Five weeks ago his parents talked with him for two hours in Pittsburgh, Pa., where his group was putting on an air show. That is the last time they had seen him. He had written that he was expecting to get home in October for his first leave.

Petroleum Group Elects New Officers

Three local men were elected last night to head the reorganized Allegany County Petroleum Industries Committee, and six more, including Mayor Thomas S. Post, were appointed on committees to handle local affairs.

J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industry Committee who assisted in the reorganization, pointed out that the petroleum committee is seeking a reasonable gasoline tax, sound highway planning, use of motor vehicle revenue for highways only, and the repeal of the federal excise taxes on gasoline and lubricating oils.

R. B. Macbeth was elected chairman; G. L. Humphrey, vice chairman, and L. B. Reed, secretary. The local affairs committee includes Mayor Thomas S. Post, W. E. Rinard, Mt. Savage; Carl Storm, Frostburg; O. G. Michael, city; Ralph Wilson, city; and Edward Davis, city.

Lanigan told the members, who represent Allegany County Service Station operators and oil dealers, that the present motorist taxes "are more that adequate to finance a sound, well planned program of highway development." It can be said with safety, Lanigan declared, that Maryland will collect this year more that $14,000,000 alone in gasoline taxes from state motorists.

Property Dispute To Be Continued

Testimony will be continued this morning in Circuit Court before Associate Judge Walter C. Capper, in litigation over the sale of a Baltimore street building owned by the late Louis Kline, clothing store owner. The hearing began yesterday morning and was recessed yesterday afternoon, to await the arrival of a witness.

Mrs. Carrie M. Kline, widow of the store owner, filed the petition against Mrs. Sadye K. Daskais, daughter of Kline by a previous marriage, alleging the latter failed to carry out the terms of an agreement between them.

The widow, represented by Clarence Lippel and Charles Z. Heskett, said Kline gave her 40 per cent of the interest in the property, under the terms of his will, and left his daughter a 60 per cent interest.

Mrs. Kline alleges that she offered to pay $6,500 for the 60 per cent and also offered to pay counsel fees in the transaction. She contends that when the daughter was notified that the sale could be completed as soon as a clear deed was presented she refused to comply with the terms of the agreement.

Mrs. Kline is asking the court to enforce the alleged agreement, without extra cost.

Meyers Deplores Truman Break With Wallace

The action of President Truman yesterday in requesting the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace was deplored yesterday by George A. Meyers, chairman of the Political Action Committee of Western Maryland.

Meyers said in a statement:

"If there has ever been any doubt, this action is full proof that the administration has broken completely with both the domestic and foreign policies laid down by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Mr. Roosevelt was re-elected in 1944 because the voters supported the things he stood for. There has been no change in the mandate from the people, yet there has been a drastic turnover in the policy of the administration."

Meyers is a former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and also a former president of the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council.

William R. Hayes Pays $111.50 Fines

Fines totaling $111.50 were paid by William R. Hayes, Cresaptown, in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to drunken and reckless driving charges.

Hayes was traveling about 70 miles an hour on Greene street early yesterday morning, when his car "nearly ran down" Officer William McGraw, according to testimony given by Officer P. M. Crabtree. Hayes was arrested near the intersection of Green and Washington streets. Police said Hayes created a disturbance at headquarters following his arrest.

A three-car crash near the intersection of Water and Main streets in Frostburg Thursday night resulted in Clayton Garlitz, 34, of Garrett county, five miles west of Frostburg, and his two brothers being fined when arraigned before Magistrate Owen L. Porter in Frostburg this morning. Clayton Garlitz paid $100 and costs for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

His brothers, Edwin and Harry Garlitz, riding with him, were each fined $5 and costs on drunk charges.

State Trooper Glen A. Folk, who investigated with Officer George Tipping of the Frostburg police department, said Clayton Garlitz was "apparently driving at a fast rate of speed" when his car sideswiped the automobile owned and operated by Irvin C. Knieriem, 32, of Grant street, Frostburg, traveling east on Main street. Garlitz's vehicle then swerved and hit the parked vehicle of Raymond Garrett, of Frost avenue, Frostburg, he added.

The driver, who pleaded guilty at Friday's hearing, and his brothers were held in the Frostburg jail pending trial. All three cars were damaged in the accident.

Another motorist, Joseph Bradac, of Cleveland, was fined $100 and costs on a drunken driving charge and $5 and costs for reckless driving when arraigned Friday before Magistrate Porter. He was taken into custody yesterday on Route 40 at Eckhart by Troopers W. L. Wilt and William McElfish.

In the local court, Richard Allen Morgan, of Mt. Savage, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 40 September 8. Trooper William Baker made the arrest.

Thomas Aloysius Cline, of 423 Virginia avenue, forfeited $6.45 for passing another vehicle when the way was not clear on Route 40, and Frank Koza, of Oliver, Pa., forfeited the same amount for passing a school bus which had stopped to discharge passengers on Route 40 in LaVale. Both were arrested Thursday by Trooper Charles D. Mades.

Vincent L. Martin, of Mt. Savage, was fined $6.45 on a reckless driving charge preferred by Trooper William Baker on Route 36, two miles east of Corriganville, while Frank Richard Rhodes, of Route 4, this city, was acquitted on the same count.

Donald Oliver Green, of Route 1, forfeited $6.45 for passing a car when the way ahead was not clear on Route 40. All three were taken into custody last Saturday by Trooper Baker.

Mark McCauley Pleads "Not Guilty" Again

PARSONS, Sept. 20 — Mark McCauley, Davis, pleaded not guilty twice in one day to charges against him. He appeared in person Thursday in Keyser to plead "not guilty" to the murder of two officers while his attorney, Alan G. Bolton, of Elkins, appeared before the Circuit Court of Tucker county held in Parsons this week and pleaded "not guilty", to a paternity charge against him.

The late Sheriff O. G. Hovatter, one of the two officers whom McCauley is charged with fatally shooting, arrested him on the complaint of a 23 year old girl of Canaan Valley, who charged that he was the father of her son.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace, Lawrence Lipscomb, on a hearing April 13, McCauley was held for the action of the Circuit Court.

School Hours Are Cut At Kitzmiller

KITZMILLER, Md., Sept. 20 (AP)—L. C. Hutson, vocational mining instructor of the State Bureau of Mines, reported today drought conditions here required cutting school attendance to two hours a day.

The general drought in this Garrett county area, which has lacked substantial rainfall about six weeks, has virtually dried up many wells, he said.

Hutson explained this is the only means by which the school can be operated two hours a day.

Teachers have brought water from pure wells for drinking purposes and pupils bring their own cups or glasses with them to school.

Chief Mine Engineer John J. Rutledge at Annapolis said today he had been informed of the condition in the region last week.

He said the mine waters discharged into the Potomac have rendered it unfit for domestic use in the section of Kitzmiller, which has a population of approximately 1,400.

Dr. Rutledge said the Garrett County Commissiiners had authorized digging a well for the school and general reserve, but had little success in obtaining the services of well drillers.

OPA Regulations Blamed For Action; Were Slaughtering Own Animals

By MYRTLE PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 20—The only two stores here handling meats, Thompson's Market, owned and operated by Julius Thompson, and Harman's General Store, owned and operated by W. E. Harman, which have been slaughtering their own livestock, yesterday notified their customers that they have been compelled to discontinue the sale of fresh meats for "an indefinite period of time", leaving Petersburg entirely without fresh meats.

In a joint statement, issued by the two stores, the OPA is blamed for forcing them to discontinue the fresh meat business, adding that "we regret this action very much".

Confusion Still Reigns

During the war "we made every effort to abide by OPA regulations" the statement said. "At that time we thought it our duty to do this as a part of our contribution to the war effort. In spite of all of the meaningless pages and volumes of conflicting regulations, we went along as best we could and the meat business was only a part of the many, many regulations by which we were forced to abide.

"We could not afford expensive legal staffs like the large meat packers and chain stores, who even with their expensive setup were fined heavily and often because it was impossible to comply with some of the regulations. The only hope we had was the promise of the OPA itself that with the end of the war or shortly thereafter this reign of confusion in the meat business would come to an end.

"Now the OPA has seen fit to impose substantially the same set of regulations that contributed so much to black market operations and confusion prior to the death of price control on June 30."

"Under the reinstated regulations we are only allowed to slaughter the approximate number of animals in a month that we are now ordinarily using in a week. This is known as the quota system. This together with severe grading regulations and the filing of detailed reports with the Charleston OPA office, makes it virtually impossible for us to operate because our cost of doing business is much greater than the proportionate number of animals that we are allowed to slaughter.

Abundance Of Livestock

"We cannot pay our help and operate our refrigeration for a month when we only have enough meat allotted to us for five or six days each month. The penalties for violation of these regulations are very severe", usually resulting in expensive court procedure and heavy fines. Under such circumstances as these we do not feel obliged to take this risk".

According to the statement there is an abundance of slaughter animals in the South Branch Valley "and we are at a loss to know why we should not be permitted to use them in legitimate trade."

"We hope that in the not too distant future that these controls will be reduced to the bounds of common sense or abolished entirely so we can again handle meat for our customers", the statement concluded.

Raese Funeral Will Be Held Sunday

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, Sept. 20.—Funeral services will be conducted at the Presbyterian Church in Davis on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. for Donald Walter Raese, 24, who was killed when his plane, an A-26 bomber, exploded and crashed near Winks, Texas on Sunday night. Four other men were also killed, according to a clipping from a Pittsburgh newspaper.

Rev. Andrew B. Mann, pastor of the church will officiate, assisted by Chaplain Carl Darkey, Washington, D. C., a former Davis resident.

The body will arrive in Grafton at 5:20, p. m. on Saturday evening where it will be met by the Mott-Spiggle hearse and removed to his home in Davis.

He was born in Davis, October 9, 1921 and after his graduation from Davis High School attended Massanutten Military Academy in Woodstock, Va., in 1939 and 1940. He studied at West Virginia University from 1940 until 1942 when he entered West Point Military Academy, withdrawing from there January 26, 1942 and enlisting in the air corps.

He received his commission as second Lieutenant in the regular army January 1946 and in May of the same year was promoted to First Lieutenant.

He had never had a furlough home in all four years. His parents had only seen him four times in those years. They attended his first commissioning in August 4, 1944 at Brooks Field, Texas, just one month from the time that their oldest son, Cleon W. Raese, Jr., had been killed in a crash in England. At that time his mother was honored by pinning on her son's silver wings and voted the Class Mother of the entire class. He also received a citation for being the best pilot in his class.

On one other occasion he spent a few hours with his parents when he had piloted a plane to Elkins. On Mother's Day of this year he flew 2,000 miles from Dallas to spend one half day with her.

Five weeks ago his parents talked with him for two hours in Pittsburgh, Pa., where his group was putting on an air show. That is the last time they had seen him. He had written that he was expecting to get home in October for his first leave.

Petroleum Group Elects New Officers

Three local men were elected last night to head the reorganized Allegany County Petroleum Industries Committee, and six more, including Mayor Thomas S. Post, were appointed on committees to handle local affairs.

J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industry Committee who assisted in the reorganization, pointed out that the petroleum committee is seeking a reasonable gasoline tax, sound highway planning, use of motor vehicle revenue for highways only, and the repeal of the federal excise taxes on gasoline and lubricating oils.

R. B. Macbeth was elected chairman; G. L. Humphrey, vice chairman, and L. B. Reed, secretary. The local affairs committee includes Mayor Thomas S. Post, W. E. Rinard, Mt. Savage; Carl Storm, Frostburg; O. G. Michael, city; Ralph Wilson, city; and Edward Davis, city.

Lanigan told the members, who represent Allegany County Service Station operators and oil dealers, that the present motorist taxes "are more that adequate to finance a sound, well planned program of highway development." It can be said with safety, Lanigan declared, that Maryland will collect this year more that $14,000,000 alone in gasoline taxes from state motorists.

Property Dispute To Be Continued

Testimony will be continued this morning in Circuit Court before Associate Judge Walter C. Capper, in litigation over the sale of a Baltimore street building owned by the late Louis Kline, clothing store owner. The hearing began yesterday morning and was recessed yesterday afternoon, to await the arrival of a witness.

Mrs. Carrie M. Kline, widow of the store owner, filed the petition against Mrs. Sadye K. Daskais, daughter of Kline by a previous marriage, alleging the latter failed to carry out the terms of an agreement between them.

The widow, represented by Clarence Lippel and Charles Z. Heskett, said Kline gave her 40 per cent of the interest in the property, under the terms of his will, and left his daughter a 60 per cent interest.

Mrs. Kline alleges that she offered to pay $6,500 for the 60 per cent and also offered to pay counsel fees in the transaction. She contends that when the daughter was notified that the sale could be completed as soon as a clear deed was presented she refused to comply with the terms of the agreement.

Mrs. Kline is asking the court to enforce the alleged agreement, without extra cost.

Meyers Deplores Truman Break With Wallace

The action of President Truman yesterday in requesting the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace was deplored yesterday by George A. Meyers, chairman of the Political Action Committee of Western Maryland.

Meyers said in a statement:

"If there has ever been any doubt, this action is full proof that the administration has broken completely with both the domestic and foreign policies laid down by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Mr. Roosevelt was re-elected in 1944 because the voters supported the things he stood for. There has been no change in the mandate from the people, yet there has been a drastic turnover in the policy of the administration."

William R. Hayes Pays $111.50 Fines

Fines totaling $111.50 were paid by William R. Hayes, Cresaptown, in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to drunken and reckless driving charges.

Hayes was traveling about 70 miles an hour on Greene street early yesterday morning, when his car "nearly ran down" Officer William McGraw, according to testimony given by Officer P. M. Crabtree. Hayes was arrested near the intersection of Green and Washington streets. Police said Hayes created a disturbance at headquarters following his arrest.

A three-car crash near the intersection of Water and Main streets in Frostburg Thursday night resulted in Clayton Garlitz, 34, of Garrett county, five miles west of Frostburg, and his two brothers being fined when arraigned before Magistrate Owen L. Porter in Frostburg this morning. Clayton Garlitz paid $100 and costs for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

His brothers, Edwin and Harry Garlitz, riding with him, were each fined $5 and costs on drunk charges.

State Trooper Glen A. Folk, who investigated with Officer George Tipping of the Frostburg police department, said Clayton Garlitz was "apparently driving at a fast rate of speed" when his car sideswiped the automobile owned and operated by Irvin C. Knieriem, 32, of Grant street, Frostburg, traveling east on Main street. Garlitz's vehicle then swerved and hit the parked vehicle of Raymond Garrett, of Frost avenue, Frostburg, he added.

The driver, who pleaded guilty at Friday's hearing, and his brothers were held in the Frostburg jail pending trial. All three cars were damaged in the accident.

Another motorist, Joseph Bradac, of Cleveland, was fined $100 and costs on a drunken driving charge and $5 and costs for reckless driving when arraigned Friday before Magistrate Porter. He was taken into custody yesterday on Route 40 at Eckhart by Troopers W. L. Wilt and William McElfish.

In the local court, Richard Allen Morgan, of Mt. Savage, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 40 September 8. Trooper William Baker made the arrest.

Thomas Aloysius Cline, of 423 Virginia avenue, forfeited $6.45 for passing another vehicle when the way was not clear on Route 40, and Frank Koza, of Oliver, Pa., forfeited the same amount for passing a school bus which had stopped to discharge passengers on Route 40 in LaVale. Both were arrested Thursday by Trooper Charles D. Mades.

Vincent L. Martin, of Mt. Savage, was fined $6.45 on a reckless driving charge preferred by Trooper William Baker on Route 36, two miles east of Corriganville, while Frank Richard Rhodes, of Route 4, this city, was acquitted on the same count.

Donald Oliver Green, of Route 1, forfeited $6.45 for passing a car when the way ahead was not clear on Route 40. All three were taken into custody last Saturday by Trooper Baker.

Mark McCauley Pleads "Not Guilty" Again

PARSONS, Sept. 20 — Mark McCauley, Davis, pleaded not guilty twice in one day to charges against him. He appeared in person Thursday in Keyser to plead "not guilty" to the murder of two officers while his attorney, Alan G. Bolton, of Elkins, appeared before the Circuit Court of Tucker county held in Parsons this week and pleaded "not guilty", to a paternity charge against him.

The late Sheriff O. G. Hovatter, one of the two officers whom McCauley is charged with fatally shooting, arrested him on the complaint of a 23 year old girl of Canaan Valley, who charged that he was the father of her son.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace, Lawrence Lipscomb, on a hearing April 13, McCauley was held for the action of the Circuit Court.

School Hours Are Cut At Kitzmiller

KITZMILLER, Md., Sept. 20 (AP)—L. C. Hutson, vocational mining instructor of the State Bureau of Mines, reported today drought conditions here required cutting school attendance to two hours a day.

The general drought in this Garrett county area, which has lacked substantial rainfall about six weeks, has virtually dried up many wells, he said.

Hutson explained this is the only means by which the school can be operated two hours a day.

Teachers have brought water from pure wells for drinking purposes and pupils bring their own cups or glasses with them to school.

Chief Mine Engineer John J. Rutledge at Annapolis said today he had been informed of the condition in the region last week.

He said the mine waters discharged into the Potomac have rendered it unfit for domestic use in the section of Kitzmiller, which has a population of approximately 1,400.

Dr. Rutledge said the Garrett County Commissioners had authorized digging a well for the school and general reserve, but had little success in obtaining the services of well drillers.

Hutson said today drilling at the high school had made no appreciable progress.

Go to Church Sunday - Your Church - Any Church - But Go

IS YOUR CITY SAFE?

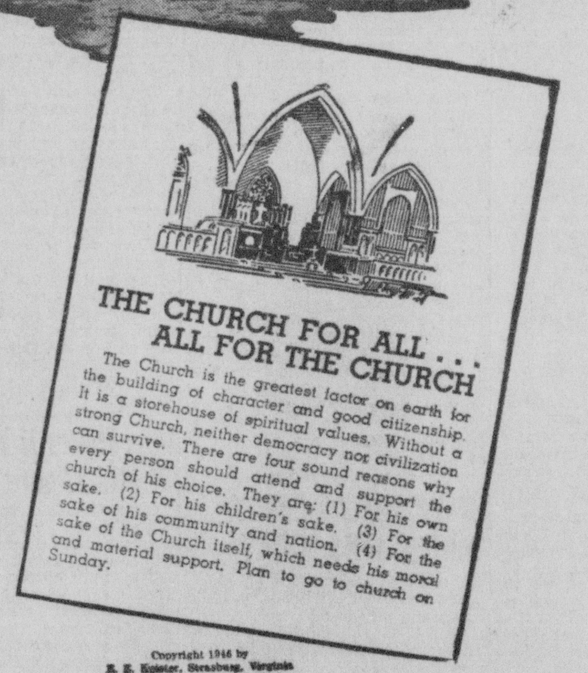

Since we have seen pictures of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, we haven't been sure. What would an atomic bomb do to New York or Chicago—or your own home town? Would this towering skyline collapse like a house of cards? The very question makes us so nervous that we are already talking about building our homes and factories in great caves.

But the atomic bomb is not the most dangerous threat to your city. "Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." No tree can stand long after its heart has rotted. No city is safe if its people forget God.

Is your city safe? How strong and faithful are its churches? How enduring are its marriages? How disciplined and trustworthy are its people? How free are its youth from delinquency?

Does that sound hopeless? It isn't. For long ago, concerning a city notorious for its evil, God said, "If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will spare all the place for their sake."

Are you one of the "fifty" who make your city safe?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday.

Moorefield, LaSalle Play Scoreless Tie

"Sleeper" Play Nets Explorers 48-Yard Gain; 1,157 Brave Rain To See Opener

GAME STATISTICS

Moorefield		LaSalle
4	First Downs	7
6	Passes Tried	8
2	Passes Completed	3
4	Passes Incompleted	5
19	Yards on Passes	54
3	Penalties (Yds.)	30
85	Yds. Gained Running	150
8	Yds. Lost Running	20

LaSalle High School's football team provided a surprise in its 1946 debut last night in the Fort Hill stadium by holding the highly touted veteran Moorefield Yellow Jackets, 1945 champions of the Potomac Valley Conference, to a scoreless deadlock before a gathering of 1,157 paying customers.

Rain preceded the game, stopped until midway in the second quarter, and for the remainder of the evening the game was played in a steady downpour.

Moorefield appeared to be headed for a touchdown in the second quarter after Big George Hott, fullback, punted 46 yards to the Explorers' one-yard stripe, and Tracy Riggins booted the leather back to the LaSalle 29. Hott toted the ball to the 23 on the first play, Dwight Kessel's pass to Welton on third down was good cor two yards but on fourth down Hott was stopped dead.

Pass Nets 44-Yard Gain

LaSalle put on scoring threat in the third period but lost the ball on down on the Jackets' 18. The drive was featured by a "sleeper" play pass from Tommy Cloonan to Johnny Esposito, which netted 44 yards and moved the ball to the 23. Here LaSalle lost one yard in three plays, including an incompleted pass, and Cloonan's pass to Jim Dorsey on fourth down fell short of the required yardage for a first.

In the fourth quarter Moorefield marked from the LaSalle 30 to 15 but the offensive bogged down and the West Virginians lost the ball on downs.

LaSalle followers got their biggest thrill midway in the final stanza, when Tracy Riggins was shaken loose for a 58-yard run and for a moment it looked like it was a touchdown sprint until Right Halfback Harman brought the LaSalle fullback down on the Yellow Jackets' 7-yard line. After Riggins lost six yards in two plays and Cloonan's pass to Jones failed to click, Johnny Esposito attempted to boot a field goal from 18 yards out but the play was smeared by the Moorefield defense as the ball came off Esposito's toe.

Riggins Stands Out

Outstanding on the offensive for LaSalle was Riggins, who made several nice runs, in addition to his 58-yard dash. On two occasions he reeled off gains of twelve yards while Johnny Esposito, center of the LaSalle 1945 team, making his debut at left half, contributed a 15-yard gain.

LE	W. Hott	Jones
LT	Hartman	T. Collins
LG	Sherman	Borden
C	Ours	Arnone
RG	Riggleman	Shober
RT	Pink	Blake
RE	Welton	Dorsey

"Muddy" Ruel Expected To Sign Contract As Browns' Manager

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20 (AP) — Herold D. (Muddy) Ruel is expected to come here to sign his first major league contract tomorrow to manage the St. Louis Browns.

The announcement will be made at the Browns' office at Sportsmans Park.

Richard C. Muckerman, president of the Browns, has called a press conference for 9:30 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow.

Ruel's contract terms were a matter for speculation. Reports were that he would receive $26,000 or more annually with a sliding-scale bonus based on attendance. Opinions also differed on whether the contract would run for two or for three years.

Muckerman returned today from Cincinnati where he conferred with Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler and Ruel, Chandler's assistant since last winter.

Phillies Go To Pen And Win 5-2 Pardon

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phils went to Eastern State Penitentiary at nearby Gratersford today, served a nine inning sentence and came away with a favorable 5 to 2 pardon.

The prison team gave the National Leaguers a scare in the first inning when "Joe"—not otherwise identified—hit a home run with one on to take a 2-1 lead. Phil Rookie Del Ennis poled a 450-foot homer in the ninth.

Bowen Tells About Rickey

By C. V. BURNS

Fullback Tracy Riggins, who made his debut with LaSalle last night and played an outstanding role in the Explorers' opening game, is a son of Tracy Riggins, the one-time popular amateur heavyweight boxer of the Devon Club, of Luke. Tracy was a member of Piedmont high school's basketball squad last season. His home is in Piedmont, W. Va.

Squirrel meat is selling at exorbitant prices in West Virginia. A Bayard man paid $60 for three squirrels while a Circleville citizen dug down to the extent of $180 for nine of the animals.

The fines were plastered on both men for hunting out of season. They paid at the rate of $20 for each squirrel found in their possession. The West Virginia season does not come in until October 5.

The South Cumberland Athletic Club, headed by Presley W. "Red" Mauk, has filed an application for membership in the South Atlantic Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, planning to promote shows of its own here during the 1946-47 fall and winter season.

Mauk's simon pures participated in six out-of-town amateur shows during the summer season and should be in fine fettle for the coming season.

St. Mary's Stripers, of Clarksburg, W. Va., ran into a hard one the first crack out of the box last Friday and went down to defeat before Frank Wimer's Elkins High eleven to the tune of 28-7.

Elkins is almost our next door neighbor, yet they never appear on the Fort Hill or Allegany schedules. We think the schools should get acquainted.

Elmer M. Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League, reports measures will be taken next year to bar passing the hat at games to collect cash for players who distinguish themselves by hitting home runs, etc. Daily says that it's not only against rules of organized baseball but it also is unfair to the other players who are just as deserving in a less spectacular way. An Erie sports writer estimates that more than $3,000 was collected by hat passing during M. A. games there this season.

We recall the day Cumberland fans passed the hat for Johnny Alberts, a catcher sent to the Cumberland Colts by the Baltimore Orioles, after he had belted a spectacular game-winning homer over the right field gate at Mid City Park. Johnny was presented a nice purse after his feat and he showed his gratitude by "jumping" the club the next day!

Harris LePew, senior, and son of the Rev. Charles M. LePew, former local pastor, is playing his second season on the Hagerstown High School football team. The Maroon and Gray has dates with LaSalle, Allegany and Fort Hill this season.

Halfback Tony Paletti, of Washington Irving High, was playing safety on defense during the tilt with Roosevelt-Wilson High and the dog ambled onto the field and sat at his feet. The officials called time on several occasions but the persistent canine insisted on following Paletti. It was Tony's pooch.

Eddie Finzel, Beall high coach, reports there are thirty boys out for soccer at the Mountain City School. Between 40 and 50 came out for football but Coach Joe Hoopengardner was only able to dig up enough equipment for 23 gridders. Some of the equipment was borrowed from other schools. Beall has booked four games and is trying to add another. An effort is being made by Principal Arthur W. Taylor to have Meyersdale, Pa., High School consent to changing the date of the opener in Frostburg to Friday, October 18 instead of Saturday, October 19 due to the state teachers' meeting in Baltimore on the latter date.

"We'd like to have the teachers on hand to witness the opener," Taylor said.

Rex Bowen, scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers, who spent several days in this section hunting for baseball ivory, says the most surprised man in the majors this year is Branch Rickey, head man of the Dodgers.

"Rickey never dreamed the Dodgers would be in the pennant fight, yet they continued to win after he announced that he was rebuilding for the 1947 race.

"Even if Brooklyn doesn't win the flag this season the boys deserve much praise for their brilliant performance."

Duquesne University's alumni sinking fund to pump life into athletics at the Pittsburgh school is about $8,000 short of the $50,000 goal. The Dukes hope to hit the top next month.

Winning pari-mutuel tickets outstanding as of July 22 for races at the Atlantic City, N. J. track became void yesterday, which was the deadline under New Jersey racing law statutes which require all tickets to be cashed within 60 days of issuances. New Jersey must need money in a hurry. Maryland pari-mutuel tickets may be cashed within a period of two years.

Purple Panthers Edge Out Keyser In Final Period

Glenn Stars As Charles Town Stops Golden Tornado, 13 to 7

CHARLES TOWN, Sept. 20. — Pushing over a touchdown early in the final quarter, the Charles Town Purple Panthers broke a 6-6 deadlock and edged out the Keyser High Tornado, 13-7, here this afternoon in a game played in a driving rain.

Each team scored in the opening period, Quinn going across from the two for Keyser's only points after a 38-yard Tornado drive and Glenn counting for the Panthers after a 55-yard march. Glenn also scored the winning touchdown after Charles Town had recovered a Keyser fumble on the latter's 30. A pass from Glenn to Edwards produced the extra point.

White Keeps Lead In Memphis Open

Mississippi Golfer Holds Four-Stroke Edge At Halfway Mark

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20 (AP)—O'Neal (Buck) White, the Greenwood, Miss., bruiser with the delicate putting touch, laced out a four-under-par 68 today to increase his lead to four strokes at the halfway pole of the $10,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

The 35-year-old former army private, with shoulders of a fullback and hands like hams, put a pair of nifty 34s alongside his sizzling first round 65 for a 36-hole total of 133, eleven shots under Chickasaw's par.

Barley within hollering distance in second place came tall, loose-jointed Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, the Masters winner, with a 69 added to his previous 68 for 137.

Slam Bang Sammy Snead, the British Open Champion from Hot Springs, Va., moved up to the third slot by uncorking a solid 68, which made his halfway total 138.

Tied for fourth at 138 were National Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, knitting a 71 into his opening round 68, and 23-year-old George Payton of Hampton, Va., a baby-faced former caddy who looks as though he should be home shooting marbles. Payton added a 69 today to his earlier 70.

Rangy Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, the defending titlist, blew a torrid start and wound up with a 70 that matched the one he plucked yesterday. His 140 total was shared by Tommy Wright, of Knoxville, Tenn., who added a 71 at an earlier 69.

Hawks Score Five Times In First Three Periods Of Lid-Lifter

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High School Blackhawks opened their 1946 season by scoring a 35 to 0 victory over the Fort Ashby High School Eagles in a Potomac Valley Conference contest played yesterday in a drizzling rain on the Ridgeley High School field.

Ridgeley registered its five touchdowns in the first three quarters and failed to break into the scoring column in the final period as Coach Riggleman sent twenty-seven members of his squad into action.

Alfred Abe, right halfback, went over for the first score early in the opening period when he galloped 35 yards on a reverse play. Later in the second stanza Ridgeley recovered a fumble in midfield and drove 50 yards for a touchdown, Jimmy Flanagan toting the ball over on a quarterback sneak.

In the second period Bill Brehany intercepted a pass on the Fort Ashby 40, ran to the 20 and there laterraled to Howard Rhodes for the third six-pointer. Fullback Joe Moss, later in the same period, sprinted 25 yards for a touchdown. Rhodes tallied in the third period, going over from the ten on a reverse.

Ridgeley made good five of its six tries for extra points on plunges, Brehany and Moss each accounted for two and Campbell, one.

Tracy Riggins' 58-Yard Run Marks Night Game

LaSalle High School's football team provided a surprise in its 1946 debut last night in the Fort Hill stadium by holding the highly touted veteran Moorefield Yellow Jackets, 1945 champions of the Potomac Valley Conference, to a scoreless deadlock before a gathering of 1,157 paying customers.

Rain preceded the game, stopped until midway in the second quarter, and for the remainder of the evening the game was played in a steady downpour.

Moorefield appeared to be headed for a touchdown in the second quarter after Big George Hott, fullback, punted 46 yards to the Explorers' one-yard stripe, and Tracy Riggins booted the leather back to the LaSalle 29. Hott toted the ball to the 23 on the first play, Dwight Kessel's pass to Welton on third down was good for two yards but on fourth down Hott was stopped dead.

Pass Nets 44-Yard Gain

LaSalle put on scoring threat in the third period but lost the ball on down on the Jackets' 18. The drive was featured by a "sleeper" play pass from Tommy Cloonan to Johnny Esposito, which netted 44 yards and moved the ball to the 23. Here LaSalle lost one yard in three plays, including an incompleted pass, and Cloonan's pass to Jim Dorsey on fourth down fell short of the required yardage for a first.

In the fourth quarter Moorefield marked from the LaSalle 30 to 15 but the offensive bogged down and the West Virginians lost the ball on downs.

LaSalle followers got their biggest thrill midway in the final stanza, when Tracy Riggins was shaken loose for a 58-yard run and for a moment it looked like it was a touchdown sprint until Right Halfback Harman brought the LaSalle fullback down on the Yellow Jackets' 7-yard line. After Riggins lost six yards in two plays and Cloonan's pass to Jones failed to click, Johnny Esposito attempted to boot a field goal from 18 yards out but the play was smeared by the Moorefield defense as the ball came off Esposito's toe.

Riggins Stands Out

Outstanding on the offensive for LaSalle was Riggins, who made several nice runs, in addition to his 58-yard dash. On two occasions he reeled off gains of twelve yards while Johnny Esposito, center of the LaSalle 1945 team, making his debut at left half, contributed a 15-yard gain.

George Hott's punting featured for the visiting eleven. He got away some long distance boots, including several that averaged 50 yards. The lineups:

"Muddy" Ruel Expected To Sign Contract As Browns' Manager

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20 (AP) — Herold D. (Muddy) Ruel is expected to come here to sign his first major league contract tomorrow to manage the St. Louis Browns.

Richard C. Muckerman, president of the Browns, has called a press conference for 9:30 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow.

Ruel's contract terms were a matter for speculation. Reports were that he would receive $20,000 or more annually with a sliding-scale bonus based on attendance. Opinions also differed on whether the contract would run for two or for three years.

Muckerman returned today from Cincinnati where he conferred with Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler and Ruel. Chandler's assistant since last winter.

The prison team gave the National Leaguers a scare in the first inning when "Joe"—not otherwise identified—hit a home run with one on to take a 2-1 lead. Phil Rookie Del Ennis poled a 450-foot homer in the ninth.

Bowen Tells About Rickey

By C. V. BURNS

Fullback Tracy Riggins, who made his debut with LaSalle last night and played an outstanding role in the Explorers' opening game, is a son of Tracy Riggins, the one-time popular amateur heavyweight boxer of the Devon Club, of Luke. Tracy was a member of Piedmont high school's basketball squad last season. His home is in Piedmont, W. Va.

Squirrel meat is selling at exorbitant prices in West Virginia. A Bayard man paid $60 for three squirrels while a Circleville citizen dug down to the extent of $180 for nine of the animals.

The fines were plastered on both men for hunting out of season. They paid at the rate of $20 for each squirrel found in their possession. The West Virginia season does not come in until October 5.

The South Cumberland Athletic Club, headed by Presley W. "Red" Mauk, has filed an application for membership in the South Atlantic Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, planning to promote shows of its own here during the 1946-47 fall and winter season.

Mauk's simon pures participated in six out-of-town amateur shows during the summer season and should be in fine fettle for the coming season.

St. Mary's Stripers, of Clarksburg, W. Va., ran into a hard one the first crack out of the box last Friday and went down to defeat before Frank Wimer's Elkins High eleven to the tune of 28-7.

Elkins is almost our next door neighbor, yet they never appear on the Fort Hill or Allegany schedules. We think the schools should get acquainted.

Elmer M. Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League, reports measures will be taken next year to bar passing the hat at games to collect cash for players who distinguish themselves by hitting home runs, etc. Daily says that it's not only against rules of organized baseball but it also is unfair to the other players who are just as deserving in a less spectacular way. An Erie sports writer estimates that more than $3,000 was collected by hat passing during M. A. games there this season.

We recall the day Cumberland fans passed the hat for Johnny Alberts, a catcher sent to the Cumberland Colts by the Baltimore Orioles, after he had belted a spectacular game-winning homer over the right field gate at Mid City Park. Johnny was presented a nice purse after his feat and he showed his gratitude by "jumping" the club the next day!

Harris LeFew, senior, and son of the Rev. Charles M. LeFew, former local pastor, is playing his second season on the Hagerstown High School football team. The Maroon and Gray has dates with LaSalle, Allegany and Fort Hill this season.

Halfback Tony Paletti, of Washington Irving High, was playing safety on defense during the tilt with Roosevelt-Wilson High and the dog ambled onto the field and sat at his feet. The officials called time on several occasions but the persistent canine insisted on following Paletti. It was Tony's pooch.

Eddie Finzel, Beall high coach, reports there are thirty boys out for soccer at the Mountain City School. Between 40 and 50 came out for football but Coach Joe Hoopengardner was only able to dig up enough equipment for 23 gridders. Some of the equipment was borrowed from other schools. Beall has booked four games and is trying to add another. An effort is being made by Principal Arthur W. Taylor to have Meyersdale, Pa., High School consent to changing the date of the opener in Frostburg to Friday, October 18 instead of Saturday, October 19 due to the state teachers' meeting in Baltimore on the latter date.

"We'd like to have the teachers on hand to witness the opener," Taylor said.

Rex Bowen, scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers, who spent several days in this section hunting for baseball ivory, says the most surprised man in the majors this year is Branch Rickey, head man of the Dodgers.

"Rickey never dreamed the Dodgers would be in the pennant fight, yet they continued to win after he announced that he was rebuilding for the 1947 race.

"Even if Brooklyn doesn't win the flag this season the boys deserve much praise for their brilliant performance."

Duquesne University's alumni sinking fund to pump life into athletics at the Pittsburgh school is about $8,000 short of the $50,000 goal. The Dukes hope to hit the top next month.

Winning pari-mutuel tickets outstanding as of July 22 for races at the Atlantic City, N. J. track became void yesterday, which was the deadline under New Jersey racing law statutes which require all tickets to be cashed within 60 days of issuances. New Jersey must need money in a hurry. Maryland pari-mutuel tickets may be cashed within a period of two years.

Purple Panthers Edge Out Keyser In Final Period

Glenn Stars As Charles Town Stops Golden Tornado, 13 to 7

CHARLES TOWN, Sept. 20. — Pushing over a touchdown early in the final quarter, the Charles Town Purple Panthers broke a 6-6 deadlock and edged out the Keyser High Tornado, 13-7, here this afternoon in a game played in a driving rain.

Each team scored in the opening period, Quinn going across from the two for Keyser's only points after a 58-yard Tornado drive and Glenn counting for the Panthers after a 55-yard march. Glenn also scored the winning touchdown after Charles Town had recovered a Keyser fumble on the latter's 30. A pass from Glenn to Edwards produced the extra point.

Mississippi Golfer Holds Four-Stroke Edge At Halfway Mark

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20 (AP)—O'Neal (Buck) White, the Greenwood, Miss., bruiser with the delicate putting touch, laced out a four-under-par 68 today to increase his lead to four strokes at the halfway pole of the $10,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

The 35-year-old former army private, with shoulders of a fullback and hands like hams, put a pair of nifty 34s alongside his sizzling first round 65 for a 36-hole total of 133, eleven shots under Chickasaw's par.

Barley within hollering distance in second place came tall, loose-jointed Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, the Masters winner, with a 69 added to his previous 68 for 137.

Slam Bang Sammy Snead, the British Open Champion from Hot Springs, Va., moved up to the third slot by uncorking a solid 68, which made his halfway total 138.

Tied for fourth at 138 were National Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, knitting a 71 into his opening round 68, and 23-year-old George Payton of Hampton, Va., a baby-faced former caddy who looks as though he should be home shooting marbles. Payton added a 69 today to his earlier 70.

Rangy Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, the defending titlist, blew a torrid start and wound up with a 70 that matched the one he plucked yesterday. His 140 total was shared by Tommy Wright, of Knoxville, Tenn., who added a 71 at an earlier 69.

Ridgeley registered its five touchdowns in the first three quarters and failed to break into the scoring column in the final period as Coach Riggleman sent twenty-seven members of his squad into action.

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 20, (AP) — Laurel Park Race Track today announced the appointment of Fred Parks as steeplechase racing secretary and handicapper for the race meeting which opens Oct. 2.

During the summer, Parks has been in the stewards' stand at Atlantic City. He formerly was racing secretary at Mexico City's Hippodrome and for many years was secretary of the National Steeplechase and Hunts Association.

Westvaco Faces Frostburg Today In Series Opener

Frostburg To Play Host; Eagles And Hyndman End Series Here

Frostburg and Westvaco will open their best-of-three games series today for the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League when they tangle at Frostburg, at 3 p. m.

Westernport will be the scene of the second game tomorrow at the same starting time. The site for the third and deciding game, if necessary, will be determined by the toss of a coin. It will likely be staged Sunday, September 29.

Westvaco won three out of four games from Frostburg during the regular season and eliminated Centerville's Reds in the preliminary playoff, two games to one. Frostburg, which finished as runner-up to Westvaco during the regular season, defeated Lonaconing in the initial playoff by taking two straight, 10-6 and 8-5.

At Community Park today at 2 o'clock, the Cumberland Eagles and Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen will battle for the right to play Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, in a best-of-three-games series for the championship of the Interstate League, commencing tomorrow.

Fort Cumberland Post, which topped the league by four full games over Hyndman at the close of the regular season, eliminated Moorefield in the initial playoff series, 16-9 and 9-7.

The winner of today's game and Fort Cumberland Post will toss a coin to determine the site for the opener of the championship set tomorrow.

Three Newcomers May Be In Mountaineer Lineup

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 20 (AP) — Three newcomers probably will be in the Mountaineer starting lineup when West Virginia University opens its 54th football season tomorrow afternoon against a heavier Otterbein College eleven from Westerville, O.

These would include Jim Moran, Wilkes Barre, Pa., at end; Jack Morton, Parkersburg, at fullback, and Quarterback Pete Zinniach, Weirton.

The captaincy for tomorrow's opener goes to Charlie Harris, 28-year-old ex-infantry sergeant who saw combat service from North Africa to Germany since he last played tackle for the Mountaineers in 1941.

West Virginia, which snowed Otterbein under in the 1945 opener by a 42-7 score, ruled the heavy, pregame favorite.

Fisher's Passes Bring Two Scores As Bedford Wins

Bisons Make It 18 In Row By Beating Richland Township, 21-0

BEDFORD, Pa., Sept. 20—Bruce "Bud" Fisher tossed two touchdown passes tonight as the Bedford High School Bisons chalked up their third straight triumph over Richland Township High School by the score of 21 to 0. It was the 18th consecutive victory for the Buffaloes over a three-year period.

In the opening period, Fisher heaved an 18-yard pass to Diehl in the end zone for the initial score and Dan Budd plunged the extra point.

A 22-yard aerial by Fisher into the hands of Johnny Heacock, standing in the end zone, produced the second touchdown midway in the second period and the 200-pound Budd smashed over for the extra point. Jack Faust's end run from the nine-yard stripe netted the final six-pointer late in the second period. The extra point came on Fisher's pass to Faust. Prior to the final tally, Fisher passed to Heacock for a gain of 38 yards.

Three-Run Circuit Belt Reduces Cards' Lead To Single Game

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20—(AP)—Dixie Walker's home run with two on base broke the jinx Johnny Vander Meer had held over the Brooklyn Dodgers and gave the fighting Brooks a 5-3 victory today over the Cincinnati Reds.

DIXIE WALKER

The triumph cut the St. Louis Cardinals' lead over the Dodgers to one game. The league leaders were idle today, as the Dodgers and Reds played off a recent 19-inning scoreless tie. Each team now has eight games left to play.

Vander Meer, who had hurled 24 scoreless innings against the Dodgers going into today's game, ran up four more horse collars before they got to him in the fifth inning.

Leading 2-0 as a result of ex-Dodger Claude Corbitt's two-run double in the top of the fifth, Vander Meer was touched for singles by Pinch Hitter Stan Rojek and Ed Stanky before Joe Medwick singled in the first Dodger run. Then Walker connected with a curve ball and plastered it over the right field screen for his eighth homer of the season.

Art Herring, curve ball veteran, was a surprise starter for Brooklyn. He received credit for his seventh victory, although he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning spurt.

Bealmear Picks Army And Illini In Games Today

Texas, Mississippi, Kansas And Oklahoma Aggies Are Chosen

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — A pigskin parade that promises to be the best of them all begins unfolding on the nation's collegiate gridirons tomorrow and for those who like to mix football with fortune-telling we offer the following predictions on the outcome of the principal opening games:

VILLANOVA VS. ARMY — The wildcats, who agreed to be target No. 1 for three service academies on successive Saturdays, had their run last week when they romped over the merchant marine eleven 40-6. Army still has Glenn Davis, Doc Blanchard and enough of a supporting cast to make this the 19th victory in a string that began with the 1944 season, army.

ILLINOIS VS. PITTSBURGH — Illinois is loaded for bear, but a panther will do for a starter. And a panther bidding for a new lease on life under the guidance of Wes Fesler should have known better than to ask for such an assignment as this on the first time out. Illinois.

MISSOURI VS. TEXAS—What's this one doing at the top of the schedule? with Don Faurot back as head coach, Missouri is a favorite to cop the bunting in the big six, while Texas, under D. X. Bible for the last time, is the odds-on choice in the southwest conference. Texas.

MISSISSIPPI VS. KENTUCKY—With both teams in the process of rebuilding, this first southeastern conference scrap of the season looks like a toss-up. Mississippi.

DENVER VS. OKLAHOMA A. AND M.—This should be easy for the Aggies. Oklahoma A. and M.

MARQUETTE VS. WISCONSIN—Marquette has beaten the Badgers only four times in their 21 previous meetings and there's nothing to indicate that this will be the fifth. Wisconsin.

EAST:

U. S. Merchant Marine Academy over Lehigh; West Virginia over Otterbein.

Indiana over Cincinnati; Purdue over Miami of Ohio; Iowa over North Dakota State; Tulsa over Wichita.

Baylor over Southwestern of Texas; Arkansas over northwestern Louisiana State; Texas A. and M. over North Texas State; Texas Tech over West Texas State; New Mexico over Arizona State.

SOUTH:

Kell's Six Hits Feature Detroit's Win Over Indians

Infielder Ties League Record As Tigers Triumph, 15-1

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20—(AP)—Detroit's Tigers staged a swatfest at the expense of the Cleveland Indians today, rapping 22 hits, including a home run and two doubles, to swamp the Tribe 15 to 1 in the opener of a four game series.

Third Baseman George Kell paced the barrage with six hits in seven trips to the plate, including a double and five singles. The mark tied an American League record held by numerous players. Dick Wakefield lofted one over the right field wall in the fifth with two mates aboard. Box:

Purse-Snatching Charge Faces Detroit Gridder

DETROIT, Sept. 20, (AP)—Guy Brown, 21, star University of Detroit halfback, was arrested on a purse snatching charge today a few hours before he was due to play in the intra-city clash between the U. of D. and Wayne University tonight.

According to Goran's report to superiors, he was standing in the lobby when Mrs. Augusta Cische screamed that her purse had been stolen. Goran declared he saw Brown running away and tackled him.

Brooklyn Defeats Reds On Homer By Dixie Walker

Three-Run Circuit Belt Reduces Cards' Lead To Single Game

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20—(AP)—Dixie Walker's home run with two on base broke the jinx Johnny Vander Meer had held over the Brooklyn Dodgers and gave the fighting Brooks a 5-3 victory today over the Cincinnati Reds.

DIXIE WALKER

The triumph cut the St. Louis Cardinals' lead over the Dodgers to one game. The league leaders were idle today, as the Dodgers and Reds played off a recent 19-inning scoreless tie. Each team now has eight games left to play.

Vander Meer, who had hurled 24 scoreless innings against the Dodgers going into today's game, ran up four more horse collars before they got to him in the fifth inning.

Leading 2-0 as a result of ex-Dodger Claude Corbitt's two-run double in the top of the fifth, Vander Meer was touched for singles by Pinch Hitter Stan Rojek and Ed Stanky before Joe Medwick singled in the first Dodger run. Then Walker connected with a curve ball and plastered it over the right field screen for his eighth homer of the season.

Art Herring, curve ball veteran, was a surprise starter for Brooklyn. He received credit for his seventh victory, although he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning spurt.

Bealmear Picks Army And Illini In Games Today

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — A pigskin parade that promises to be the best of them all begins unfolding on the nation's collegiate gridirons tomorrow and for those who like to mix football with fortune-telling we offer the following predictions on the outcome of the principal opening games:

VILLANOVA VS. ARMY — The wildcats, who agreed to be target No. 1 for three service academies on successive Saturdays, had their run last week when they romped over the merchant marine eleven 40-6. Army still has Glenn Davis, Doc Blanchard and enough of a supporting cast to make this the 19th victory in a string that began with the 1944 season, army.

ILLINOIS VS. PITTSBURGH — Illinois is loaded for bear, but a panther will do for a starter. And a panther bidding for a new lease on life under the guidance of Wes Fesler should have known better than to ask for such an assignment as this on the first time out, Illinois.

MISSOURI VS. TEXAS—What's this one doing at the top of the schedule? with Don Faurot back as head coach, Missouri is a favorite to cop the bunting in the big six, while Texas, under D. X. Bible for the last time, is the odds-on choice in the southwest conference. Texas.

MISSISSIPPI VS. KENTUCKY—With both teams in the process of rebuilding, this first southeastern conference scrap of the season looks like a toss-up. Mississippi.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN VS. KANSAS—This may surprise you, but we'll string along with the Jayhawks. Kansas.

DENVER VS. OKLAHOMA A. AND M.—This should be easy for the Aggies. Oklahoma A. and M.

MARQUETTE VS. WISCONSIN—Marquette has beaten the Badgers only four times in their 21 previous meetings and there's nothing to indicate that this will be the fifth. Wisconsin.

IOWA STATE VS. COLORADO—The flip of the coin says. Colorado.

EAST:

U. S. Merchant Marine Academy over Lehigh; West Virginia over Otterbein.

Indiana over Cincinnati; Purdue over Miami of Ohio; Iowa over North Dakota State; Tulsa over Wichita.

Baylor over Southwestern of Texas; Arkansas over northwestern Louisiana State; Texas A. and M. over North Texas State; Texas Tech over West Texas State; New Mexico over Arizona State.

SOUTH:

WEST:

Purse-Snatching Charge Faces Detroit Gridder

DETROIT, Sept. 20. (AP)—Guy Brown, 21, star University of Detroit halfback, was arrested on a purse snatching charge today a few hours before he was due to play in the intra-city clash between the U. of D. and Wayne University tonight.

The sophomore athlete, recently named "Athlete of the Year" in a poll by the college paper, was felled by a flying tackle by Patrolman Frank Goran in a downtown theater.

According to Goran's report to superiors, he was standing in the lobby when Mrs. Augusta Cische screamed that her purse had been stolen. Goran declared he saw Brown

McKeldin Raps Truman's "Vacillating Leadership"

Asserts Wallace Ousting Is Final Proof Of "Mismanagement Of Our Foreign Affairs"

Terming President Truman's ousting of Secretary Wallace from the Cabinet as final proof of the "mismanagement of our foreign affairs," Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, Republican gubernatorial candidate, said here last night that "this kind of vacillating leadership is responsible for the chaos and confusion that reigns in Washington today."

McKeldin made his statement on the eve of his return to Baltimore following a two-day tour of Allegany county. He will begin a tour of Baltimore county today.

Referring to President Truman, McKeldin said, "He approved the speech of Wallace before it was delivered, and after it was delivered he reiterated his approval by stating that the speech represented the foreign policy of his administration.

"The speech of Wallace certainly did not meet the approval of the State Department," he continued. "Senator Vandenberg said we can only co-operate with one Secretary of State at a time. The President now does a complete right-about-face and not only repudiates what he originally approved but asks that cabinet officer to surrender his portfolio.

"This kind of vacillating leadership is responsible for the chaos and confusion that reign in Washington today. Surely, the American people need no additional proof that it is time for a change."

Visits B. and O. Shops

McKeldin's activities yesterday included an appearance at the Knights of Pythias convention at 9:30 a. m., when he was admitted to the grand lodge of the order because he is a past chancellor-commander of Golden Lodge No. 1, Baltimore.

Later he made an inspection tour of the bolt and forge shop, round house and back shops of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and visited Mayor Thomas S. Post at City Hall.

Addressing a large group of B. and O. employes, McKeldin asserted that the Wiley Ford bridge is in bad condition and that it should be strengthened and repaired, or preferably, replaced.

He also stated that all employes should be on a five-day schedule in their working week, and pointed out that he had reduced the working time of Baltimore city employes to five days a week.

McKeldin added that he has proposed a 15 per cent raise in salary for all white collar city employes in Baltimore, in the 1947 budget.

Completes Tour

He told the B. and O. employes that needs of workers should be anticipated before they find it necessary to go on strike, and asserted that he has had no disagreement with Baltimore city employes during his administration as mayor.

In the afternoon, McKeldin and local candidates for state and county offices made an automobile caravan tour of Corriganville, Ellerslie, Mt. Savage, Zilman and Frostburg.

Plea To Release Flood Funds Is Sent To Truman

New Orleans Delegates Couple Request With Threat Of Action

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP)—A plea to President Truman to release $300,000,000 frozen flood control and river and harbor funds — coupled with a threat of Congressional action if he declines—was dispatched today by 35 members of Congress and several hundred delegates attending a flood control conference here.

A resolution drafted by 15 senators and representatives and unanimously adopted by the whole conference deplored the President's Aug. 2 freeze, taken on the grounds of economy, as "ill-advised, x x x fraught with potential danger to human life and property, x x x unconstitutional and illegal."

The President was asked to reverse his action, but if he does not, Congress was petitioned to enact "such legislation as will effectively annul said curtailment order and effectively prohibit a repetition of the same or similar executive orders and any encroachment of the executive department upon the appropriate functions and power of the legislative branch."

Sens. McKellar (D-Tenn) and Overton (D-La), and Reps. Mansfield (D-Tex) and Whittington (D-Miss) were delegated to confer personally with Mr. Truman.

Even stronger language was stricken from the petition on motion of Rep. Combs (D-Tex), who objected to a description of the President's order as "arbitrary assumption of power."

Adoption of the resolution followed a series of speeches in which senators and representatives declared they objected primarily to the President's blocking an appropriation duly voted by Congress and signed by him; contended the freeze was not an effective anti-inflation measure, and objected to what speakers termed discrimination against flood control work, while expenditures for government agencies and foreign relief and loans were not reduced.

Hunter Is Shot To Death; Hulings Is Held In Jail

Robert Hulings, 28, of Cresaptown, is being held in Allegany County jail, in connection with the fatal shooting of Vernon R. Keafer, 55, Cresaptown farmer on Dan's Mountain yesterday morning, according to Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney.

Hulings will be arraigned in Trial Magistrate Court this morning Harris declared, and added the court will be requested to hold him for the action of the Grand Jury. Harris said something must be done to stop these annual hunting accidents and promiscuous shooting in the woods. This is the third hunting accident this season, (first fatal), since the season opened Monday.

Not Hunting Together

The two men were not hunting together, according to Harris, and did not know each other. Both had been hunting squirrel on Dan's Mountain near Cresaptown, in an area heavily covered with brush and trees.

Hulings, in a statement to County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, said he went into the woods about 5:30 a. m. yesterday and was hunting about a half mile off Brant's road near Cresaptown.

At about 7:30 a. m., Hulings said, he saw a squirrel about 15 to 20 yards from him. Hulings said he fired and heard a man yell. He ran to the spot and saw Keafer lying on the ground apparently bleeding about the chest or abdomen. Hulings said he realized there was little he could do, so he ran to the road and hailed a passing car which took him to Cresaptown.

Hulings Is Veteran

Hulings, who is a veteran of World War II and fought on Okinawa, called the Maryland State Police at

Sheriffs' Terms To Be Voted On

Four amendments, one relating to the number of terms a sheriff may hold office, will be placed before the voters of Maryland in the General election, November 5, but they will be entered by titling only, members of the Board of Election Supervisors said yesterday.

Under present laws, no sheriff in Maryland may seek re-election for at least four years after his term expires and thus may not succeed himself.

The limitations on the sheriff, is the amendment that will be of most importance to citizens of Allegany county. However, it will also increase the salary of the sheriff of Baltimore City from $6,000 to $7,000 per year. Another amendment would give the state's attorney of each county authority to collect and give receipt in the name of the state for such sums as may be collected by him and pay the same over to a proper accounting officer. It also makes provisions for corporate surety bond as may hereafter be prescribed by an act of the General Assembly.

The two other amendments to come before the voters are both Baltimore city affairs. One relates to vacancies in the office of Chief Judge of the Supreme Court Bench of Baltimore City. The other relates to the use of power of eminent domain of the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission.

Forfeits Bond

Charles Buzzard, 100 North Mechanic street, yesterday forfeited $25 bond in Police Court on a charge of operating a gaming table. He was arrested Thursday afternoon by Officers Theodore Rose and Joseph H. Stitcher. Police said the charge involved card playing.

Apple Tree Bears Fruit, Blossoms Here

This is what occurred yesterday at the home of Harry C. Morin, Fort Hill avenue, and Sidney D. Phillips, self acclaimed apple man of Cumberland, was right on hand to pick the flowers and offer a reason for the unique occurrence.

Someone built a brush fire near the tree, he said, and the heat stimulated the sap. He didn't say what prevented the other 74 trees in the yard from blooming also.

First "Y" Report Dinner Scheduled Monday Evening

Plan To Record Progress Of Membership Drive Will Be Repeated

The first report meeting in the Central YMCA membership campaign, which opened September 16 and will continue through September 30, will be held at a dinner in the YMCA club rooms Monday at 6:14 p. m., according to Robert L. Sisson, "Y" general secretary.

Miles G. Thompson, chairman, will preside, and the invocation will be given by Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church. Group singing will be led by A. Florian Wilson.

Sisson said the three campaign divisions will operate on the same plan as in last year's drive, when each division took the name of a crack Baltimore and Ohio passenger train and progress was listed in terms of the distance between Cumberland and Washington.

The first division, headed by Roy W. Eves, will be the "Ambassador"; the second, headed by Garland L. Johnston, will be the "Capitol Limited," and the third division, with Mrs. Lester Martin in charge, will be the "Columbian."

Each division will be credited with one point per subscription dollar, with an additional point for each dollar in cash obtained for new subscriptions, Sisson said. The "distance" between Cumberland and Martinsburg, W. Va., will be 1,250 points; to Harpers Ferry, W. Va., 1,950 points; to Silver Spring, 2,400 points, and to Washington, 2,500 points.

The cash goal of the campaign amounts to $4,312, and the subscription goal is 399 new or renewed memberships.

A board has been set up in the YMCA clubrooms to mark the progress of each division.

Plans have been made to credit three memberships amounting to $24, received at the YMCA main office, to the division reporting the highest number of subscriptions at each report meeting; and one membership amounting to $10 to the high team at each meeting. Individual workers with the highest total in each division will receive awards at the closing dinner September 30.

The next report meeting will be held Thursday, September 26.

Three Celanese Employes Burned By Acid

Three employes of the Amcelle Plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, were treated yesterday in Memorial Hospital at 2 p. m. for burns suffered when an acid tank overflowed in the Cellulose acetate department.

The injured, Earl Bruce, 42, Roberts Place, fire marshal, was treated for acid burns about the face and right leg; Samuel Smith, 45, Bowling Green, C. A. foreman, for acid burns on the face, arms and back and John E. Chappell, 47, Barton, fireman, for slight burns. Smith was admitted, attaches said.

M. W. Work, supervisor of the safety department, said employes were filling an acid tank and it overflowed with some of the acid splashing on the men. He said the acid ignited, but the fire was put out immediately and no damage was done. The Celanese Fire Department answered the call.

Local Realtors To Join Campaign To Organize Home, Property Owners

Cumberland realtors will participate in a nationwide campaign to organize home and property owners in all states.

Members of the Cumberland Real Estate Board will be recognized as official representatives of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation during its membership drive the week of September 23 to 28, it was announced yesterday by James B. Reinhart, board president. A goal of 5,000,000 members has been established.

The foundation is now established in 31 states with a membership of 75,000. Its purpose is "to preserve the right of private ownership as a requisite to genuine citizen responsibility." The foundation seeks to accomplish this purpose by providing strength of organization for individual home and property owners.

Will Promote Expansion

Mr. Reinhart said that the real estate board has endorsed the foundation as a "sound American institution" and will endeavor to promote its expansion in Allegany County. Many requests, he said, have been made to the board in recent months for representation for the small property owner in local and national affairs.

"It is felt," he continued, "that the foundation is the first real opportunity for such expression for those interested in the American tradition of private ownership of property and expansion of the home in the social and economic structure of our country."

A membership goal of 100 members has been set for each local realtor. Annual dues for individuals are $2, which includes a subscription to the foundation's monthly news publication.

Incorporated In 1945

The foundation was incorporated in July 1945 in Washington, D. C. When the organization is completed it will have 600 trustees, one from each congressional district as well as a number "at large." It is financed entirely through contributions and membership dues. Its publication is a four-page pamphlet devoted to news of government activities connected with housing.

The foundation's president, Arthur W. Binns, Philadelphia, was the sole opposition witness before the House Banking and Currency Committee on the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill, and is credited by the organization with causing postponement of further action on the bill by the committee.

Beall Reports On New Orleans Flood Meeting

Curtailment Of Funds Now Is "Mistake," Delegates Say

Congressional delegates attending a meeting in New Orleans, La., opposing the reduction of funds for flood control by President Truman, are in unanimous agreement that any curtailment in flood control funds at this time would be a mistake, according to Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth district.

In an interview with the Associated Press at the meeting, Rep. Beall said he considered it particularly significant that the senators and representatives agreed the President's action was illegal.

He said he considered it very important that "any projects now under construction or which had been started should be completed. Not to do so," he added, "would bring on a heavy additional expense to the taxpayers."

Pointing out that the Savage River dam is about 65 percent complete, Beall said that both the Cumberland flood control and the Savage River projects were included in the original act passed by Congress and so were involved in the "freeze" of funds and might be seriously involved unless funds were restored.

Rep. Beall was a member of the resolutions committee which drafted the conference's petition to the President. By agreement, there was no discussion of individual projects at the meeting proper.

Three Are Injured In Automobile Wreck

Three persons suffered minor injuries yesterday when a car allegedly operated by Gustave N. Frizzell, 25, Lonaconing, skidded on wet road half way between Allegany Grove and the Six Mile House on Route 40 at 1:30 p. m.

The victims, all treated at Allegany hospital for head lacerations, included Frizzell, Arch Stewart, 27, and James Woods, all of Lonaconing.

State police who investigated said the car skidded on the wet road and turned over after striking a telephone pole. The auto was badly wrecked, police said. No charges were preferred against Frizzell.

Licot Is Only Aspirant For Recreation Post

As the deadline for filing applications for the position of recreation director at Constitution Park was reached and passed yesterday noon, only one applicant out of the four who secured papers actually filed his application, according to Samuel E. Grimminger, city clerk.

The applicant was Nestor J. "Ted" Licot, who will take a Civil Service examination for the position next Wednesday, September 25, at 7 p. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Examinations for fireman, policeman and milk inspector will be held at the same time. Applicants who filed before the deadline to take the tests number two, seven and five, respectively.

Veteran, Who Says He Was Attacked, Leaves Hospital

Maddox Secures Baggage From Police And Returns To Washington

John A. Maddox, 31-year-old veteran who says he was attacked, beaten and robbed here about a week ago by two unidentified men, was released from Memorial hospital yesterday at 2:30 p. m. and returned to Washington, D. C. on the 3:52 p. m. Baltimore and Ohio train.

Maddox got off a train here en route to Chicago to visit his mother about a week ago, and while in a lunchroom near the Queen City Station, the train left without him. He asked a couple of men where he could find a room and said they volunteered to escort him to the Allegany Inn Hotel. Instead of going to the hotel, the pair, still sought by city police, took Maddox to the tennis court in rear of Central YMCA, where he says they set upon him, beat him, robbed him and tore part of his clothing to shreds.

Taken To Hospital

Maddox was rescued only after the desk clerk and two guests of the Inn ran to his assistance, after making two calls to the police for help. The desk clerk and both guests, two California men said it required 10 minutes for the police to arrive.

Police later said a cruiser car and patrol wagon went to the scene, but the cruiser did not arrive until sometime after the men were gone, witnesses said.

Maddox was taken to Memorial hospital, where a News reporter interviewed him and got his story. Police denied parts of Maddox's story, and said they had investigated.

Yesterday Maddox recited again some of his difficulties. He said he had been grilled by police officers several times "after his story was published," and declared the officers accused him of being wanted by the FBI and tried to get him to say he had been in trouble and a lot of other things.

Police also spent sometime looking for a man whom they said smuggled clothes to Maddox, and grilled Maddox about this idea at considerable length. Police probably had red faces, Maddox said, when they learned that he was telling them the truth when he said the Red Cross had given him the clothes.

Story Is Confirmed

The Red Cross yesterday confirmed Maddox's story to newsmen, saying the "tall man" police were looking for who was supposed to have smuggled the clothes to Maddox, had merely taken them there in the usual manner and told nurses on duty at the time that he was delivering the clothes as requested.

Mrs. Louise C. Dean, home service secretary laughed when asked about the situation. She said, "that mysterious tall man the police were looking for was my husband," whom I asked to deliver the clothing to the young veteran."

Maddox also charged that the hospital had strapped him to a bed on Wednesday night, after he had put on his clothes and attempted to leave the hospital.

He declared he was well, and figured that he should leave. He also said he was in a ward where a couple of men were moaning and were "pretty sick," and he wanted to "get out of there."

When he attempted to leave the nurse in charge stopped him, sum-

Nurses Aides End Activities Here

The nurses aide corps of the Allegany Chapter of the Red Cross has been entirely deactivated, Mrs. Porter Collins, chairman said yesterday.

Mrs. Collins said that while the hospitals could still use aides, circumstances have made it impossible for them to operate as they did during the war. However, trained aides will always be available in case of an emergency, she said.

In submitting her resignation Mrs. Collins also issued her final report on nurses aide activities. Since the corps was started in 1942 over 100 aides have been trained in five classes by Mrs. Gladys Brooks. Altogether they have contributed 24,253½ hours of service to Memorial and Allegany Hospitals.

Several members were cited for outstanding individual records. They are Mrs. Grace Wallis who served 3038 hours; Mrs. Dudley M. Brown, 749 hours; Miss Nellie McKenzie, 758½ hours; Mrs. Richard Penfield, 1055 hours; Mrs. Edna Miller, 1127 hours; Miss Louise Wilson, 459½ hours here plus the month of May 1946 at Newton D. Baker Hospital, and Mrs. Thomas F. Jones, 1072 hours.

From the last two classes the following have won service stripes for the pledged 150 hours:

Mrs. Ethel Fuller, Miss Betty Lou Harsh, Mrs. Lucille McDonald, Mrs. Julia Rowe, Miss Ida Santora and Mrs. Inez Pittman. Mrs. Pittman is the only aide still working at Memorial Hospital.

Three Pythian Principles Are Noted By Speaker

Pythian Sisters Stage Brilliant Banquet Pageant

Members Of Four County Temples Participate In Colorful Event

As a part of the Pythian Sisters 39th state annual convention, a brilliant spectacle was staged last night by members of four Allegany county Temples, in honor of Mrs. Mildred Seney, Baltimore, supreme chief of the United States, Canada and Hawaii. The pageant was staged immediately after the joint banquet of the Sisters and Knights of Pythias at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Clad in white evening gowns, members of the groups presenting the pageant had not previously rehearsed the affair together, and had worked out their individual parts in their own temples.

The spectacle was dramatic and beautiful, and held its audience of 250 delegates and guests spellbound for 30 minutes, which seemed more like five.

Impressive Display

With Mrs. Edna Engle, of Frostburg Calanthe Temple No. 3 at the piano, the pageant opened with a score or more of women marching onto the ballroom floor to the music of "Onward Christian Soldiers". A large cross was formed, and the chaplain read a prayer. At the conclusion of the prayer, each participant extinguished a lighted candle she carried, and the group marched from the floor.

A group of women from Calanthe Temple then marched on the floor, one at a time, to martial music, the first carried a huge roll of what appeared to be gold colored cloth. A second woman marched out and assisted in unrolling the cloth. This process was repeated, with each unrolling a section, until a huge silk United States flag was assembled. Then more women marched on displaying Hawaiian and Canadian flags and another appeared carrying a large United States flag on a staff. The ensemble sang "God Bless America".

Members of Manhattan Temple No. 8, of Cumberland, then marched on in columns of four and again columns of two and the single columns. The letters, "P", "L", "E", and "F", were formed, symbolic of "Purity", "Love", "Equality" and "Fidelity", the key words of the order.

The finale number brought all of the three score or more women onto the ballroom floor in march order by column of twos. After some circling and maneuvering, all done very gracefully and precisely, four women, carrying arm bouquets of red roses, formed an archway, or rose arbor in the center. Others carrying similar bouquets, formed a white square-like fence, and the whole scene resembled a huge rose garden, surrounded by a white picket fence.

Sings Solo

Mrs. Nellie B. Miller of Manhattan Temple and one of the state officers, moved outside the "fence," and took Mrs. Seney by the arm and escorted her about the "rose garden." She sang a solo "Garden of Roses." At the conclusion of the solo, Mrs. Pearl Blair, of Midland, grand chief of the state of Maryland, then entered the "garden," and presented Mrs. Seney with a beautiful bouquet of red roses, with a ribbon attached to each and to each ribbon a gift in paper money.

Then an archway of roses was formed by two rows of women facing each other and joining their bouquets over head, so that all could march through.

The entire performance went so smoothly, and was over so suddenly that the audience stood and applauded for long minutes. It was a surprising and impressive ceremonial and spectacle.

The four temples who participated were Manhattan Temple No. 8, Cumberland; Morning Star Temple No. 1, Lonaconing; Myrtle Temple, No. 2, Lonaconing; and Calenthe Temple No. 3, Frostburg.

The conventions of the two orders will adjourn late today, after the completion of business sessions and installation of officers.

The Knights will assemble this morning at 9 o'clock in the Fort Cumberland hotel ballroom and the Sisters at 9 a. m. in the Elks' home, South Centre street.

Judge Schuck Describes Nationwide K of P Fight Against Juvenile Delinquency

"No man who stands alone is ever powerful enough to bring success to his community," Judge Charles J. Schuck, of Wheeling, W. Va., past supreme chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias, told an audience of 257 delegates to the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters joint conventions here, at a banquet last night in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Speaking on the cardinal principles of the K. of P., "Charity, Benevolence and Friendship," Judge Schuck told of the nationwide program being sponsored by the Knights to help underprivileged boys, in an effort to stamp out the causes of juvenile delinquency.

Judge Schuck described his visits to all the 55 domains of the Knights of Pythias while he was supreme chancellor, and outlined to his interested audience the program of "Kiddie Kamps" as adopted by many states and local lodges.

Survey Is Cited

Judge Schuck said that a survey has revealed that 40 per cent of all crime in the country is committed by boys under 19, and that further survey reveals that the great majority of these wayward youth have not enjoyed an even chance in life and have been in want or were "underprivileged."

The K. of P. has gone into the program extensively and has established in several states large summer camps and recreational centers, where these boys are taken from their surroundings and given a new outlook, new friends, and a new environment for four weeks each year.

Acknowledging that other organizations have similar programs, Judge Schuck said that there is room for ever more groups to take an interest and urged the Pythian Sisters to look into the idea as a state-wide, if not a nation-wide project.

Two other plans have been adopted by the order in the campaign against the causes of juvenile delinquency, Judge Schuck explained. One is a national oratorical contest and the other a national essay contest. Both are on the subject of "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Cause and Remedy," and both are open to all children of juvenile and high school age.

Referring briefly to the recent statement of Winston Churchill in which the former Prime Minister saw the future of Europe in some form of United States of Europe, Judge Schuck said, "I haven't always agreed with Mr. Churchill, but when he made this proposal, he was talking a great deal of common sense, and when he pointed to the United States as an example, he was talking about the friendship and fraternity and brotherhood of man that is a part of our way of life."

Judge Schuck concluded his remarks, by urging the members of the orders to live the creeds of their organizations and said, "there can be no lasting peace without fraternal love of man, and friendship among all people."

Introduced By McKeldin

The guest speaker, who was here for the last K. of P. convention held in Cumberland in 1941, was presented by Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, past chancellor commander of Golden Lodge No. 1, Baltimore. McKeldin recited some verse, told several stories and referred to the parable of the three

Drivers Strike Still On As Meetings End

The local trucking strike entered the 20 day with Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, and operators still at odds after C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, refused to hold a meeting including union representatives, a committee of truckers, the operators and F. A. Puderbaugh, attorney for the operators, Puderbaugh said last night.

Stutzman said a union-operator-attorney meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon did not materialize, and he knew of no plans for a future meeting. The truckers called the strike September 2, after they failed to negotiate a satisfactory wage scale.

Stutzman said the union is asking a $1 per hour for city deliveries and $17 a round trip for over-the-road drivers. Puderbaugh said last night the operators have offered to pay $15.83 a round trip to over-the-road drivers, and 82 cents per hour to city drivers.

The attorney said Stutzman was contacted yesterday on the proposed meeting including a committee of truck drivers, but the business agent refused. A conciliator has been asked to investigate the strike and try to bring the union and operators to an agrement, Puderbaugh declared.

Woman, 57, Seeks Divorce From Mate

Montie S. Wotring, through her attorney, Thomas L. Richards, told the court they were married May 11, 1944 in this city and lived together at 119 West First street, until March 1, 1945, when "her husband began drinking and put her out of the house."

She testified that he moved to Keyser, W. Va., on March 14, and returned once or twice after that, but he always stayed in the attic. On July 13 this year he returned from one of his trips, she said, and after spending the night in the attic, he took "all the food in the house," and returned to Keyser.

The complainant also asks that she be allowed to resume her maiden name, Montie S. Lannon.

Nellie Mae Collins docketed suit for a divorce from Wilbur W. Collins, but the papers were removed from the files and no details were available. Mildred L. Vizza also filed suit for a divorce from Randolph Vizza, but the papers were not available.

Anna Mae Rizer Is Still Unconscious

Attaches at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, said last night that Anna Mae Rizer, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Rizer, Zihlman, is still unconscious and described her condition as serious. It has not been determined whether an operation will be performed, the attaches added.

The child was removed to Johns Hopkins Thursday in a State Police ambulance from Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where she had been a patient since being struck by an automobile Tuesday afternoon on Route 36 near her home.

William G. Leonard, Barrelville, who state police said was the driver of the car which struck the child, was released from the Allegany County Jail yesterday afternoon on $1,000 bond pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

Terming President Truman's ousting of Secretary Wallace from the Cabinet as final proof of the "mismanagement of our foreign affairs," Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, Republican gubernatorial candidate, said here last night that "this kind of vacillating leadership is responsible for the chaos and confusion that reigns in Washington today."

McKeldin made his statement on the eve of his return to Baltimore following a two-day tour of Allegany county. He will begin a tour of Baltimore county today.

Referring to President Truman, McKeldin said, "He approved the speech of Wallace before it was delivered, and after it was delivered he reiterated his approval by stating that the speech represented the foreign policy of his administration.

"The speech of Wallace certainly did not meet the approval of the State Department," he continued. "Senator Vandenberg said we can only co-operate with one Secretary of State at a time. The President now does a complete right-about-face and not only repudiates what he originally approved but asks that cabinet officer to surrender his portfolio.

"This kind of vacillating leadership is responsible for the chaos and confusion that reign in Washington today. Surely, the American people need no additional proof that it is time for a change."

Visits B. and O. Shops

McKeldin's activities yesterday included an appearance at the Knights of Pythias convention at 9:30 a. m., when he was admitted to the grand lodge of the order because he is a past chancellor-commander of Golden Lodge No. 1, Baltimore.

Later he made an inspection tour of the bolt and forge shop, round house and back shops of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and visited Mayor Thomas S. Post at City Hall.

Addressing a large group of B. and O. employes, McKeldin asserted that the Wiley Ford bridge is in bad condition and that it should be strengthened and repaired, or preferably, replaced.

He also stated that all employes should be on a five-day schedule in their working week, and pointed out that he had reduced the working time of Baltimore city employes to five days a week.

McKeldin added that he has proposed a 15 per cent raise in salary for all white collar city employes in Baltimore, in the 1947 budget.

Completes Tour

He told the B. and O. employes that needs of workers should be anticipated before they find it necessary to go on strike, and asserted that he has had no disagreement with Baltimore city employes during his administration as mayor.

In the afternoon, McKeldin and local candidates for state and county offices made an automobile caravan tour of Corriganville, Ellerslie, Mt. Savage, Zilman and Frostburg.

Plea To Release Flood Funds Is Sent To Truman

New Orleans Delegates Couple Request With Threat Of Action

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP)—A plea to President Truman to release $300,000,000 frozen flood control and river and harbor funds — coupled with a threat of Congressional action if he declines—was dispatched today by 35 members of Congress and several hundred delegates attending a flood control conference here.

A resolution drafted by 15 senators and representatives and unanimously adopted by the whole conference deplored the President's Aug. 2 freeze, taken on the grounds of economy, as "ill-advised, x x x fraught with potential danger to human life and property, x x x unconstitutional and illegal."

The President was asked to reverse his action, but if he does not, Congress was petitioned to enact "such legislation as will effectively annul said curtailment order and effectively prohibit a repetition of the same or similar executive orders and any encroachment of the executive department upon the appropriate functions and power of the legislative branch."

Sens. McKellar (D-Tenn) and Overton (D-La), and Reps. Mansfield (D-Tex) and Whittington (D-Miss) were delegated to confer personally with Mr. Truman.

Even stronger language was stricken from the petition on motion of Rep. Combs (D-Tex), who objected to a description of the President's order as "arbitrary assumption of power."

Adoption of the resolution followed a series of speeches in which senators and representatives declared they objected primarily to the President's blocking an appropriation duly voted by Congress and signed by him; contended the freeze was not an effective anti-inflation measure, and objected to what speakers termed discrimination against flood control work, while expenditures for government agencies and foreign relief and loans were not reduced.

Hunter Is Shot To Death; Hulings Is Held In Jail

Robert Hulings, 28, of Cresaptown, is being held in Allegany County jail, in connection with the fatal shooting of Vernon R. Keafer, 55, Cresaptown farmer on Dan's Mountain yesterday morning, according to Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney.

Hulings will be arraigned in Trial Magistrate Court this morning Harris declared, and added the court will be requested to hold him for the action of the Grand Jury. Harris said something must be done to stop these annual hunting accidents and promiscuous shooting in the woods. This is the third hunting accident this season, (first fatal), since the season opened Monday.

Not Hunting Together

The two men were not hunting together, according to Harris, and did not know each other. Both had been hunting squirrel on Dan's Mountain near Cresaptown, in an area heavily covered with brush and trees.

Hulings, in a statement to County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, said he went into the woods about 5:30 a. m. yesterday and was hunting about a half mile off Brant's road near Cresaptown.

At about 7:30 a. m., Hulings said, he saw a squirrel about 15 to 20 yards from him. Hulings said he fired and heard a man yell. He ran to the spot and saw Keafer lying on the ground apparently bleeding about the chest or abdomen. Hulings said he realized there was little he could do, so he ran to the road and hailed a passing car which took him to Cresaptown.

Hulings Is Veteran

Sheriffs' Terms To Be Voted On

Four amendments, one relating to the number of terms a sheriff may hold office, will be placed before the voters of Maryland in the General election, November 5, but they will be entered by titling only, members of the Board of Election Supervisors said yesterday.

Under present laws, no sheriff in Maryland may seek re-election for at least four years after his term expires and thus may not succeed himself.

The limitations on the sheriff, is the amendment that will be of most importance to citizens of Allegany county. However, it will also increase the salary of the sheriff of Baltimore City from $6,000 to $7,000 per year. Another amendment would give the state's attorney of each county authority to collect and give receipt in the name of the state for such sums as may be collected by him and pay the same over to a proper accounting officer. It also makes provisions for corporate surety bond as may hereafter be prescribed by an act of the General Assembly.

The two other amendments to come before the voters are both Baltimore city affairs. One relates to vacancies in the office of Chief Judge of the Supreme Court Bench of Baltimore City. The other relates to the use of power of eminent domain of the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission.

Forfeits Bond

Charles Buzzard, 100 North Mechanic street, yesterday forfeited $25 bond in Police Court on a charge of operating a gaming table. He was arrested Thursday afternoon by Officers Theodore Rose and Joseph H. Sitticher. Police said the charge involved card playing.

Apple Tree Bears Fruit, Blossoms Here

This is what occurred yesterday at the home of Harry C. Morin, Fort Hill avenue, and Sidney D. Phillips, self acclaimed apple man of Cumberland, was right on hand to pick the flowers and offer a reason for the unique occurrence.

Someone built a brush fire near the tree, he said, and the heat stimulated the sap. He didn't say what prevented the other 74 trees in the yard from blooming also.

Postmaster Entries Being Accepted

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination from which it is expected to fill the position of postmaster in Cumberland. Applications should be filed with the Commission in Washington, D. C. or at the local post office before October 14.

Applicants will be rated according to their education and business or professional experience. Those who wish to claim veterans' preference must file an extra form stating that intention. All applicants must have been actual residents within the delivery area of the post office for one year before filing their applications.

Candidates must give detailed information of their experience in their applications. They must show that they have had "extensive, successful and progressively important experience in occupations in which they fully demonstrated ability to organize, direct and manage business affairs."

In a first class office, such as Cumberland, where the compensation is $4,600 a year, the applicant must have passed his thirtieth birthday and be under 63, and he must be in good physical condition.

The first report meeting in the Central YMCA membership campaign, which opened September 16 and will continue through September 30, will be held at a dinner in the YMCA club rooms Monday at 6:14 p. m. according to Robert L. Sisson, "Y" general secretary.

Miles G. Thompson, chairman, will preside, and the invocation will be given by Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church. Group singing will be led by A. Florian Wilson.

Sisson said the three campaign divisions will operate on the same plan as in last year's drive, when each division took the name of a crack Baltimore and Ohio passenger train and progress was listed in terms of the distance between Cumberland and Washington.

The first division, headed by Roy W. Eves, will be the "Ambassador"; the second, headed by Garland L. Johnston, will be the "Capitol Limited," and the third division, with Mrs. Lester Martin in charge, will be the "Columbian."

Each division will be credited with one point per subscription dollar, with an additional point for each dollar in cash obtained for new subscriptions, Sisson said. The "distance" between Cumberland and Martinsburg, W. Va., will be 1,250 points; to Harpers Ferry, W. Va., 1,950 points; to Silver Spring, 2,400 points, and to Washington, 2,500 points.

The cash goal of the campaign amounts to $4,312, and the subscription goal is 399 new or renewed memberships.

A board has been set up in the YMCA clubrooms to mark the progress of each division.

Plans have been made to credit three memberships amounting to $24, received at the YMCA main office, to the division reporting the highest number of subscriptions at each report meeting; and one membership amounting to $10 to the high team at each meeting. Individual workers with the highest total in each division will receive awards at the closing dinner September 30.

The next report meeting will be held Thursday, September 26.

Three Celanese Employes Burned By Acid

Three employes of the Amcelle Plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, were treated yesterday in Memorial Hospital at 2 p. m. for burns suffered when an acid tank overflowed in the Cellulose acetate department.

The injured, Earl Bruce, 42, Roberts Place, fire marshal, was treated for acid burns about the face and right leg; Samuel Smith, 45, Bowling Green, C. A. foreman, for acid burns on the face, arms and back and John E. Chappell, 47, Barton, fireman, for slight burns. Smith was admitted, attaches said.

M. W. Work, supervisor of the safety department, said employes were filling an acid tank and it overflowed with some of the acid splashing on the men. He said the acid ignited, but the fire was put out immediately and no damage was done. The Celanese Fire Department answered the call.

Local Realtors To Join Campaign To Organize Home, Property Owners

Cumberland realtors will participate in a nationwide campaign to organize home and property owners in all states.

Members of the Cumberland Real Estate Board will be recognized as official representatives of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation during its membership drive the week of September 23 to 28, it was announced yesterday by James B. Reinhart, board president. A goal of 5,000,000 members has been established.

The foundation is now established in 31 states with a membership of 75,000. Its purpose is "to preserve the right of private ownership as a requisite to genuine citizen responsibility." The foundation seeks to accomplish this purpose by providing strength of organization for individual home and property owners.

Will Promote Expansion

Mr. Reinhart said that the real estate board has endorsed the foundation as a "sound American institution" and will endeavor to promote its expansion in Allegany County. Many requests, he said, have been made to the board in recent months for representation for the small property owner in local and national affairs.

"It is felt," he continued, "that the foundation is the first real opportunity for such expression for those interested in the American tradition of private ownership of property and expansion of the home in the social and economic structure of our country."

A membership goal of 100 members has been set for each local realtor. Annual dues for individuals are $2, which includes a subscription to the foundation's monthly news publication.

Incorporated In 1945

The foundation was incorporated in July 1945 in Washington, D. C. When the organization is completed it will have 600 trustees, one from each congressional district as well as a number "at large." It is financed entirely through contributions and membership dues. Its publication is a four-page pamphlet devoted to news of government activities connected with housing.

The foundation's president, Arthur W. Binns, Philadelphia, was the sole opposition witness before the House Banking and Currency Committee on the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill, and is credited by the organization with causing postponement of further action on the bill by the committee.

Beall Reports On New Orleans Flood Meeting

Curtailment Of Funds Now Is "Mistake," Delegates Say

Congressional delegates attending a meeting in New Orleans, La., opposing the reduction of funds for flood control by President Truman, are in unanimous agreement that any curtailment in flood control funds at this time would be a mistake, according to Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth district.

In an interview with the Associated Press at the meeting, Rep. Beall said he considered it particularly significant that the senators and representatives agreed the President's action was illegal.

He said he considered it very important that "any projects now under construction or which had been started should be completed. Not to do so," he added, "would bring on a heavy additional expense to the taxpayers."

Pointing out that the Savage River dam is about 65 percent complete, Beall said that both the Cumberland flood control and the Savage River projects were included in the original act passed by Congress and so were involved in the "freeze" of funds and might be seriously involved unless funds were restored.

Rep. Beall was a member of the resolutions committee which drafted the conference's petition to the President. By agreement, there was no discussion of individual projects at the meeting proper.

Three Are Injured In Automobile Wreck

Three persons suffered minor injuries yesterday when a car allegedly operated by Gustave N. Prizzell, 25, Lonaconing, skidded on wet road half way between Allegany Grove and the Six Mile House on Route 40 at 1:30 p. m.

The victims, all treated at Allegany hospital for head lacerations, included Prizzell, Arch Stewart, 27, and James Woods, all of Lonaconing.

State police who investigated said the car skidded on the wet road and turned over after striking a telephone pole. The auto was badly wrecked, police said. No charges were preferred against Prizzell.

Licot Is Only Aspirant For Recreation Post

As the deadline for filing applications for the position of recreation director at Constitution Park was reached and passed yesterday noon, only one applicant out of the four who secured papers actually filed his application, according to Samuel E. Grimminger, city clerk.

The applicant was Nestor J. "Ted" Licot, who will take a Civil Service examination for the position next Wednesday, September 25, at 7 p. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Examinations for fireman, policeman and milk inspector will be held at the same time. Applicants who filed before the deadline to take the tests number two, seven and five, respectively.

Veteran, Who Says He Was Attacked, Leaves Hospital

Maddox Secures Baggage From Police And Returns To Washington

John A. Maddox, 31-year-old veteran who says he was attacked, beaten and robbed here about a week ago by two unidentified men, was released from Memorial hospital yesterday at 2:30 p. m. and returned to Washington, D. C. on the 3:52 p. m. Baltimore and Ohio train.

Maddox told a News reporter, "I surely will be glad to get out of Maryland. I can't understand this place."

Maddox got off a train here en route to Chicago to visit his mother about a week ago, and while in a lunchroom near the Queen City Station, the train left without him. He asked a couple of men where he could find a room and said they volunteered to escort him to the Allegany Inn Hotel. Instead of going to the hotel, the pair, still sought by city police, took Maddox to the tennis court in rear of Central YMCA, where he says they set upon him, beat him, robbed him and tore part of his clothing to shreds.

Taken To Hospital

Maddox was rescued only after the desk clerk and two guests of the Inn ran to his assistance, after making two calls to the police for help. The desk clerk and both guests, two California men said it required 10 minutes for the police to arrive.

Police later said a cruiser car and patrol wagon went to the scene, but the cruiser did not arrive until sometime after the men were gone, witnesses said.

Maddox was taken to Memorial hospital, where a News reporter interviewed him and got his story. Police denied parts of Maddox's story, and said they had investigated.

Yesterday Maddox recited again some of his difficulties. He said he had been grilled by police officers several times "after his story was published," and declared the officers accused him of being wanted by the FBI and tried to get him to say he had been in trouble and a lot of other things.

Police also spent sometime looking for a man whom they said smuggled clothes to Maddox, and grilled Maddox about this idea at considerable length. Police probably had red faces, Maddox said, when they learned that he was telling them the truth when he said the Red Cross had given him the clothes.

Story Is Confirmed

The Red Cross yesterday confirmed Maddox's story to newsmen, saying the "tall man" police were looking for who was supposed to have smuggled the clothes to Maddox, had merely taken them there in the usual manner and told nurses on duty at the time that he was delivering the clothes as requested.

Mrs. Louise C. Dean, home service secretary laughed when asked about the situation. She said, "that mysterious tall man the police were looking for was my husband," whom I asked to deliver the clothing to the young veteran."

Maddox also charged that the hospital had strapped him to a bed on Wednesday night, after he had put on his clothes and attempted to leave the hospital.

He declared he was well, and figured that he should leave. He also said he was in a ward where a couple of men were moaning and were "pretty sick," and he wanted to "get out of there."

When he attempted to leave the nurse in charge stopped him, sum-

Nurses Aides End Activities Here

The nurses aide corps of the Allegany Chapter of the Red Cross has been entirely deactivated, Mrs. Porter Collins, chairman said yesterday.

Mrs. Collins said that while the hospitals could still use aides, circumstances have made it impossible for them to operate as they did during the war. However, trained aides will always be available in case of an emergency, she said.

In submitting her resignation Mrs. Collins also issued her final report on nurses aide activities. Since the corps was started in 1942 over 100 aides have been trained in five classes by Mrs. Gladys Brooks. Altogether they have contributed 24,253½ hours of service to Memorial and Allegany Hospitals.

Several members were cited for outstanding individual records. They are Mrs. Grace Wallis who served 3038 hours; Mrs. Dudley M. Brown, 749 hours; Miss Nellie McKenzie, 758½ hours; Mrs. Richard Penfield, 1055 hours; Mrs. Edna Miller, 1127 hours; Miss Louise Wilson, 459½ hours here plus the month of May 1946 at Newton D. Baker Hospital, and Mrs. Thomas F. Jones, 1072 hours.

From the last two classes the following have won service stripes for the pledged 150 hours:

Mrs. Ethel Fuller, Miss Betty Lou Harsh, Mrs. Lucille McDonald, Mrs. Julia Rowe, Miss Ida Santora and Mrs. Inez Pittman. Mrs. Pittman is the only aide still working at Memorial Hospital.

Three Pythian Principles Are Noted By Speaker

Members Of Four County Temples Participate In Colorful Event

As a part of the Pythian Sisters 39th state annual convention, a brilliant spectacle was staged last night by members of four Allegany county Temples, in honor of Mrs. Mildred Seney, Baltimore, supreme chief of the United States, Canada and Hawaii. The pageant was staged immediately after the joint banquet of the Sisters and Knights of Pythias at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Clad in white evening gowns, members of the groups presenting the pageant had not previously rehearsed the affair together, and had worked out their individual parts in their own temples.

Impressive Display

With Mrs. Edna Engle, of Frostburg Calanthe Temple No. 3 at the piano, the pageant opened with a score or more of women marching onto the ballroom floor to the music of "Onward Christian Soldiers". A large cross was formed, and the chaplain read a prayer. At the conclusion of the prayer, each participant extinguished a lighted candle she carried, and the group marched from the floor.

A group of women from Calanthe Temple then marched on the floor, one at a time, to martial music, the first carried a huge roll of what appeared to be gold colored cloth. A second woman marched out and assisted in unrolling the cloth. This process was repeated, with each unrolling a section, until a huge silk United States flag was assembled. Then more women marched on displaying Hawaiian and Canadian flags and another appeared carrying a large United States flag on a staff. The ensemble sang "God Bless America".

Members of Manhattan Temple No. 8, of Cumberland, then marched on in columns of four and again columns of two and the single columns. The letters, "P", "I", "E" and "F", were formed, symbolic of "Purity", "Love", "Equality" and "Fidelity", the key words of the order.

The finale number brought all of the three score or more women onto the ballroom floor in march order by column of twos. After some circling and maneuvering, all done very gracefully and precisely, four women, carrying arm bouquets of red roses, formed an archway, or rose arbor in the center. Others carrying similar bouquets, formed a white square-like fence, and the whole scene resembled a huge rose garden, surrounded by a white picket fence.

Sings Solo

Mrs. Nellie B. Miller of Manhattan Temple and one of the state officers, moved outside the "fence," and took Mrs. Seney by the arm and escorted her about the "rose garden." She sang a solo "Garden of Roses." At the conclusion of the solo, Mrs. Pearl Blair, of Midland, grand chief of the state of Maryland, then entered the "garden," and presented Mrs. Seney with a beautiful bouquet of red roses, with a ribbon attached to each and to each ribbon a gift in paper money.

Then an archway of roses was formed by two rows of women facing each other and joining their bouquets over head, so that all could march through.

The entire performance went so smoothly, and was over so suddenly that the audience stood and applauded for long minutes. It was a surprising and impressive ceremonial and spectacle.

The four temples who participated were Manhattan Temple No. 8, Cumberland; Morning Star Temple No. 1, Lonaconing; Myrtle Temple, No. 2, Lonaconing; and Calenthe Temple No. 3, Frostburg.

The conventions of the two orders will adjourn late today, after the completion of business sessions and installation of officers.

The Knights will assemble this morning at 9 o'clock in the Fort Cumberland hotel ballroom and the Sisters at 9 a. m. in the Elks' home, South Centre street.

Judge Schuck Describes Nationwide K of P Fight Against Juvenile Delinquency

"No man who stands alone is ever powerful enough to bring success to his community," Judge Charles J. Schuck, of Wheeling, W. Va., past supreme chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias, told an audience of 257 delegates to the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters joint conventions here, at a banquet last night in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Speaking on the cardinal principles of the K. of P., "Charity, Benevolence and Friendship," Judge Schuck told of the nationwide program being sponsored by the Knights to help underprivileged boys, in an effort to stamp out the causes of juvenile delinquency.

Judge Schuck described his visits to all the 55 domains of the Knights of Pythias while he was supreme chancellor, and outlined to his interested audience the program of "Kiddie Kamps" as adopted by many states and local lodges.

Survey Is Cited

Judge Schuck said that a survey has revealed that 40 per cent of all crime in the country is committed by boys under 19, and that further survey reveals that the great majority of these wayward youth have not enjoyed an even chance in life and have been in want or were "underprivileged."

The K. of P. has gone into the program extensively and has established in several states large summer camps and recreational centers, where these boys are taken from their surroundings and given a new outlook, new friends, and a new environment for four weeks each year.

Acknowledging that other organizations have similar programs, Judge Schuck said that there is room for ever more groups to take an interest and urged the Pythian Sisters to look into the idea as a state-wide, if not a nation-wide project.

Two other plans have been adopted by the order in the campaign against the causes of juvenile delinquency, Judge Schuck explained. One is a national oratorical contest and the other a national essay contest. Both are on the subject of "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Cause and Remedy," and both are open to all children of juvenile and high school age.

Referring briefly to the recent statement of Winston Churchill in which the former Prime Minister saw the future of Europe in some form of United States of Europe, Judge Schuck said, "I haven't always agreed with Mr. Churchill, but when he made this proposal, he was talking a great deal of common sense, and when he pointed to the United States as an example, he was talking about the friendship and fraternity and brotherhood of man that is a part of our way of life."

Judge Schuck concluded his remarks, by urging the members of the orders to live the creeds of their organizations and said, "there can be no lasting peace without fraternal love of man, and friendship among all people."

Introduced By McKeldin

The guest speaker, who was here for the last K. of P. convention held in Cumberland in 1941, was presented by Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, past chancellor commander of Golden Lodge No. 1, Baltimore. McKeldin recited some verse, told several stories and referred to the parable of the three

Drivers Strike Still On As Meetings End

The local trucking strike entered the 20 day with Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, and operators still at odds after C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, refused to hold a meeting including union representatives, a committee of truckers, the operators and P. A. Puderbaugh, attorney for the operators, Puderbaugh said last night.

Stutzman said a union-operator-attorney meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon did not materialize, and he knew of no plans for a future meeting. The truckers called the strike September 2, after they failed to negotiate a satisfactory wage scale.

Stutzman said the union is asking a $1 per hour for city deliveries and $17 a round trip for over-the-road drivers. Puderbaugh said last night the operators have offered to pay $15.83 a round trip to over-the-road drivers, and 82 cents per hour to city drivers.

The attorney said Stutzman was contacted yesterday on the proposed meeting including a committee of truck drivers, but the business agent refused. A conciliator has been asked to investigate the strike and try to bring the union and operators to an agrement, Puderbaugh declared.

Woman, 57, Seeks Divorce From Mate

Montie S. Wotring, through her attorney, Thomas L. Richards, told the court they were married May 11, 1944 in this city and lived together at 119 West First street, until March 1, 1945, when "her husband began drinking and put her out of the house."

She testified that he moved to Keyser, W. Va., on March 14, and returned once or twice after that, but he always stayed in the attic. On July 13 this year he returned from one of his trips, she said, and after spending the night in the attic, he took "all the food in the house," and returned to Keyser.

The complainant also asks that she be allowed to resume her maiden name, Montie S. Lannon.

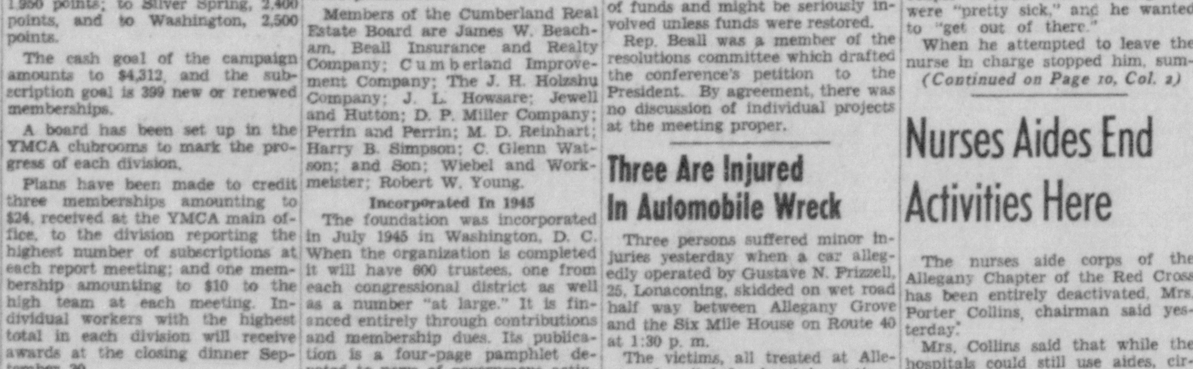

Nellie Mae Collins docketed suit for a divorce from Wilbur W. Collins, but the papers were removed from the files and no details were available. Mildred L. Vizza also filed suit for a divorce from Randolph Vizza, but the papers were not available.

Anna Mae Rizer Is Still Unconscious

Attaches at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, said last night that Anna Mae Rizer, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Rizer, Zihlman, is still unconscious and described her condition as serious. It has not been determined whether an operation will be performed, the attaches added.

The child was removed to Johns Hopkins Thursday in a State Police ambulance from Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where she had been a patient since being struck by an automobile Tuesday afternoon on Route 36 near her home.

William G. Leonard, Barrelville, who state police said was the driver of the car which struck the child, was released from the Allegany County Jail yesterday afternoon on $1,000 bond pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

Schuck, Wheeling, W. Va., past supreme chancellor commander, guest speaker; Senator Kimble, toastmaster; and Mrs. Pearl Blair, of Midland, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters of Maryland.
